Carey Services holds annual 'Night,' makes awards

Carey Services presented four awards to outstanding internal and external supporters during the organization's "A Night at Carey" dinner on March 17.

"With March being National Disability Awareness Month and with April being Autism Awareness Month, this is a perfect time of the year to say a public thank you to those people and organizations who generously support our mission to help people turn abilities and barriers into opportunities," said Greg Maynard, the agency's director of fund and strategic advancement. "A Night at Carey was a wonderful evening to bring people together to make that happen, and it is one we plan on celebrating for years to come."

Carey presented the:

- Mission Leader Award, which was presented to agency staff member Cathy Queen, director of the agency's Early Head Start program.
- Self-Advocate Award, presented to Sherry Stepp, a consumer who best typifies a spirit of advocacy and support.
- Community Partner Award, which was presented to Josh Vigar of Boutique 125, a community member who has demonstrated strong support of Carey Services.
- Heritage Award, which was presented to Robert and Jeanie Backs, who have been instrumental in Carey Services.

Democrats hold candidate forum

by Ed Breen

Given the current political climate in Grant County, it would be a long shot, but possible, that an unprecedented number of Marion area women could be sent off to the statehouse to make the laws in the November election. Five women seeking state office will have their names on the Democrat primary ballot in May. (Several additional women are seeking county and township offices.)

The women were among a dozen state and local candidates who introduced themselves to Grant County Democratic voters in a candidate forum Saturday at The Refinery in Marion.

Four of them are assured a place on the general election ballot in November because they are running without opposition. The fifth—Dee Thornton—is seeking the Democratic nomination for U.S. Representative in the Fifth District. She is part of a field of five seeking the nomination to Rob and Amanda (combine their names to make the name of the restaurant) Stevens stood behind Chamber of Commerce Executive Director Kylie Jackson (third from left) as the Chamber ambassadors prepared to enjoy lunch following a ribbon cutting for the eatery that's located in the old train depot in downtown Marion. "I loved the building," Rob said, and when they wanted to expand, he and his wife asked: "What better place than Marion?" Romanda's uses local ingredients to offer "All-American comfort food," such as hand-cut steaks and bacon-wrapped, deep-fried Twinkies.

CLEVER IDEA...
National Quilting Day was March 17, and to honor the day the Marie Webster Quilt Guild (which operates under the auspices of The Quilters Hall of Fame) donated a quilt to the first girl and boy born on or after that day at Marion General Hospital.

The boy’s quilt was stitched by Jocelyn Smith, who also did a tactile mat for the little girl. The baby girl’s quilt was stitched by Kathy Boxell. The quilts were presented by Joyce Hostetler.

Lakeiah Johnson and her son received the boy’s quilt, and Allison Baxter and her daughter, Blakely, received the girl’s quilt and tactile mat.

Duff’s Original Buffet in Bradenton, FL was the site where 75 “Marionites” gathered for a reunion on Thursday, March 1. Jerry Shull (Marion High School class 1962) was the master of ceremonies.

Carmen Lindsay Ramsey led the enthusiastic group in singing the chorus of “Back Home Again in Indiana,” the Marion High School fight song and “God Bless America.”

The group took a break for a buffet lunch that offered a variety of country style cooking plus Mexican and Italian dishes, with a choice of desserts. Dr. Pierre J. Fisher, retiring president, then opened the afternoon plenary session with a few welcoming and historical remarks.

John Earnest (MHS class 1962) presented a video produced by Mark Fauser for the Marion Giant Alumni Association, promoting the association’s Giant Dreams Endowment Funds for academics, arts, and athletics.

All alumni are invited to join the tax exempt 501(c) (3) association, with a one-time $25 membership fee. Tax exempt contributions can be made to the Marion High School Alumni Association, PO Box 448, Marion, IN 46952

Following the video, first time attendees were introduced and the microphone was passed around the room so everybody had a chance to talk.

The first Marion High School-Florida Reunion was held in Largo, FL on March 1, 1984. It was organized by Charlie Kilgore (retired Marion postmaster) and Laverne Bradford (the first MHS Easter Queen in 1934).

