

The city of Marion names its ‘Champions;’ extra IWU students coming

TIP OF THE HAT...to the city of Marion’s monthly “champions,” released last week:

First, the city’s “Champion of the Month,” Van Buren resident Jerry Palmer. Born in 1942, Palmer earned an electrical engineering degree from Purdue University. He joined the U.S. Army, went through jump school and served as an ordnance officer while deployed in Germany. After honorable discharge, he began a long career (32 years) with Indiana Michigan Power. Palmer completed more than 1,200 skydives, and even performed two free-fall skydives off of El Capitan Mountain at Yosemite National Park.

Palmer was involved with the Marion Easter Pageant, the Van Buren Popcorn Festival, the Marion Philharmonic Orchestra, and other community events. He took an interest in designing and developing nearly 50 websites. Photography was also a service Jerry provided on a volunteer basis.

On December 9, 2017, the life-long Grant County resident passed away at the age of 75. Although, he never sought recognition for his contributions, Palmer will be known as a champion in the community.

THE CITY’S SPOTLIGHT BUSINESS OF THE MONTH is Atlas Foundry,

THE ROUNDUP

one of Marion’s oldest factories, celebrating its 125th year. Established in 1893, by Mathew Francis Gartland and Associates, the factory has remained faithfully in Marion and within the Gartland family ever since. Four generations later, Atlas Foundry is now owned by Mathew Francis Gartland’s great great grandsons: Jim and Bill Gartland.

Jim and Bill Gartland serve on local boards such as the Grant County Economic Growth Council, the YMCA, and the Marion-Grant County Chamber of Commerce.

To the public, Atlas Foundry is perhaps best known for its gray-iron stadium seats in baseball and football fields across the nation. Heinz Field in Pittsburgh, for example, features their seats, as do Wrigley Field and Guaranteed Rate Field in Chicago.

FINALLY, THE CITY’S EMPLOYEES OF THE MONTH are Mark Casto and Randy Hiatt are full-time laborers for the City of Marion. Laborers plow snow, patch roads, remove trees and limbs, handle leaf pickup, and more. Maintenance recently took on the full responsibility of maintaining the City’s park system, and Casto and Hiatt have been assigned to special projects within the parks in addition to their main duties.

“Mark and Randy have stepped up beyond normal expectations of the job, and they share my vision for this community,” said Citywide Maintenance Superintendent James Loftis. “I appreciate their attention to detail, self-starting nature, and positivity in tackling assignments each day.”

The Marion High School JROTC Drill Team earned two first-place finishes, a third and a fifth in four events while competing against 12 other high schools at the Indianapolis Public Schools Drill Competition earlier this month.

The Giants brought home first place finishes in the squad armed exhibition and the squad regulation drill events. They pulled a third place finish with a color guard team and a fifth place finish in the unarmed exhibition event.

“I was very confident in our teams for each of the events,” said Cadet Audrey Dickerson, a junior, “We have been practicing hard and have now competed several times this season. We know the routines, and we know how to perform them well.”

This year, the Giants have earned more trophies than in all their previous years of competition combined, with 17—and counting.

BE ON THE LOOK-OUT...for as many as 500 extra students—and their parents—this weekend as Indiana Wesleyan University will welcome admitted students to the residential campus on March 17-18. The event is designed for high school seniors who have been accepted for admission at the school, with those who come grabbing the chance to be first in line for class registration, meet fellow classmates, be in the first round of housing assignments, and attend the Wildcat Bash.

What is that? A dinner, tip-off party, games and an open house tour of the residence halls. with prizes, such as a $2,000 scholarship.

“It’s the best chance to experience life as a Wildcat before arriving in the fall,” said Katy Smith, assistant director of admissions.

HERE’S WHAT MADE ME GO “HMMM” THIS WEEK...I was watching a spring training game the other day and it came time for the seventh inning stretch and they sang “Take me out to the ballgame.” That made me go “Hmmm.” I mean, why do they sing that song at the ballgame, when they’re already at the ballgame?

DOING GOOD

Each week, The News Herald prepares news of the good being done by individuals and organizations in Grant County for broadcast on WBAT. Here is an adaptation of the transcript of that broadcast.—Ed.

