County celebrates 'cool'

by Sean Douglas

The story of James Dean is a tragic one; a fatal car accident in 1955 cut short a potentially successful acting career. But for one weekend each September, thousands of people from Grant County, surrounding areas, and all over the world gather in Dean's hometown of Fairmount, celebrating the "King of Cool."

The 43rd annual James Dean Day Festival offered attendees a glimpse back in time to the era of

Commissioners postpone butt ban

By Ed Breen

Grant County's three commissioners sent the message Monday that they are in no hurry to make a decision on a proposed ban on smoking in all public places in Grant County.

The commissioners failed to set a date for a public hearing on the proposal that has come from the Grant County Health Board. Among other things, the ordinance, if enacted, would prohibit smoking in all restaurants, bars, taverns, private clubs and public places where people

Price drops debut solo CD: 'Road'

by Loretta Tappan

To celebrate her first solo professional recording effort, The Road to You, Layla Adair Price hosted a CD release party on Friday, September 28, at Five's Tap Room in Anderson.

"It was really awesome. Had about 70 people show up in that place and almost half of them bought a CD. Band did a great job," said Price.

The album released with CDBaby.com. Fans can enjoy the songs online as well though streaming services such as Spotify, and can purchase songs individually in variety of online platforms such as iTunes.

As suggested on the album cover, the title track, The Road to You, is "the most meaningful one. It encapsulates my entire few years from around 2012 up until now," said Price.

That's when she started her solo adventure, after several co-writing experiences. She opened for Hunter Smith, Zach Day & Full Throttle, and "a few years ago played with a band who opened for Brooks & Dunn."

Price said she really enjoys writing and performing her own original compositions.

The album recording process started in August 2017 with producers and fellow musicians Michael Mustin and Kevin Todd. The musicians got together as much as they

Where are the students coming from, and going to?

TIP OF THE HAT...to my brother Mike for the following information.

Seems Mike saw some of the recent announcements from school districts on their enrollments and got to wondering: where are those students coming from and where are they going to?

That is, are students going to schools in districts other than which they live? If so, where?

He decided to find out. The result is the chart you see below, which shows each district and the source and destinations of their students.

We specifically decided not to attempt to draw any conclusions or make any inferences from these data. We will leave it to you, our intrepid readers, to do that for yourselves.

HERE’S WHAT MADE ME GO “HHHMMM” THIS WEEK...My daughter Joy got in the car after the Health Fair at school with not one, but two lollipops stuck in her mouth. “I know,” she said, responding to my questioning look, “Why do they give us candy at a Health Fair when everyone knows that candy is not healthy?”...Hmm.

DOING GOOD

Each week, The News Herald prepares news of the good being done by individuals and organizations in Grant County for broadcast on WBAT. Here is an adaptation of the transcript of that broadcast.—Ed.

Kinwell Academy, an alternative school here in Grant County that provides a second chance for students who need one received some good news recently in the form of two grants totaling $22,500 to support the good work they do. Two local foundations provided the money, which will be used to enhance the service learning and provide a life coach for this organization.

Kinwell encourages students who are seeking another chance to get a high school diploma and does it by providing emotional, spiritual, and academic support. Its director Roger Younce is a good man and this school does a good service in our community. We applaud them and celebrate this good news with them.

The festival season in Grant County is in full bloom as witnessed by last week’s Remembering James Dean Festival in Fairmount, and the car shows, motorcycle rallies, and other events that went with it. Last month was the Van Buren Popcorn Festival, the Upland Labor Day Festival, and the Matthews Covered Bridge Festival. Soon the Mississinewa 1812 Festival will be celebrated.

These events are good for Grant County in many ways. They are fun activities and they boost the local economy with folks who spend money at hotels, restaurants, shops, and yard sales. All of this is good for Grant County.

Good news comes from Marion High School, where once again the JROTC Raider team dominated their competition and came away victorious. Last weekend the Marion team, representing the best of the state of Indiana, competed at Ft. Knox, KY, with the state champions from Kentucky, Tennessee, and Illinois, and won first place overall.

We salute those high school students and the hard work and effort they put in to accomplish this.