It was promoted, for many years, by Bill Fowler of WBAT, who was widely known as the “Voice of the Giants.” The annual event has always been held on the first Thursday in March; it moved to Bradenton in 2011.

Next year’s reunion will be on March 7, 2017.

DOING GOOD

Each week, The News Herald prepares news of the good being done by individuals and organizations in Grant County for broadcast on WBAT. Here is an adaptation of the transcript of that broadcast.—Ed.

The good people at Family Service Society have been recognized for their good works by the Commission of Accreditation for Rehabilitation Facilities with a Three Year Accreditation for Quality, Commitment, and Accountability in the areas of case management, and outpatient treatment for addictions and mental health services. Thank you to all the good people at Family Services for achieving this recognition of your good work in our community.

Good things are happening in the southern part of Grant County in Fairmount. The town is experiencing a new energy lead by the enthusiasm of a group of folks organized as Main Street Fairmount. The leaders of that group are Alissa Meyer and Romando Pemberton. They are leveraging a $500,000 grant from the Indiana Office of Community and Rural Affairs and using it to improve the look of downtown Fairmount. This will begin in April and the plans are to have it finished before the James Dean Festival in September. This is a really good opportunity for Fairmount and serves as an example of what local folks can do when they work together.

If you want an opportunity to do good, let me suggest you sign up for Cancer Services Walk of Hope on Friday, May 4. It’s the major annual fund raiser for this good organization that helps cancer patients. If you can’t walk, you can join as a virtual walker, or you can sign up loved ones who’ve passed as angel walkers. The cost is just $5 a person right now. Your involvement will make a difference for a neighbor struggling with cancer, as all the money raised is used here in Grant County. This is your chance to do good!

Finally, a good word from the Good Book—the Holy Bible—where we read in Psalm 34:8, “Oh, taste and see that the Lord is good; Blessed is the man who trusts in Him!”

I hope you have a really good day and a good week. God bless you!

run against another woman, incumbent Susan Brooks (a Republican), who is seeking her fourth term.

The Democratic Party in Grant County is struggling, but the candidates for state legislative seats have multiple opportunities because seven of the Indiana House and Senate districts include a portion of Grant County in their voting area. All of the legislative seats—four in the House and three in the Senate—are currently held by Republicans, none of whom lives in Grant County.

At the federal level, five candidates are seeking the nomination to oppose Brooks in November. Four were in Marion Saturday:

Eshe Faraggi, an Israeli-born naturalized American who lives in Hamilton County and is a science professor at IUPUI in Indianapolis.

Dion Douglas, a Pendleton resident.

Kyle Moore, a Warsaw native who now lives in Indianapolis and is employed by Eli Lilly Co.

Dee Thornton, a Tennessee native and University of Louisville graduate who worked in advertising and public relations for the Xerox Corp. for 30 years.

The fifth candidate, Sean Dugdale, did not participate Saturday.

At the state level, Christina Fivecoate, a Kokomo resident and Indiana University-Kokomo librarian, is unopposed for the Democratic nomination to run against Republican Sen. Jim Buck for the District 21 seat in November.

Gary Snyder, a Huntington Democrat, is unopposed in the primary and will face Republican Sen. Andy Zay for the Dist. 17 Senate seat in November. Zay, also from Huntington, was named to fill the unexpired term of Jim Banks when Banks was elected to Congress in 2016.

On the state's House of Representatives side, Democrat Dee Moore, a Kosciusko County resident, will be Remembering one who visited for a 'brief' time

It took, maybe, a Hoosier to say what so many of us were trying to say the past week in the wake of the death of Steven Hawking.

"The mind of Steven Hawking," the Hoosier said, "saw more and saw more deeply than the rest of us."

Pretty complete and pretty accurate and it came from Jane Pauley, the girl from Warren Central High School in Indianapolis who went on to become sort of an icon before she settled in to do so well what she's doing now: Bringing us "CBS Sunday Morning" every week.

Most everyone tried to summon the words, to encapsulate exactly what the greatest scientist and theoretical astrophysicist of our time, or any other time, had been able to do from the confines of that shriveled and useless body in which his mind had been held captive for so many years.

Kind of like those mind game challenges: How long is a string? Where does the sky stop? How do you prove what you did not do? They make no sense, except they do. So it was with Steven Hawking.