This week, Taylor University’s math department, with some help from IWU’s faculty and students, will host the fourth annual Math Field Day for high school students. The day will consist of various activities from a Bungee Jump Challenge to the challenge of working together to solve puzzles and escape from a room before time runs out.

The day gives high school students a chance to visit a college campus and consider studying mathematics of another technology or engineering field. And good on the Women’s Giving Circle from Taylor, which made a grant that helped make the day possible.

You know the Senior Center in Marion does a lot of good things for our senior citizens, so it’s nice when someone does something good for them. That’s what’s happening in about a month, on April 11, when a group of Senior Care Marketers will host a soup tasting fundraiser.

It will cost just $5 for a lunch that includes drink and dessert. So mark that on your calendar and come down to the Senior Center that day—April 11—to sample some good soups and help raise some money for a good place.

Our final good word this week comes from the Good Book, in 2 Kings 20:3, where it says: “Remember, Lord, how I have walked before you faithfully and with wholehearted devotion and have done what is good in your eyes.”

A used washing machine and a blessing

Everybody has a favorite—season, that is. As I ponder the four seasons, there are two that I like better than the others. My favorite season is summer. I have always enjoyed working outside where the sun is shining and the sweat runs off my brow. Summer is a time when there is much evidence of life. Trees are in full bloom, gardens are thriving, the flowers are beautiful and the grass is green. I never want to wish my life away, but I love summer and can't wait until it gets here! There is always fruit on the trees, which is a direct result of the hot summer days. Now, I realize that some of you don't like summer at all. You prefer the other seasons, and that is fine.

I would have to say that spring is my second favorite time of the year because it ushers in the summertime. Spring is the time that we must deal with the cold of winter and all that is associated with it. Spring brings a sense of hope or even an urgency for a much-needed change. Spring brings buds to the trees, green grass, rain and wind, that have a tendency to clean the things up that winter has left us.

Now, don't misunderstand me, I truly love the fall season. It puts on a display of the handiwork of God with the changing of the trees and all of the color it brings. The main reason that fall can put me on edge is the fact that fall is the forerunner to winter. Fall brings us harvest, one of the most important times of the year. Harvest is the time that our Heavenly Father lets us yield the crops that will feed the world for another year.

JUST A THOUGHT

Let's hear it for all you winter folks! There are so many things that winter provides that we can all enjoy. One such event is the Christmas season, which is my favorite holiday. We also have the New Year, and even Valentine's Day. Now the down side is ice, snow, freezing rain, cold arctic air, and sub-zero temperatures, but we have been pretty blessed in recent years.

Why are the seasons

so important? Why did God give us four? My first thought is surely everybody likes one of them. This article can turn to the spiritual in an instant. Do we have seasons of life? Absolutely. Solomon said "For everything there is an appointed season, a time for everything under heaven." A time for caring, a time for sharing, a time for loving and a time for giving. A time for remembering and a time for parting. Solomon said, "Lord you have made everything beautiful in its time, for everything you do remains forever." What great words we receive from Solomon, a paraphrase from Ecclesiastes 3.

How quickly the seasons of life pass us by. I am sure you can identify with me. It seems like yesterday that we were just young children running barefoot without a care in the world. Where did the time go? We all must experience the different seasons, whether it be in nature, or the spiritual. The seasons were given for us to enjoy. We only pass through each part one time. The Lord has taught me over the last couple of years that every day is a gift, a real treasure to be cherished. I hope you enjoy life as much as I do. I am traveling through life's journey, holding onto each and every moment each season brings me.

Let's let ourselves imagine HQ2 in Indy

Nobody really has any idea how this thing is going to go just yet, but it is endless fun to speculate, a sort of central Indiana parlor game without the parlor.

A writer for the Washington Post, doing an analysis of the high-tech capabilities around the country, described Indianapolis this way: "A city where a speedway was once part of a plan to promote baking powder." A tidbit meant to infer that there is creativity in Hoosier minds, even if it doesn't always show itself.

Gerry Dick, who makes his living reading the tea leaves scattered around Indiana business, connected his own dots: "Nobody is saying very much, but you just watch these people and their body language tells you they're starting to get excited, that just maybe this could happen."

