Democratic mayoral candidates in forum

by Ed Breen

Marion's Democratic candidates for mayor tried to find things to squabble over Saturday evening. With a couple of small exceptions, they failed.

The four candidates in the May 7 municipal primary took turns answering prepared questions in a forum sponsored by Indivisible Grant County, a liberal-leaning organization under the umbrella of the Grant County Democratic Party.

Incumbent Mayor Jess Alumbaugh and challengers Lynn Johnson, Henry Smith and Joselyn Whitticker appeared on the stage at the 100 South building in Marion and

Saving babies with 'Bryce's Bill'

The first law enacted by the Indiana General Assembly this session will help save the lives of Hoosier babies. I co-sponsored Senate Enrolled Act 41 to expand the scope of newborn screenings in order to identify more diseases and conditions, so that babies have a better chance of survival.

The law requires Krabbe disease to be added to the list of screenings Hoosier newborns receive shortly after birth. Krabbe is a rare genetic disease that destroys nerve cells in the brain and throughout the nervous system.

Even though there is no cure for Krabbe, there are treatment options available for children diagnosed

'Bryce's Bill' was inspired by an Indianapolis 1-year-old, who was not tested for Krabbe at birth... his diagnosis came too late for him to be eligible for treatment before symptoms start to appear. This is why early detection through newborn screening is so critical. Once symptoms show up, a child's life expectancy is 2 years of age and there is nothing their families can do to stop the condition from progressing, which can leave babies in extreme pain.

This legislation, also known as "Bryce's Bill," was inspired by Bryce Clausen, an Indianapolis 1-year-old, who was not tested for Krabbe at birth. Since he was not screened for the disease at birth, his diagnosis came too late for him to be eligible for treatment. Because of Bryce's story, babies born with Krabbe or other genetic diseases can now receive help before it is too late.

Pompe disease and Hurler syndrome will also be added to the list of newborn screenings. Pompe is another genetic disease that inhibits the body from breaking

MAKING SENSE OF INVESTING

Three things Jesus came to Earth to do

There is no doubt that we are all visual. It means something special to see things. It is one thing to hear about an event, but when we actually see it, it is something completely different. I can't imagine what it would have been like to see Jesus in action in all the different settings that faced Him.

As we read in the New Testament, the Jews were always asking Jesus for a sign. "If you are who you say you are, give us a sign," were their words. He healed the sick, made the blind see, and even raised the dead. I am not sure what additional sign would be needed. Now, don't misunderstand me, I am not criticizing the Jews because I have the same problem. We all want to see what is taking place. It is interesting that Jesus' first miracle was at a wedding in Cana of Galilee. He turned the water into wine. This was a visual work that brought great excitement and attention to who He was.

As I think about the visual ministry of Jesus, what about all of the things He did that they couldn't see? This leads us to the question, what did Jesus come to do? We have already established in a previous article that Jesus came to bring us comfort, assurance, and hope. Now we must look at the things He came to do. We all see things differently, and there is no doubt that you might come up with a completely different list than me, but that is OK. We're not in a competition, I am simply provoking thoughts.

As I read the New Testament, it is obvious to me that Jesus came to do at least three things:

1. He came to do the will of the Father. You might be thinking, what does that mean? This is a very difficult principle for us to understand because of several issues. Have you ever noticed that all of us can be a little stubborn at times? There are several terms that describe our will--hard-headed, pig-headed, unreasonably determined, obstinate, difficult, persistent, and many other words. We all have a will of our own and we usually put it right out there on display. Along these same lines, most of us are pretty opinionated. We want others to know what we think. Jesus came to earth having no will of His own, no opinion, just a voice for His Father. His work was the Father's work. You meet very few people in life that don't have some type of agenda, but Jesus didn't. He was here to carry out His Father's work.

2. He came to seek and to save that which was lost. Luke 19:10 tells us this very thing. Many of that day believed that Jesus was coming to establish His earthly Kingdom and ransom them from Roman oppression, but that was not His mission. He came to die for the sins of the world at Calvary.