We also need to mention the good work of their leader, retired Lt. Col. David Farlow, for his inspiration and coaching. Good job, Raiders!

Next week has been designated Emergency Nurses Week and it gives us a chance to highlight the good work of those who are always on duty to help us when an emergency arises. We are very blessed in this community to have Marion General Hospital and its professionally staffed emergency room. Most urgent care begins with an emergency nurse, so we want to say thank you to these good folks.

The final good word this week is from the Good Book--the Holy Bible--where we read in Psalm 73:28, “But it is good for me to draw near to God;

I have put my trust in the LORD GOD,

That I may declare all Your works.”

May you have a good day and a good week, and may God bless you and your family.

The early church developed Barnabas (pt. 3)

We read in Acts 4:31-37 that Barnabas was part of a special group of people: prayer warriors. God can do many things through us if we pray. Barnabas was able to see the needs of those around him more than his own need. Because of this, he sold land, brought the money to the Apostles, and laid it at their feet. This was an act to help those less fortunate than he. Why would he do this?

The early church was an amazing group of people that forgot self for the greater good. Why were they praying? I feel there are several things that enter into this story.

1. They got what they needed (verse 31). All were filled with the Spirit of God in order to be able to do God's work. What do we need when we pray? Here is a suggestion to help us see the sequence. The ingredients of prayer are confession, repentance, forgiveness, cleansing, and restoration. "Let us come boldly unto the throne of grace, that we may obtain mercy and find grace to help in time of need" (Hebrews 4:16). We can't come boldly unless we are clean. Harboring sin is wrong (Psalm 66:18).

2. They got what they wanted (verses: 20, 29, 31). What did they want? What do you want when you pray? They wanted BOLDNESS, so they could stand up proud and proclaim the Word of God to others in the midst of opposition. They wanted to be able to testify with confidence (verse 20). It is not easy to proclaim anything in the midst of being threatened. You may have noticed at this point that they didn't pray as I sometimes do: "Lord, help me out of this mess." They didn't ask for deliverance, but that the Lord would be there with them. It should go something like this, "Yeah, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil" (Psalm 23:4a). If we live in fear, it is by choice. Fear is a tool of the devil.

3. They came to love one another more (verse:32). Who do you need? Who do you love?

Have you ever stopped to ask why? There is always something that draws us to those we love. It could be one heart, one soul, all things in common. They had all received a dose of reality pertaining to what is important in life. People are important. A change of heart helps us all to love others more. It creates a new bond.

4. They developed a new view of stewardship (verse 32). What do you have? What do you own? How did you get it? They all realized that everything they had was a gift from God. What is stewardship? It involves my time, my energy, and my resources. If God has our heart, He will have all of these things.

It is no wonder the early church grew with a great passion. People were in love with Jesus and each other. What could we do with a church like that today? We would grow just like they did. Barnabas was one of the byproducts of others being good stewards of what they had been given. There are many Barnabases in our midst if we would just pray them out. Many times we don't see the Lord work because we don't ask! Let's do our best to raise up every person we can to be the next Barnabas.

Singer-songwriter Layla Adair Price recently released her debut solo album: The Road to You. Price is the director of marketing and community relations for the city of Marion.

it's not full monetarily, all I want to do is share my music, and play music, and entertain people in a soothing way, and rock out every once in a while."

A passionate proponent of the singer-songwriter since the age of 13, Price comes from a family of musicians.

"My dad taught me how to play the basics, and then my mom used to play guitar, but she really more so familiarized me with folk music and classic rock. They influenced me to just get me listening to a lot of that. I feel like an old soul because of them. I will forever cherish that," said Price.

Her next performance will be a part of the Be could and slowly worked on the album in between their full-time jobs. Price's regular job is as director of marketing and community relations for the city of Marion.

"The feeling is completely rejuvenated and euphoric really," said Price, recalling the recording process, "We used vintage equipment and a nice, welcoming atmosphere. When we all walked in there when we were researching studios, we were like, 'This is our home. We're gonna do this.' We knew right away."

"What's cool about it is that it crosses some genres, but I think that, because of the overall mood and the overall feel of the album, it all makes sense," she said.