The question remains: Will they or won't they? "They," of course, are the wizards of Amazon, the men and women around Jeff Bezos—now the world's wealthiest human being—on where the behemoth will locate what is being called "HQ2," the second headquarters for Amazon.com, the creature that has reshaped shopping and disrupted retailing in every town, village and hamlet of America.

Indianapolis, as you know, is in the running. One of 20 cities named a couple of months ago, selected by Amazon gurus from among 238 entries around the country, right up there with the big boys: Chicago, New York, Miami, Philadelphia, Boston, all the places you would expect to see on such a list.

If it were to happen—and nobody, absolutely nobody, is saying it will—but if it were, it would be a game changer for all us, even those of us out here in the boondocks an hour away from Ground Zero: 50,000 jobs, $5 billion dollar investment, and Lord knows how many and how much from support companies around it. Somebody has to make 50,000 bologna sandwiches every day at lunch time; get the idea? Even the New York Times got in the act, with business writer James Stewart posing the question "Is Indianapolis 'cool' enough for Amazon?" and concluding that it just might be.

Says Stewart, "Indianapolis may never emerge as the popular favorite to win, but I wouldn't count it out." He virtually gushes over what Indianapolis has going for it: its business-friendly attitude, strong university system, airport, location, cheap home prices. You name it, he mentions it.

But Michael Hicks, the nemesis of all Hoosier optimists, is a little more restrained: "Big deals tend to cause otherwise sober politicians to act like drunken sailors. What we need instead is a new model of economic development, where business attraction activities occur in regions, like the greater Indianapolis area. These places can afford experienced professional staff who should be agnostic about the location decision of a firm within the region. They would know full well that the benefits follow household locations, not that of headquarters or factories."

"The simple fact," he said, "that Indianapolis is on the short list of potential cities is because so many communities across the region have been investing in themselves. The greater Indianapolis region will prosper and grow because of these decisions, with or without Amazon's HQ2. That's a lesson all of Indiana should heed."

And the thing about the speedway and baking

Marion boys fall in championship game to New Castle

Oak Hill captures Regional crown over Lapel, Tipton

The Oak Hill Golden Eagles ground out a 60-45 win over the Tipton Blue Devils to claim the Regional title at Lapel last Saturday night in a game that was closer and tougher than the final score would indicate.

Played tightly throughout, the Eagles led by only three (41-38) with just 3:30 left, but made eight of 10 free throws in the last 1:10 to put the game away. Neither team led by double-digits until 1:28 remained, and the lead at the end was the largest of the game.

“I’m kind of proud of the way we ground this one out,” said Eagles Head Coach Kevin Renbarger, “because we did not hit a single three[-point field goal], after hitting 11 this afternoon, but Caleb and Spencer stepped up and did their part.”

That would be Caleb Middlesworth and Spencer Ballinger, who led the game with 20 and 23 points, respectively, and seemed to take turns providing critical baskets.

“[Middlesworth] was huge tonight,” said Renbarger, “This game was in peril when Tyce [Frank] came over to the bench [with his fourth foul, with 3:03 left in the third quarter]...” Middlesworth had seven points in the fourth quarter.

It was Ballinger, though, who seemed to have an answer for each Tipton surge, including four of the team’s seven points in the third quarter and 12 in the fourth. “He had a look in his eye tonight that said ‘I want the basketball; get it to me.’”

said Renbarger, “He’s got a big-game mentality and you could just tell he wanted to be in that moment...He really wanted it on the offensive end and we started running plays through him.”

It was Middlesworth (seven points) and Ballinger (four) who got the Eagles off to a 14-6 lead after the first quarter that included a 7-0 run at the end of the period.

GRANT COUNTY LIFE

PHOTOS FROM THE WEEK—GLEN DEVITT

ditions, I attended the Star Financial/Grant County Economic Growth Council Investor Appreciation Luncheon on Thursday (top, right). I attended the Marion Regional Final game between Marion and New Castle (immediately

14-10 and finishing the half down just four, 24-20. The third quarter was a hard-fought, low scoring affair, with each team registering just seven points. "They're a tough basketball team," said Renbarger, "They're gritty, they're tough, they physically wore us down and we don't sub a whole lot, so we knew that was what we were going to get."