We'll not bore you here with what you heard and read last week after he died on Wednesday at age 76: that he was an average student; that he lived and loved just the way the rest of us do; that his mind was a universe unto itself, neurons and dendrites firing left and right, just like yours and mine do at a basketball game. Except he was elsewhere.

Just for a minute here, listen to what he was doing inside that head. This is from a chronology of his life. Don't try to understand it, just enjoy the journey with him for what it was:

- In 1970, Dr. Hawking showed that the area of a black hole's event horizon— a spherical surface marking the point of no return—can only increase, never decrease, as stuff falls into a black hole or it collides and merges with other black holes.
- In 1971 he suggested that mini-black holes much smaller than stars created in the Big Bang could be peppering the universe.
- Then in 1974 he shocked his colleagues and the world by showing that black holes will leak and explode when quantum effects—the weird laws that describe subatomic behavior—are taken into account.
- In 1976 he said exploding black holes add randomness and unpredictability to the universe, forever erasing information about what might have fallen into a black hole.

I don't know. You don't know. He was a mathematician. He could think logically in those places where only numbers are spoken.

In his own way, though, he was acting on behalf of all of us, doing what we can't do. He was trying to explain us to us and us to them, whoever and where ever they might be.

He joked about his own

He joked about his own book, "A Brief History of Time," as the "best-seller that no one read." We tried. We really did.

book, "A Brief History of Time," as the "best-seller that no one read." We tried. We really did.

Some of his own words can be instructive.

Understanding of history he believed to be important: "It's the past that tells us who we are. Without it we lose our identity," he said.

His mission for himself was lofty: "My goal is simple. It is a complete understanding of the universe, why it is as it is and why it exists at all."

He was not without humor. "Women?" he asked—and answered: "Women are a complete mystery."

On humans and who we are: "We are just an advanced breed of monkeys on a minor planet of a very average star, but we can understand the universe. That makes us something very special."

Finally, let's not forget that he died—and some us

Kind of cosmic, don't you think?

Why did Jesus allow Lazarus to die and then raise him?

Have you ever wondered why Jesus did the things He did? It has always been interesting to me to read a biblical story and then try to analyze the procedure that was taken. Jesus was no doubt a Miracle Man come from God. Every situation, every individual, was dealt with in a unique way. It should be obvious by now that I try to place myself with the Bible character to get a feel for what was transpiring. Some things we can only assume, but the first rule of biblical interpretation is that when the Bible is silent, we should be silent also.

Easter is quickly approaching. One of the stories that is familiar to many is raising Lazarus from the dead. In John's Gospel, chapter eleven, we are given the details for this amazing story. We have been blessed by so many miraculous stories about Jesus that nothing should shock or surprise us. Have you ever wondered why He raised Lazarus from the dead? There is no doubt that Jesus wanted to reveal Himself as the resurrection and the life.

What does this story tell us? It reveals that Lazarus is sick (verse 1-3). Mary, Martha and Lazarus were close friends of Jesus, and Jesus had stayed at their house often. There was a strong bond of friendship between them. Their family members were believers and followers of Jesus. They believed that Jesus was the only hope and help for Lazarus. They had seen and experienced the healing power of Jesus. They also knew that Jesus not only loved them, but He loved Lazarus. There was no doubt that they must send for Jesus because they knew Him well and knew what He could do. They had no doubt He would heal Lazarus.

It was during this time when Mary and Martha had called for Jesus, that He was experiencing great rejection, opposition, and ridicule. We can all identify with rejection because we have experienced it, too. The pressures of ministry and the death on a cruel cross were no doubt weighing heavy on His heart. Don't get me wrong. He never lost sight of what He came to do, and that was to redeem us!

At the time Jesus received word to come, He was two days away and He waited two more days before He went. But why? Didn't Jesus care if Lazarus died? He had said that this sickness wasn't one that would kill you, but Lazarus died.