The album cover is a photograph taken by Price herself, while on the road to see her husband, Andrew Bodkin. Price uses her alto voice to describe her personal attachment to Highway 36, the "connection vein between Indiana and Ohio."

"I included all of my lyrics. Growing up in the '90s, I loved to look at the lyrics on the CDs. I think that people will appreciate seeing the lyrics without having to go online and find them," Price said.

Asked how she feels to have her first album completed, Price said: "I feel complete in a lot of ways, partially because I just got married and I just feel like I'm on top of the world. And I feel so happy, and excited, and fulfilled. And even if nately be returning to the event in future years. "It's great," Bowen said. "I love it. There are a lot of people interested in the cars that are here, and the environment is awesome."

gather, such as parks.

The officials will take another look at setting a hearing date when they meet on Nov. 5. While there is a mid-October meeting, they agreed to withhold a decision to give them time to study the proposal in detail.

"My phone has blown up on this thing," Commissioner Ron Mowery said, likening public response to the furor over a proposal to bring a prison to Grant County more than 20 years ago when he was mayor of Marion.

Commissioners Mike Burton and Mark Bardsley agreed that they have all received an extraordinary number of phone call and emails—both for and against—on the proposed smoking ban.

The county health board voted, four to two, on September 18, to forward to the commissioners the language of an ordinance, but the commissioners are required to vote on it before it becomes the law of the county.

Burton said Monday that the proposal must be published twice as a legal advertisement before it can be given a public hearing and brought to a vote.

He said the commissioners will have three options available: To adopt it, reject it or return it to the health board for what he called "revision."

The commissioners all said they want to study the document before public presentation and Bardsley said he wants to "lay it side-by-side with the existing state law and compare the two."

Burton told about a dozen citizens in attendance Monday that there would be no discussion of the proposal until the legal notification requirements have been met. He said that the full text of the proposal has been posted on the commissioners' web site.

Given the deferral of further discussion until early November, it seems unlikely that the public hearing would be held before late November or early December, based on legal requirements for advertising of a proposed hearing date.

America is splitting ever-deeper along tribal lines of all types

The late Wayne Townsend, he of happy memory, used to talk fondly about the hotels where the lawmakers of Indiana would gather during the General Assembly each year. He was a part of that for 30 years and knew the nooks and crannies of Indianapolis pretty well. There was the Columbia Club, where the Republicans set up light housekeeping, and the Athletic Club, where the Democrats rented rooms. That's gone now, but there are similar places. More importantly, there was an assortment of hotel bars and restaurants, and even a barbershop out on the east side, where the real business got taken care of... the business of deal-making, of getting two or three or six or 10—however many were necessary at the moment—getting the Republicans and the Democrats around the same table to put together something that could get 51 votes in the House and 26 in the Senate. It was, quite simply, the ways things were supposed to work. And it did. For generations. Then, slowly at first, maybe 15 or 20 years ago, the edges began to fray. The other side of the aisle began to become the other side of the world. Breaking point may have been a few years ago when the outnumbered Democrats left the hall, left town, left the state, and went to Illinois, where Indiana State Police could not be dispatched to arrest them and bring them back, all to avoid a vote on an issue they knew they could not win. I don't even recall the issue now; doesn't matter. The point is that such conduct right here in Hoosierland was an early symptom of degeneration across the nation into what they are now calling "tribalism," or "identity politics."

Whatever they call it, it is dangerous in the extreme, and we are seeing it in its rawest form in the conduct of most everyone involved in the confirmation hearings for Judge Brett Kavanaugh. We vs. they. Us vs. them. He vs. she. Blue vs. red. Liberal vs. conservative. Old vs. young. Rich vs. poor. And, of course, white vs. black. It is endless. Bottom line: We seem no longer capable of talking with each other, certainly not with those who hold an opinion different from our own.

By the way, an opinion no longer requires facts, or even truth. Make up your own facts and an opinion is sure to follow. The Washington Post keeps a count: President Trump has made 4,713 patently false or misleading public statements since taking office.

The good news, if there is any these days, is that some people are aware of the encroaching "tribalism," although there is little evidence of ability to fix it, to neutralize it and to return to sane discussion of anything.