The most notable event of the quarter came with Tyce Frank's third and fourth fouls and his subsequent banishment to the bench. That necessitated the entrance of Cal Mann. "Cal Mann came in at a very crucial juncture in the game, and I thought we were really in big trouble," Renbarger said, "So for Cal to play the way he did: not turn the ball over and take control of the team, I thought was probably the most difficult part of the basketball game." Perhaps, but within a minute of when Frank was able to return, the Oak Hill lead was down to three points and the outcome was still very much in doubt. In the game's final five minutes, though, Middlesworth had four points, Ballinger had six and Frank made eight straight free throws (he was 10-10 from the line for the night) to seal the game. "We just played this team a month ago," Renbarger said, (Oak Hill won, 59-42), "...We knew that they did not play their best game and that... playing them again was going to be tough...and then our kids who had not been in a close game like that in a very long time, I thought handled themselves pretty well." The Golden Eagles will take on Westview (28-1) in the Semi-State game at Huntington North on Saturday, with tipoff scheduled at 6 pm. The winner of that contest will play for the state title on Saturday, March 24 at Banker's Life Fieldhouse, with tipoff scheduled for 12:45 pm.

How they got there

The Eagles got to the championship game with a convincing 72-46 win over host Lapel in the second game of the early session. The home team scored the first field goal of the game—a three-pointer. It was the only lead the Bulldogs ever had. The Eagles went on a 13-0 run over the next 3:46, on their way to a 19-6 first-quarter lead.

Lapel bounced back with a 15-13 second quarter, which featured the low point of the game. With 1:06 left in the first half and the Eagles up 32-16, Lapel's Luke Richardson fired an inbounds pass directly into the face of Oak Hill's Spencer Ballinger, bloodying his nose. Surprisingly, the officials did nothing. There was no technical foul assessed, no disqualification. In fact, the Bulldogs even retained possession, despite the fact that

Marion takes semifinal over Northwood, falls to New Castle in title game

Throughout the course of the season, the Marion Giants have found success in playing an up-tempo style of basketball, using an aggressive full-court press that keeps opposing teams from finding any rhythm while helping to create offense in transition. On Saturday morning, the Giants followed that same formula to perfection, as a strong defensive effort in the second half, combined with another excellent performance from freshman phenom Jalen Blackmon, carried the Giants to a 66-51 victory over the Northwood Panthers in the 3A Boys Regional semifinals.

The Panthers, led by point guard Kaden Gongwer, came out firing in the first half, as the 5-9 junior helped Northwood build an early 13-8 lead with two first quarter treys. The Giants answered, ending the quarter on a 6-2 run to trail, 15-14, heading into the second quarter of play.

Both offenses struggled early in the second quarter, but a Latrell Simpson trey at the 5:28 mark gave the Giants their first lead of the morning, one they would hold throughout the remainder of the contest. The Panthers were able to make it a one possession game on two separate occasions in the closing moments of the first half, but the Giants responded on both occasions.

Tyrese Cobb converted a three-point play to increase Marion's lead back to five, and after four straight points from Northwood's Caleb Glick made it a one-point game, Jalen Blackmon knocked down a free throw to give Marion a 29-27 advantage heading into halftime. Marion had made a habit of wearing their opponents down as the game progresses, and after careful study, planning, and preparation throughout the week, Head Coach James Blackmon had a plan for what he had to do in the second half to take control.

"We worked on a number of things in practice [after] watching them on tape," Blackmon said after the game. "Most of the time when they lost ballgames, teams kept them out of the middle. We wanted to come out with our man-to-man defense at first to get a good feel for how we were going to attack them, and once we went to our full-court pressure, we saw that it staggered them a little bit.

"So in the second half, we amped it up a little bit, but stayed in that ball pressure situation. Fatigue caused a lot of problems for them."

Once the Giants' press got going, there was nothing Northwood could do to stop it.

Marion opened the second half with a trey from Jalen Blackmon and a transition deuce from Thomas, and the Giants' defense took over from there. The Panthers, who scored 27 points in the first half, were held scoreless over the first 4:30 of the period, and finished with just five points in the quarter.