At this point I want to close with a simple application. Lazarus' sickness and death were a means to glorify God (verse 4). It also proclaimed that Jesus truly was the Son of God. Lazarus' death was for all to see the works of God demonstrated. How could His death glorify God? This story definitely shows God's desire for man to live. He said, "I have come so that they may have life, and that they may have it more abundantly" (John 10:10b). It also demonstrated God's power to give life. There is no doubt that God and God alone has the keys to life and death. We can also see God's love for life by showing His approval of His Son. "For God so loved the world, that He gave His only Son that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have everlasting life" (John 3:16).

It is amazing that no matter how many times we hear the stories of Jesus, they never grow old. As we celebrate Easter, I hope you will remember what Jesus did for all of us.

"It was great to hear the stories that went with each winner's nomination and then hear their comments after receiving their awards," Maynard said. "Every one of the winners truly has a passion for the work the agency does every day, and they have found their niches in which they can give back and make this community a more inclusive place."

For the last two seasons, the Oak Hill Golden Eagles have experienced heartbreak. Against the Lapel Bulldogs in the Regional final back in 2016, a buzzer beater ended the Golden Eagles' season earlier than many would have anticipated. Last season, the Southwood Knights crushed the Golden Eagles' state championship dream once again, defeating Oak Hill, 60-52, in the Sectional semifinals.

But on Saturday night, the demons of the last two tournaments were finally put to rest, as the Golden Eagles punched their ticket to Bankers Life Fieldhouse with a 70-64 victory over the Westview Warriors in the Class 2A Semi-State championship.

With the win, the Golden Eagles advanced to their first Class 2A state title game in school history.

The game began with a high-scoring first quarter, as Oak Hill's Spencer Ballinger and Caleb Middlesworth quickly established their presences down in the post, while Westview showed off their prowess from beyond the arc with two made triples.

Both teams shot 6-for-10 from the field as the Warriors built an early 17-14 lead.

As Middlesworth sat on the bench with foul trouble in the second quarter, Ballinger, David Arens, and Konnor Cabe picked up the slack, keying an 8-1 run that turned a two-point deficit into a five-point Oak Hill lead. Elijah Hales kept the Warriors grounded, scoring five straight points for Westview to cut the Golden Eagles' lead to two points, 30-28, at the break.

It became evident in the third quarter that the War-

Oak Hill's Tyce Frank (#25) and Caleb Middlesworth (#43) surround a Westview shooter while Spencer Ballinger (#23) awaits a rebound in the Golden Eagles' 70-64 Semi-State win.

riori had no answer for Ballinger or Middlesworth, as the Golden Eagles' senior big men imposed their will on a much smaller Westview lineup. "Coach really emphasized putting the ball in the post, and I think we did that," Middlesworth said. "We had mismatches a couple of times, and we did a great job of throwing it down [there]."

Almost singlehandedly, Ballinger and Middlesworth helped increase Oak Hill's lead to as many as 13, and for a time it seemed that the Golden Eagles could potentially put the game away early. But the Westview Warriors proved that their 28-1 record coming into the game was no fluke.

After Arens gave the Golden Eagles a 48-36 lead, Westview ended the quarter with two treys from Charlie Yoder to cut Oak Hill's advantage down to six. For the last eight minutes of the game, the Warriors were right on the Golden Eagles' heels.

On four separate occasions, the Warriors were within two points of the Golden Eagles, but each time Oak Hill responded.

After Hales, who made all but one of his shots in the fourth quarter, cut Oak Hill's lead to 56-54 with a triple, Golden Eagles' point guard Tyce Frank scored on a second-chance opportunity to push the lead back to four.

Moments later, Hales again found twine, but Arens responded with two crucial free throws.

Middlesworth scored another critical basket to keep Oak Hill in front after Kenton Weaver hit two free throws of his own, and, finally, Ballinger and Arens answered another Hales field goal with four straight free throws to secure the Semi-State championship.

"I know this sounds like a broken record, but I am glad that we played the schedule that we played," Head Coach Kevin Renbarger said. "I do think that we were able to kind of bring back that experience into this basketball game. That is one of the better teams that we have played all year. They shot tremendously well, and they made winning plays, [but] you have to give our kids credit for making winning plays as well. We made the plays on both ends of the floor when we needed to, and now we are getting our reward."

"It was a team contribution. Everybody stepped up in some kind of pressure-packed situation. We weren't perfect, and we had our warts, but everybody on the floor did something huge."