Former Gov. Mitch Daniels, addressing his Purdue graduates last spring, said this: "The biggest challenge you face will involve the repair and renewal of trust among ourselves as a people and trust in the free institutions which alone can protect and nurture individual human dignity."

A man named Andrew Sullivan, who Daniels quotes with some frequency, has been watching this and started writing about it in an alarming and serious way a couple of years ago.

Here's what he sees: "We don't really have to wonder what it's like to live in a tribal society anymore, do we? Because we already do. Over the past couple of decades in America, the enduring, complicated divides of ideology, geography, party, class, religion, and race have mutated into something deeper, simpler to map, and therefore much more ominous. I don't just mean the rise of political polarization, or the rise of political violence or even this country's ancient black-white racial conflict, though its potency endures."

Sullivan goes on: "I mean a new and compounding combination of all these differences into two coherent tribes, eerily balanced in political power, fighting not just to advance their own side but to provoke, condemn, and defeat the other."

"I mean two tribes whose mutual incomprehension and loathing can drown out their love of country. I mean two tribes where one contains most racial minorities and the other is disproportionately white; where one tribe lives on the coasts and in the cities and the other is scattered across a rural and exurban expanse; where one tribe holds on to traditional faith and the other is increasingly contemptuous of religion altogether; and, most dangerously, where both are growing in intensity as they move further apart."

But no time for that now. We must back to the Kavanaugh confirmation hearing...

Oak Hill eliminates Marion

It had been nine years since the Oak Hill Golden Eagles defeated the Marion Giants in a varsity soccer game. You have to go back to 2009 to find the last time that the Golden Eagles came away victorious against their longtime county rival.

Until Monday night. In the Sectional 21 opener at Northwestern High School, the Golden Eagles used strong performances by both goalkeeper Sam Boyer and the defense, together with a gorgeous goal from Dalian Leach, to come away with a 1-0 victory over Jorge Berry and the Giants.

"First of all, hats off to Marion. They are a heck of a team," Garverick said. "We talk all the time how we push each other to be better. We wouldn't be where we are at without Marion."

In the first 10 minutes of play, Marion dominated the action, rattling off four quick shots and applying pressure early. But, in what

Oak Hill 1-1 Taylor (OH advances on PKs)

Despite giving up a late first half goal, a save by goalkeeper Andrea Wilk on a penalty kick early in the second half sparked an Oak Hill rally, as the Golden Eagles roared back to tie the Taylor Titans, then advance on penalty kicks. After the Golden Eagles applied near constant pressure throughout the second half, Sarah Tucci finally scored with just under 15 minutes to play in regulation to force overtime. Abby Strange, Lauren Belcher, and Tegan Phillips all scored on their penalty kicks to punch Oak Hill's ticket to the sectional semifinals, which will take place on Thursday evening.

Eastbrook 5-0 Wabash

Sarah Foulk has been a goal scoring machine for the Eastbrook Panthers throughout the 2018 season, and Tuesday evening was no exception, as the sophomore striker scored all five goals in a shutout victory over the Wabash Apaches. The Panthers dominated most of the contest, particularly in the second half, and outshot the Apaches by a margin of 15-5. Gabby Scott was not tested much, but she made a brilliant save on a Wabash penalty kick to give the Apaches off the scoreboard. Eastbrook will face off against Grant County rival Oak Hill in the sectional semifinal on Thursday beginning at 5 pm.

spite an onslaught of shots by Marion throughout the final 40 minutes, Boyer and the defense were stone walls in front of the net.

"I think the biggest thing that we were able to do was have really good positioning," Garverick said. "We were kind of trying to dictate where they going to go with the ball."

The Golden Eagles survived a final big push from the Giants in the final five minutes to secure the victory and punch their ticket to the sectional semifinals.

"We had opportunities in both halves," Berry said. "If we played the ball simple, and we played the ball the way we can, we could have had two or three goals in the first half, and then we wouldn't be feeling the way we are feeling right now. Hats off to Oak Hill – this is how they play when they play against us. This is their game of the year, and they rose to the occasion."

well," Garverick said. "I thought we came out and were battling from the opening whistle."