However, while the Giants' were forcing a plethora of turnovers, they gave the ball away quite a bit themselves, allowing Northwood to stay within striking distance. Back-to-back treys from Simpson and Blackmon sparked a 12-4 run between the end of the third quarter and the beginning of the fourth quarter to quickly turn a five-point lead into a 15-point advantage.

Marion led by double-digits the rest of the contest, never letting their lead fall below 15 points, and hit their free throws down the stretch to secure the victory.

Jalen Blackmon finished with 22 points, seven rebounds, and seven assists. Dre Aguilar scored 10 points, while Cobb added nine points off the bench for the Giants in the win.

Caleb Lung finished with 18 points to lead the Panthers, and Gongwer ended the game with 15. Gongwer, who scored 12 points in the first half, was held scoreless in the second half until the final buzzer when the game was already out of reach.

The New Castle Trojans defeated the Angola Hornets in the second semifinal game at Marion, setting up the night's matchup: the Trojans against the Giants.

Trojans triumphant On Saturday evening in the 3A boy's basketball Regional final at Bill Green Area, Marion lived up its motto—"Giants Fight, Never Die." Trailing the New Castle Trojans by double digits heading into the final quarter, the Giants put together a valiant comeback effort, but fell just short in a 77-70 loss.

With the defeat, the Giants ended their season with a 20-7 record, and closed the books on an extraordinary freshman campaign from point guard Jalen Blackmon.

The Trojans, led by junior forward, Mason Gillis, got into a groove early, hitting five of their first six shots to build a 10-4 advantage. Gillis scored eight of those points for the Trojans. After Blackmon stopped the bleeding temporarily with his first triple of the game, Gillis and shooting guard, Niah Williamson, engineered a 7-2 burst to give the Trojans a 10-point advantage.

Despite an offensive bombardment from the Trojans, the Giants continued to fight, cutting the deficit to three on another Jalen Blackmon trey and a Dre Aguilar deuce, but Blake Burris answered right back with a trey of his own to give New Castle a 22-16 lead heading into the second quarter.

In the following eight minutes, everything fell apart for the Giants.

Marion, which had trouble holding on to the ball in the first quarter, had even more problems in the second, turning the ball over nine times as New Castle built a 15-point halftime lead.

Blackmon hit his third three-pointer of the contest early in the quarter to make it a three-point game, but the Trojans outscored the Giants 18-6 the rest of the way to build the big advantage. Marion continued to struggle offensively in the third quarter, while New Castle hit shot after shot to increase its lead to 19 points.

"We had some fatigue set in," Coach Blackmon said after the game. "We were trapping and extending our defense, but they were splitting the trap and making plays. We were trying to be aggressive, but they did a good job making shots."

Trailing by double-digits to the No. 1 team in 3A, the Giants could have easily conceded. Instead, the Giants started the quarter with a 10-2 run to cut the Trojans' lead down to nine, and, after a Gillis field goal, Jalen Blackmon scored to make it a single-digit contest once again.

Gillis scored again to increase the lead back to 11, but the Giants made another the ball actually rebounded back and hit Richardson before falling out of bounds.

"I think it was one of those things where [the officials] didn't really recognize what they had seen," said Renbarger after the championship game. "Like, 'Did I just see what I really saw?'"

"[One of the officials] came over and said that it was unsporting and that they weren't going to take it or tolerate it," Renbarger said, "I don't know the kid [Richardson]; I talked to him and his parents both. They both said it wasn't their intention, so I have to trust and believe that that's what it was."

The crowd certainly didn't agree, raining boos down from their side of the stands. Credit all of the players, especially Ballinger, who remained calm and finished out the half.

After the break, Oak Hill came out and blitzed Lapel, outscoring the Bulldogs 26-11 in the quarter. Senior guard David Arens led the way with 13 points in the third, including three of the team's 11 three-pointers.

Middlesworth led all scorers with 24 points; Arens had 20. Tyce Frank added 11 and Ballinger eight.

push, scoring seven of the next 11 points to make it a two-possession game.

That was as close as the Giants would get, though, as Gillis and Bumbalough hit their free throws down the stretch to secure the victory and advance to the Semi-State next weekend.

Blackmon finished his historic freshman season with a 25-point effort, while Tyrese Cobb, in his final game as a Marion Giant, scored 14. Gillis led the Trojans with 30 points, while Bumbalough added 19.