"They lost one game throughout the entire season," Arens added. "We knew they were a good team and they were going to fight back, and, honestly, we just kept our heads up, had a good mindset, and [encouraged each other] when we made mistakes. I'm just glad we finished it out and got the win."

Middlesworth led the Golden Eagles with 20 points, 15 of which came in the second half, while Ballinger scored 18. Arens finished with 14 points, while Frank added 10.

Hales finished with 31 points for Westview, including 16 in the fourth quarter, while Yoder chipped in 14.

For the players, it's not lost on them how much Saturday night's win meant to the Oak Hill fanbase, and they were glad that they were able to share this historic victory with their friends and family.

"It's huge for the community," Middlesworth said. "We have a ton of backing and support. It's not just for us, but for them as well."

"It's a blessing for our team, myself included," Arens said. "I'm the first one to win a Regional title in my family, and I'm the first one to win a Semi-State in my family. It's such an honor, and I am so glad that we can come out and compete every night. We're going to Bankers Life, that's all I've got to say."

Next Saturday, the Golden Eagles have a chance to do what no other Oak Hill boys basketball team has done before: bring a state championship back to Converse.

"I'm just really happy for our kids," Renbarger said. "I'm an Oak Hill grad, so I am especially happy for the Oak Hill community. Our kids came in with a lot of expectations this year and a lot of weight on their shoulders. They didn't handle it well all of the time, but they decided about a month ago to let all that stuff go and just go out and play basketball."

"Now, we go from pre-season No. 1 to being in a position to be No. 1 in 2A. Only two teams are left, and it feels awful good that Oak Hill is one of them."

IWU baseball and softball teams start Crossroads League schedule

Baseball

In their first Crossroads League game of the season on Friday afternoon, the IWU Wildcats' baseball team came up on the losing end, as they were defeated by the Bethel Pilots 5-0.

Wildcats' starting pitcher Jon Young (1-3) gave up five hits and five runs, four of which came in the sixth inning. The Wildcats' offense finished with four hits and five walks, but left 10 men stranded on base in the loss.

Jordan Wharton finished 1-for-3 from the dish with a walk, while pinch hitter Nick Coy recorded a hit in his only at-bat.

The Wildcats got back in the win column on Saturday, as five IWU pitchers combined to give up just one run on six hits in 6-0 and 2-1 victories over the Pilots. Kyle Hall, Tanner Killian, Tim Olanvey, David Corbin, and Zee Breytenbach struck out a total of 13 Pilots in the double-header sweep.

In game one, Wharton, Judah Wollenburg, Eric Wentz, and Brady West combined for seven hits. Wollenburg went 2-for-4 with a double, while Wentz scored two runs and knocked a run home. West finished 2-for-3 with a double, while Wharton also finished with two hits.

Hall (3-1) struck out five over five innings of work, while Killian shut the door with two scoreless innings.

In game two, Corbin went 4.2 innings, striking out three, while Olanvey (3-1) earned the victory, giving up just one hit in 2.1 innings. Breytenbach was also effective, striking out two in his two innings of work. Wentz, Steven Busby, and Parker Johnson each finished with two hits in the victory.

Softball

The IWU Wildcats' softball team began the Crossroads League portion of their schedule with a pair of victories over cross-county rival Taylor University. The Wildcats rallied to defeat the Trojans, 4-3, in game one before coming away with a 2-0 victory in game two.

Kira Madl and Kelsey Kooistra combined for four hits and three RBI in the first game, while Kristen Exposito finished 2-for-3 from the plate with a double and an RBI in the second contest.

McKenzey Ridge was effective from the mound once again in the nightcap, giving up just three hits in seven innings of work.

Taylor baseball picks up 20th win before conference play starts

In their final tune-up before Crossroads League play begins, the Taylor Trojans' baseball team defeated Defiance College 11-1 in a nine-inning affair on Thursday afternoon for their 20th victory of the season.

Defiance opened the scoring in the second inning with a solo home run, but the Trojans answered with two runs of their own in the bottom half of the frame. The Trojans tacked on three runs in the fourth, two runs in the seventh, and four runs in the eighth to secure the win.