Marion got off a few more shots as the first half came to close, but Boyer made two more excellent saves to keep the Giants off the scoreboard.

The second half was dominated by defense. De-

by Sean Douglas

Though both teams came into Friday night's contest with identical 1-5 records, you wouldn't have known it watching the Oak Hill Golden Eagles and Madison-Grant Argylls square off against one another. The Argylls kept it close early on, but the Golden Eagles pulled away in the second half, riding strong performances from quarterback Clay McCorkle, running back Jon Holz, and their defense in a 34-12 win over the Argylls.

The Golden Eagles, historically a run-first football game, came out throwing on their opening drive, as McCorkle completed three passes for 34 yards, including a 19-yard touchdown strike to River Smith, to give Oak Hill an early 7-0 lead.

"We came out, and we felt comfortable in what we could do throwing the ball against what we had seen them do defensively," Oak Hill Head Coach Bud Ozmun said.

Oak Hill's defense was equally dominant in the game's early stages, as Landry Ozmun and Kian Hite recorded interceptions on back-to-back Madison-Grant possessions to give the Golden Eagles an opportunity to put the game away early. However, the Argylls' defense was up for the challenge, not allowing the Golden Eagles to score any points off of their takeaways.

After the Argylls used three runs to advance to their own 46-yard line, Clayton Powell broke through the Golden Eagles' defense, scampering 54 yards to the house to put Madison-Grant on the board. The point after attempt was no good, keeping Oak Hill in front, 7-6.

With 3:31 remaining in the period, Oak Hill ran the four-minute drill to perfection, going 69 yards in nine plays to give the Golden Eagles a 14-6 lead heading into halftime. McCorkle continued to make impressive throws, including a 28-yard toss to Landry Ozmun and a 12-yard scoring strike to Jacob Winger.

On their first drive of the second half, Oak Hill made it clear they were looking to establish the run throughout the rest of the contest.

The Golden Eagles opened the third quarter with an eight-play, 85 yard drive--all running plays--capping it off with a 13-yard rumble by Holz to increase Oak Hill's lead to 21-6.

"We came out in the second half, and we really wanted to establish a run game," Bud Ozmun said.

A three-and-out by the Oak Hill defense on Madison-Grant's ensuing drive, followed by a poor punt by the Argylls, gave the Golden Eagles great field position at the M-G 39-yard line. Four plays later, McCorkle threw his third touchdown of the game, this time a 22-yard pass to Mason McKinney, to give Oak Hill a commanding 27-6 lead.

The Golden Eagles' defense gave the ball back to the offense just four plays later, stopping the Argylls on fourth down and giving the ball back to the offense at the M-G 19 yard line. Two plays later, Holz scored the Golden Eagles final touchdown, this time on an eight-yard run, to increase Oak Hill's advantage to 34-6.

Madison-Grant scored their second touchdown of the game in the fourth quarter on a Mike Stewart two-yard plunge, but the Golden Eagles ran the ball well and played sound defense down the stretch to secure their second win of the season.

McCorkle finished the contest 12-of-16 for 201 yards and three touchdowns, while Holz ran for 153 yards and two touchdowns on 23 carries.

Landry Ozmun led all receivers with five catches for 79 yards, while Smith had three catches for 70 yards and a touchdown.

Stewart led the Argylls with 92 yards on 17 carries, while Powell finished with seven carries for 72 yards.

"They ran it down our throats--plain and simple," Madison-Grant Head Coach Brady Turner said. "Second half, we knew they were going to run it. We knew where they were going to run it--we just couldn't stop it."

Eastbrook puts forth another solid effort in win over Alexandria-Monroe

The Eastbrook Panthers notched their third straight victory with a 54-13 shellacking of the Alexandria-Monroe Tigers on Friday night. Much like in their game last week against the Frankton Eagles, Head Coach Jeff Adamson believes that his team is executing almost perfectly in all aspects of the game.

"I feel like we played well in all three phases," Adamson said. "We just keep getting better."

Since their loss to Mississinewa, the Panthers have outscored their last three opponents, 169-33.