Along with stellar defense and efficient shooting from the field, the Trojans were excellent from the charity stripe, hitting 17 of their 23 free throws, good for 74 percent.

In a seven-point game, that turned out to be the biggest factor in the Trojans' victory. Despite the outcome, the Marion Giants have a bright future ahead of them. Jalen Blackmon has the look of a bonafide superstar. JK Thomas is one of the most athletic players in the state. Latrell Simpson, Dre Aguilar, Qu'Ran Howard-Clement, and others will be back next season with a year of experience under their belts.

"The guys were really upset," Coach Blackmon said. "but I just told the guys to reflect on not just this game but the [entire] season. Those guys proved to be winners all season long. One thing I asked for at the beginning of the game was 100 percent effort, and I thought they tried to [give] that. That's all we ask for. I thought the guys played hard, and we tried to put ourselves in a position to come back, but that's just the way the game went."

Taylor, IWU women each fall in NAIA tournament's second round

by Sean Douglas

Going against one of the top offenses in college basketball, the IWU Wildcats held the Olivet Nazarene Tigers to 32 points under their scoring average in a 78-65 win in the first round of the NAIA National Tournament in Sioux City, IA, last Wednesday afternoon.

The Wildcats grabbed a 6-5 lead with six minutes left in the first quarter, and never trailed again. IWU closed the first half on a 14-3 run to take a 35-22 lead into halftime. The 22 first-half points scored by ONU was their lowest output in any half this season.

"The key to the game was rebounding and not turning the ball over," Head Coach Ethan Whaley said. "We held them to four offensive rebounds under their average and 32 points under their average. So I was really proud of our girls for the way they executed the game plan. We got big plays and tough plays when we needed them."

Nicole Ignasiak scored a career-high 30 points on 11-of-13 shooting, while Anna Imhoff finished with 14 points. Elaina Ededuwa added 10 points and nine rebounds, while Groninger and Carly Lange each chipped in seven points in the Wildcats' victory.

However, the Wildcats' season came to an end on Friday afternoon, as first-half scoring struggles buried IWU in an 83-63 loss to No. 1 Southeastern University. The Wildcats trailed 11-8 early in the first half, but the Fire went on a 27-6 run to take a 38-14 lead midway through the second quarter.

As a team, the Fire shot 67.9 percent in the first half and turned 10 IWU turnovers into 21 points, which is the same amount of points that the Wildcats scored in the opening 20 minutes.

"They were really good," Whaley said. "They really gave us problems in the paint and from the outside. They are a very talented and versatile team."

IWU outscored the Fire 16-13 in the third quarter and 26-22 in the fourth quarter, but they never threatened Southeastern's lead.

Even so, Whaley was proud of how his team fought valiantly until the end.

"I felt we made some adjustments at half, and we tightened up our approach defensively. On the offensive end, we started attacking the paint and working inside-out. It worked to our advantage but when you dig a 27-point hole at half it is hard to dig out. I am proud of the way our girls fought in the second half."

Imhoff, playing in her final collegiate game, scored 12 points on four-of-12 shooting from beyond the arc. For the season, Imhoff finished with 100 made three-point attempts. Ignasiak led the Wildcats with 15 points, while Lange and Brittany Washington each added seven in the loss.

As a team, the Wildcats set a new program record with 248 made three-pointers, surpassing the 1994-95 team's mark of 247.

The Wildcats finish their season with a 25-9 record.

Taylor Trojans

In the first round of the NAIA National Tournament, the Taylor Trojans rallied from a 15-point deficit to defeat Northwest Christian University 61-54 on Wednesday afternoon. The Trojans struggled out of the gate, mustering just five points in the first quarter. Taylor shot just 1-for-11 in the opening ten minutes as the Beacons held an early 15-5 lead.

Over the last 2:53 of the first half, the Trojans outscored the Beacons 9-0, as a Josie Cobb triple, a Becca Buchs trey, and a hoop-and-harm from Cobb cut Northwest Christian's lead to 30-24.

After NCU opened the second half with a bucket, five straight points from Kendall Bradbury cut the Beacons' lead to three points.