Taylor's 11 runs came on 13 hits, eight walks, and two Defiance fielding errors.

Five Trojan pitchers combined to allow just seven hits and one run. After Kole Barkhaus started the game with three effective innings, Justin Pettit earned his first collegiate win with three scoreless frames of his own. Brenden Bube, Colin Pfoenhauer, and Trevor Booth shut the door the rest of the way.

Wyatt Whitman finished the day with two hits, four RBI, and a run scored, while Tanner Watson hit three singles and scored three runs. Sam Wiese also scored three times, while Austin Mettica recorded three RBI.

In their first Crossroads League contest on Friday afternoon, the combination of a three-run second inning, together with another dominant outing from ace Matt Patton, gave the Trojans a 3-1 win over the Knights.

Mettica was hit by a pitch in the second inning, and consecutive singles from Wiese, Jared Adkins, and Andrew Kennedy gave the Trojans a 1-0 lead. Josh Lane and Whitman followed with RBI of their own to tack on two more runs for Taylor.

Patton continued to impose his will on the mound, striking out five Knights in the first two innings and carrying a shutout into the seventh inning.

The Knights loaded the bases in the seventh inning with a chance to blow the game wide open, but Rob Fox allowed just one run to cross the plate.

Marian loaded the bases again in the eighth inning, and once again, the Trojans did not falter, as Luke Shively retired the last five batters of the contest.

Patton improved to 6-1 on the season, while Shively notched his first save.

After winning Friday's opener, the Trojans were swept by the Knights in a two-game series on Monday. The Trojans were defeated, 1-0, in game one before dropping a 5-4 decision to the Knights in the second contest.

The first game was scoreless until the bottom of the ninth inning, when the Knights capitalized on a Trojan fielding error to score the game's only run and secure the victory.

The Trojans finished 0-for-9 with runners in scoring position in the shutout defeat.

Whitman recorded two hits to lead the Trojans' offense, while Tucker Waddups gave up seven hits and just one walk over six innings. Shively struck out four while allowing two hits, two walks, and one unearned run.

In the nightcap, a Watson RBI double followed by run scoring singles from Wiese and Nathan Targgart gave the Trojans a 3-1 lead after five innings.

But the Knights used a four-run sixth inning to take a 5-3 lead into the final frame.

Targgart brought home Whitman with an RBI single to cut the Knights' lead to one run, but the Trojans could not complete the comeback.

Watson and Targgart each finished with two hits, while Whitman scored two runs in the loss.

Softball

The Taylor Trojans' softball team opened their Crossroads League schedule with two losses to IWU on Friday. Taylor dropped the first game, 4-3, and the second contest, 2-0.

The Trojans took an early 3-0 lead in game one, but the Wildcats scored two runs each in the second and third innings to take a one-run lead they would not relinquish.

Erin Cozad brought home Courtney Moriarty with a two-out RBI single in the first inning, and a two-run double by Cassie Kuizin scored Taylor Wilson and Lyndsey Cornell to give Taylor the three-run advantage.

Taylor would not score again the rest of the day.

The Trojans had a runner on second with one out in the fourth inning and a runner on second with two outs each in the fifth and sixth innings, but they were unable to capitalize on those opportunities in the eventual defeat.

The Trojans were shut out in the second game, only coming away with three hits. Taylor had bases loaded in the second inning with two outs, but once again, the Trojans could not come up with the big hit.

IWU scored two runs in the third inning to secure the victory.

Kuizin and Moriarty each finished with two hits in the second contest.

In their Crossroads League opener on Monday, the Trojans split a two-game series with the Huntington Foresters, coming away with a 5-2 victory in the nightcap after dropping a 1-0 decision in the first contest.

The Trojan offense struggled in the first tilt, mustering just two baserunners in the shutout defeat, but scored three runs early in the second game to seize momentum.

Jacqueline Ryals' first-career double scored Wilson for the Trojans first run, and a Kuizin RBI single, followed by a Kara Tucker double steal, gave Taylor the three-run advantage.

Erin Cozad scored on an error in the third inning to make it a 4-0 game, but the Foresters trimmed the lead in half.