"You either get better from a loss or you let it eat you alive the rest of the season," Adamson said. "Our guys just chose to refocus and continue to work through the rest of the season and keep getting better."

Giants cruise to another shutout victory

Since the first week of the season, the Marion Giants have dominated their opponents in all phases of the game, and that trend continued on Friday night, as they pitched their fourth straight shutout with a 35-0 victory over the Muncie Central.

The Giants' defense hasn't given up a touchdown since August 31, when they gave up just one score in a 46-7 win over the Kokomo Wildkats.

"They did a phenomenal job," Marion Head Coach Craig Chambers said. "They've been doing well. Muncie had a very methodical offense, and they did a great job of stopping them when needed. Key guys stepped up and made big plays. I'm extremely proud of them."

JK Thomas scored three touchdowns--one through the air, one on the ground, and one on a kickoff return--while Keshawn Taylor recorded touchdown runs of 38 and 31 yards in the Giants' win.

Despite a slow start, the Giants were able to quickly get into a groove, which helped them take control of the game.

"We knew they were going to blitz on us heavy, and I thought we had a hard time in the first series adjusting [to that]," Chambers said. "But once we went to our adjustment, we did a pretty good job."

Mississinewa continues to roll with victory over Frankton

The Mississinewa Indians are on a tear, winning their sixth straight contest with a 46-8 drubbing of the Frank-ton Eagles. Cade Campbell ran for three touchdowns, Heisman Skeens scored two of his own and threw for another, and Carson Campbell scored on a touchdown reception and an interception return.

Despite some early struggles, the Indians battled throughout the contest, which pleased Head Coach Curt Funk.

"The one thing I was most proud of was the way [we handled] adversity in the game," Funk said. "We had touchdowns called back due to penalties and we had an interception called back due because of a penalty, and I think our kids responded well. They [continued] to play hard, and I am just real proud of them. Sometimes you can let things like that affect you, and our kids just responded and played the next play."

While Skeens and Cade Campbell have been mainstays on the Indians' offense for several years now, Carson Campbell, a freshman, has made his mark, and continues to find a role for himself.

"I've been really happy with Carson's performance this year as a freshman," Funk said. "Coming in, it took us a little time to know his exact role in our program. He was a running back in middle school and we moved him to the slot. We've been real pleased with his development."

What a week in local sports

This week may top any week we have now until the end of June for Grant County sports.

It starts with eight local soccer teams playing all week long in the IHSAA boys and girls soccer sectionals. It says here that four—count ’em, four!—local teams could all be playing in four separate soccer sectional final matches on Saturday. If you like soccer get out and get your soccer fix on this Saturday.

Tennis brings a huge week for the Marion Giants. They host the IHSAA regionals on Tuesday and Wednesday, and if the Giants win and make it to the Sweet 16, they will head up to Ft. Wayne on Saturday with a trip to state on the line.

The cross country sectionals for both boys and girls come to IWU this Saturday morning. Look for Brennan Butche of Ole Miss and Molly Gamble of Oak Hill to win the sectional races, and for a number of Grant County teams to move on to the regionals. Oak hill even has a chance to win both the boys and girls team titles.

Speaking of Saturday, that’s the day the local volleyball teams will spend all day at Eastbrook High playing in the varsity and j.v. Grant Four volleyball championships. This is just a warmup for the girls volleyball sectionals that run all next week.

I haven’t even mentioned high school football, where

Plus, with all that going on, it’s Homecoming at Indiana Wesleyan University and they will host St. Francis of Illinois in the school’s first-ever Homecoming football game at 1 pm on Saturday.

Marion and Eastbrook will try and hold on to their number one rankings in the state, Marion at home to Indy Tech and the Panthers at home to Blackford—the Bruins who are tied with Ole Miss for the Central Indiana Conference lead.

Plus, with all that going on, it’s Homecoming at Indiana Wesleyan University and they will host St. Francis of Illinois in the school’s first-ever Homecoming football game at 1 pm on Saturday.

Whew. If that’s not enough sports for one week, I don’t know what you could add.

Have fun watching some great kids play some great sports in the Grant County area.