3. He came to conquer Satan and his works. This phase of His ministry is one aspect we don't see. There is not much spoken today concerning the spirit world. However, it really exists. There is a literal devil and he doesn't wear a red suit and carry a pitchfork. He wants to destroy good in the world. When Jesus died on the cross, He said it is finished. Death, hell, and the grave had been defeated. The forces of evil had gone down in defeat. Satan is a defeated foe because of the blood of Jesus. Jesus paid the sin-debt for each of us because we had no means to pay it. It is because of Jesus, and only Jesus, that we can have forgiveness of sin and have a home in Heaven. It all happened because of His mercy and grace. Aren't you the 90-minute session, the first of its kind in Marion politics, was streamed live on Facebook, WMTV Channel 27.

Each candidate responded to seven questions in front of an audience of 54 people, mainly Democratic party regulars. There was little interaction between the candidates and no questions were taken from the audience.

Asked what their budget priorities would be, if elected, Whitticker and Smith both said they would call for a complete audit of the city finances. "I know where the money is," Lynn Johnson said, proposing adjustments in the budget to spend more on street maintenance and technology for the municipal government. She and Smith are both currently members of the Marion City Council. Whitticker is a former member of the council.

Johnson also charged that "we are carrying people in our budget who do not exist in the administration." She did not elaborate and the accusation was not challenged in subsequent questions.

Mayor Alumbaugh, competing for a second term as Marion's mayor, said his priority would be more money for police, for both more officers and equipment. A second priority, he said, would be continuing to focus on debt reduction. "My third priority would have a Part A and Part B. Part A would be dedicating money to replace and upgrade equipment. We have equipment that has been there for decades. Part B would be to put more money into blight removal," Alumbaugh said.

The candidates differed little on questions regarding transparency, citizen access to government and development of neighborhood associations. All agreed that municipal government ought to find ways of making local contributions to dealing with climate change.

Councilman Henry Smith, contending that he has had problems getting information on city spending, said "I'm not supposed to have to go look it up. I want to know where every dime is spent."

Whitticker followed with a specific question directed at Alumbaugh: "I want to know what we spent $30,000 on that was sent through the Growth Council. I want to know where that report is." Alumbaugh explained that the money was part of a preparation for application for a grant and the money supported the non-government involvement of Main Street Marion.

Councilman Smith, in a variance from the forum's format, asked Alumbaugh for information on legal fees that have been paid as a part of the "Old YMCA" lawsuit. He charged that "attorney fees are $1.3 or $1.5 million."

"We're not trying to hide money and expenses," Alumbaugh responded. "We just don't want to provide information that will give away our strategy." The lawsuit is scheduled to go to trial in July.

Ft. Wayne's Junk Ditch Brewery is a treasure

What's in a name? I'll admit, the first time I heard about the Junk Ditch Brewery, I was intrigued. Visions of rusty bicycles, old tires and car bumpers filled my head. However, one visit to the Junk Ditch Brewery, located at 1825 West Main Street in Fort Wayne, convinced me that this place is a hidden treasure in the Summit City.

I say hidden because the location is not in downtown or along the restaurant row of Jefferson Avenue or around the mall. Instead, the owners converted the old Korte Paper Company warehouse in a former industrial area into a top-notch culinary establishment, bakery and brewery.

I visited the Junk Ditch with the owners of two very picky culinary palates: Kevin is the father of one of our county's finest chefs, and Jeff is a world-class traveler who has eaten at some of the finest restaurants around the world. After a round of indoor golf, we were hungry and thirsty.

The Junk Ditch owners got their start in the kitchen of Joseph Decuis, one of the region's finest restaurants, in Roanoke, IN. After honing their skills, they opened up a food truck business and developed a following in the Fort Wayne market as a "high end" vendor at local festivals and events. After several years of perfecting their home brew beer recipes and developing their culinary reputation, they bought an old building in an inauspicious part of town and opened a restaurant and brewery.