Ryals' second RBI of the game gave the Trojans their final run of the contest, and TU's pitching staff shut the door the rest of the way.

Ryals and Wilson each finished with two hits, marking the first multi-hit game of Ryals' career.

Courtney Moriarty (1-1) won her first decision of the season, giving up just two hits and no earned runs in the victory.

IWU midfielder to play pro with Indy

by Sean Douglas

After a freshman campaign during which he finished with three goals, 10 assists, and was named to the National Christian College Athletic Association (NCCAA) All-Tournament Team, Indiana Wesleyan University (IWU) midfielder Nico Matern embarked on the next chapter of his life on Thursday, signing a professional contract with the Indy Eleven soccer team.

Per club policy, terms of the contract were not disclosed.

A native of Germany, Matern has been playing soccer for most of his life, beginning his career in FC St. Pauli in the Bundesliga youth system and playing with a number of third-, fourth-, and fifth-division teams throughout the German soccer hierarchy.

This past season, Matern helped lead the Wildcats to a 12-9-2 record, including a 6-2-1 mark in the Crossroads League, and an NCCAA national championship semifinal victory over Bethesda University of California.

“We are very proud of Nico and believe he is deserving of this opportunity,”

IWU Head Coach Luke Sanford said. “He is a player that possesses tons of quality, and we hope to see him have a successful professional career. We are excited about his personal growth as a man and the faith encounter he has had at IWU and hope to see him continue to grow in this new chapter of life for him.”

Matern’s journey to the Eleven began after Indy Head Coach Martin Rennie inquired about needing players to practice with the team one or two times a week.

After talking with Sanford, Matern accepted the offer, and after two practices and an exhibition game against the Swope Park Rangers, the Eleven offered Matern a contract.

It certainly was not an easy decision for Matern to make, but after much deliberation, particularly with his fiancée, the German midfielder decided to move on from IWU and into the world of professional soccer.

“I wasn’t sure if I should do it or not, but my fiancée told me that ‘maybe, this could be the last chance you get. I think you should take it,’” Matern said. “It’s just time for me to play professional soccer. The sky is the limit.”

His one season at IWU was not for naught, however, as he established himself as one of the leaders of the team and forged relationships with both his coaches and his teammates. “I grew a lot as a leader,” Matern said. “I was one of the oldest guys on the team, so I took that leadership role. [Teammates] would ask me for advice, and I would always try to help them.”

Matern might be playing in a different uniform next season, but he could not have been more thankful for his time as an IWU Wildcat.

“I am proud to say that I was a part of the IWU family and was able to meet so many awesome people that impacted me,” Matern said. “I am grateful to Coach [Luke Sanford], who gave me the opportunity at IWU. I also want to say a special thanks to Josh Kremers, Josh Goepper and Joe Schulman, who helped me grow this past season.”

The Eleven will begin their season on Saturday, March 31, against FC Cincinnati.

We need a name for the ‘hoops triangle’

Think about what might happen this weekend. If Southwood and Oak Hill bring back state titles from Indianapolis, we need to come up with a name to describe the triangle we live in, from Marion to Oak Hill to Southwood.

Indiana Wesleyan University got it done a week ago, bringing home their third NAIA Division II national title in five short years. The last time any college coach did that he was nicknamed The Wizard (of Westwood). That would be John Wooden, who turned the trick at UCLA in the early 1970s.

Now Greg Tonagel, the winningest coach in college basketball at nearly 80% has done it at IWU.

Meanwhile, the fans at Oak Hill and Southwood are delirious with dreams of state titles.

Anyone who was at Huntington North High School last Saturday saw two of the most determined high school teams I have ever seen. The Eagles won the 2A Semi-State and the Knights took home the 1A title.

Both will go for their first-ever state titles in boys hoops on Saturday at Bankers Life Fieldhouse.

If you saw what I saw last weekend, good luck stopping them.

Best wishes go out from this long-time reporter to Kevin Renbarger and John Burrus. Both have worked for years at their craft and now

We need to come up with a name to describe the triangle we live in, from Marion to Oak Hill to Southwood.

hope to cut down the really big-time nets on Saturday.

It says here Oak Hill (70) over Forest Park (60), while the Knights bring home the 1A title, 75-72.