Trailing by three with 5:55 to go in the contest, the Trojans rattled off nine straight points to take a six-point lead with 1:15 left. Cassidy Wyse started the run with a deuce before Abby Buchs' three-pointer at the 4:30 mark gave Taylor a lead they would relinquish.

The Beacons cut the Trojans' lead to four with 35 seconds left, but Taylor made five of their six free throws down the stretch to put the game away.

Bradbury finished with 15 points, while Cobb and Wyse each scored 13. Abby Buchs added 10 points in the win.

On Friday morning, the Trojans' season came to a close, as they were defeated by No. 2 Concordia University 71-50 in the second round of the tournament.

The Trojans opened the scoring with a bucket from Bradbury, but the Bulldogs connected on four of their first five shot attempts to build an early 10-2 lead. After the Trojans cut the deficit to three, Concordia outscored Taylor, 11-2, over the final 4:41 to take a 21-9 lead after ten minutes of play.

Taylor outscored the Bulldogs 10-0 to start the second quarter to trim their lead to just two points, but Concordia responded with nine straight points of their own to extend their lead back to 11.

A Haley Stratman triple cut the lead back to single digits, before a pair of free throws by Concordia made it a 32-22 contest at halftime.

Wyse hit a trey to bring Taylor within seven points, but the Bulldogs scored eight straight points to regain their double-digit advantage.

The Trojans were unable to recover, as the Bulldogs cruised to a 21-point victory.

Turnovers were the biggest factor in Taylor's loss, as the Bulldogs forced a season-high 29 turnovers and scored 34 points off of those miscues.

Bradbury finished the contest with 18 points and 12 rebounds for her 17th double-double of the season, while Wyse added 12 points and six rebounds in her last collegiate game.

With her 12 points against the Bulldogs, Wyse finished as Taylor's eighth all-time leading scorer with 1,527 career points.

The Trojans finished their season with a 24-11 record, their second-best finish in school history.

Reports on the county's teams in December 1980

by Ken Hill
December 8, 1980
Marion lived up to its No. 1 state billing by whipping Blackford 104-74 and Fort Wayne South 90-72. The Giants hits 59 percent from the floor at Blackford and 69 percent against No. 10 ranked Fort Wayne South. Joseph Price scored 24, Rob Olds 22, James Blackmon 21 and Ron Peters 12 against South. Price had 27, Blackmon 20 and both Olds and Peter 14 against Blackford.

Madison-Grant outscored Wabash 27-13 in the last quarter to get a 61-52 win. Sophomore Bill Cornelious, coming off the bench in his first varsity action, helped to spark the Argylls. Ross Reeves had 22 points, Harold Williams 12 and Todd Stroup 10.

Elwood won over Bennett 65-46 but then the Trojans topped Clinton Prairie 53-39 and Huntington Catholic 41-25. Todd Eder led against Huntington Catholic with 10 points. Charlie Raih had 16 points and 16 rebounds against Clinton Prairie. Joe Dick scored 15 against Elwood.

The Marion girls breezed past Southwood 74-29 for their 10th straight win. Trena Keys led with 22 points while Judy Burns had 11 and Kimberly Luster 10.

One of the most popular features of Ken Hill's Sports Hotline was "Turn Back the Pages," in which he revisited past issues of the paper and reprinted notable stories. In honor of the Hotline and as a legacy to Hill, The News Herald asked him for permission to carry on the tradition of "Turn Back the Pages." Hill readily agreed. Look for it in our pages on a regular basis.—Editor

The Marion swimmers beat Jay County and Blackford to make their record 5-0, the best start in school history.

Eastbrook only hit 27 percent from the field while losing to Norwell 61-46. Chip Cooper and Tim Hovious each scored 10 for the Panthers.