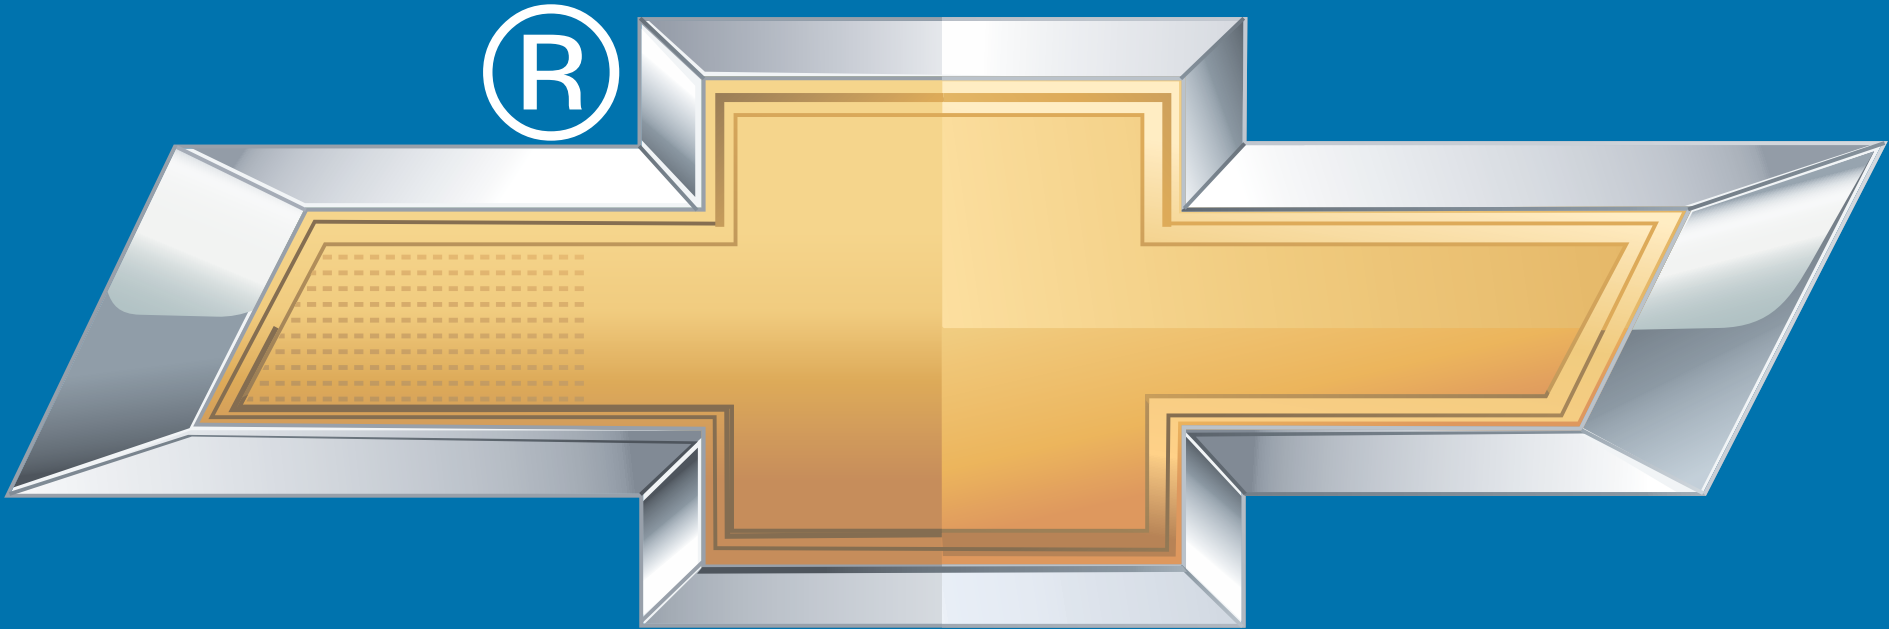

Can you imagine the parties in Meir and Lafontaine on Saturday night? The local teams winning three titles in the space of two weeks? We won’t soon forget the 2018 basketball season if that happens.