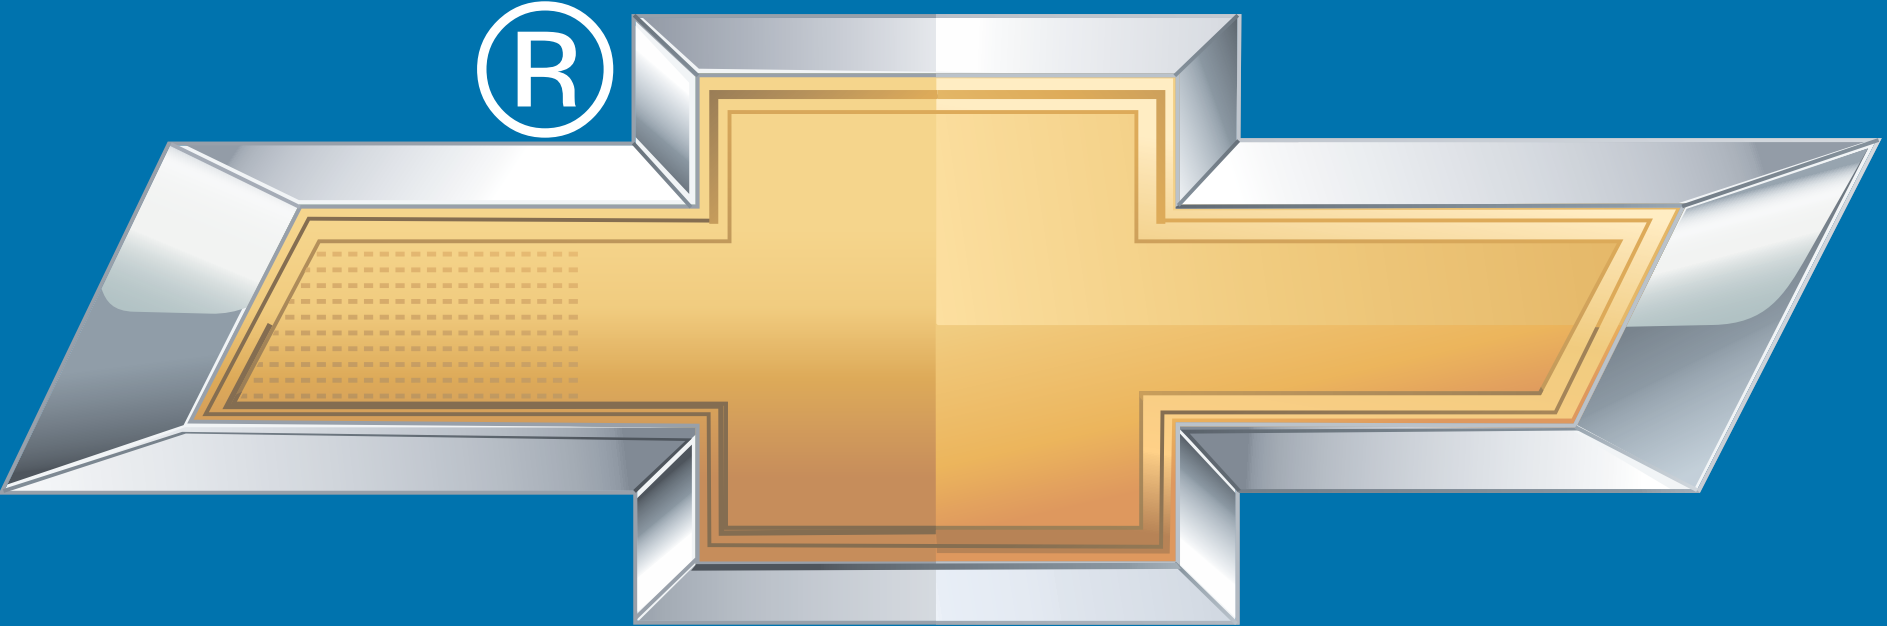

Mississinewa won over Delta 59-54 in two overtimes. Chris Ailes had 23 points and 16 rebounds. Dion Welton scored 17.

Eastbrook beat Oak Hill 35-26 to win its second straight Grant County reserve basketball tourney title. Jon Trout scored 10 and Robbie Church nine for Eastbrook. Brian Cunningham had eight for Oak Hill.

Angie Gibson, a 5-9 junior, had 17 points and 24 rebounds in Oak Hill's 50-41 win over Mississinewa. She had eight points and 21 boards in a 41-31 win over Madison-Grant. Sue Matchett led against Madison-Grant with 14 points.

Ron Hutchison bowled a house record 767 at Crest Lanes. Henrietta Etchison had 643 to lead the local women bowlers.