NOTHING FANCY
Eric Walts

The Junk Ditch is a high end brewery, as are the menu and ambiance. This is not a place for card games and karaoke, as the owners desired to create an atmosphere that embodies the phrase, "business casual." The menu changes daily as seasonal ingredients become available because the chefs desire to incorporate regional foods in their offerings.

We started off with their signature bread plate which included a homemade pretzel roll, a few slices of their homemade sourdough, several cheeses, a nice sweet berry marmalade and pickled carrots and cauliflower. We devoured it quickly. I paired our appetizer with a flight of beers, while Jeff enjoyed a hearty red wine and Kevin ordered the house brown ale.

There are a variety of other appetizers, such as cassoulet, fried brussels sprouts, falafel, Parisian dumplings, and ricotta toast to name just a few. They also have a soup and salad offering that changes with the season.

The main course selections include several types of pizza, specialty burgers, steak, chicken and seafood offerings. I selected the wood-fired salmon served over jasmine rice in a Thai curry sauce. While I found the salmon to be a bit over cooked, the dish was delicious. Jeff and Kevin both chose the ricotta cheese pizza which they both seemed to enjoy as it was not the typical tomato saucy pizza. The jowl bacon and fresh basil added a gourmet touch.

We all enjoyed the Junk Ditch and promised to return. I look forward to tasting more of their home brews and plan to visit when they serve their signature weekend brunch. I gave the Junk Ditch four stars on TripAdvisor.com.

What happens to the hundreds of bills each session?

Every year every legislator in Indiana—and I suppose in every other state, too—trots off to Capitol City, all full of high minded high purposes, armed with a fistful of proposals for new laws which he or she is certain will right a wrong in the world, or at least keep a few voters happy.

Some arrive with a few ideas, and some of them may even be good. Others haul in a little red wagon, the legislative express, and dump the load into the hopper. Thankfully, most are never seen or heard of again.

I recall legislators talking about each other one time. One lawmaker, absent from the group, had a reputation of filing everything but his laundry list. "Why, he files so many bills, I swear," said a colleague, "if he had one that included a cure for cancer the chairman wouldn't give it a hearing."

Something like 1,200 bills were put in the hopper in Indianapolis back in January. About 400 remain, and a lot of those will die in the next couple of weeks. It isn't

There are, of course, the big ticket items: the hate crimes bill, the budget, teacher pay, all those things that, if they become law, affect lots of people. But, by and large, lawmakers don't think that grandly. They find something—or someone comes to them—with some small thing that needs to be fixed. Last year, for instance, Rep. Kevin Mahan (Republican, District 31) met in Gas City with a table full of EMTs and paramedics who told him of a way that hospitals and medical people could save bunches of money with a simple change in medication. He listened, studied, had his folks write the language and it became law. Just like that.

This year, Sen. Sue Glick (Rep., Dist. 13) from LaGrange wrote a bill that would reduce several misdemeanor charges to being infractions, with much less severe penalties: things like selling a lottery ticket to a minor, setting off fireworks in an unauthorized location and leaving trash in a cave. Don't need the death penalty for events like that, so it's being fixed. It has passed both houses and awaits Gov. Eric Holcomb's signature.

More important, but not earth-shaking, is one from Sen. Travis Holdman (Rep., Dist. 19), who represents a large chunk of Grant County. He wrote a bill allowing school districts to impose

Rep. Matt Lehman (Rep., Dist. 79) from Berne has a bill that provides more consumer protection from vehicle towing services. It provides inspection rights for car or truck owners, requires itemized receipts and sets rules for towing companies for hours of operation and returning telephone calls. It also requires "reasonable" fees, which seems to be a reasonable idea.

And this is symptomatic of the times: Rep. Denny Zent (Rep., Dist. 51) from Angola brought a bill aimed at stopping Hoosiers from injuring animals as a ploy to get painkillers from veterinarians. House Bill 1295 limits an opioid prescription for an animal to seven days and allows a veterinarian to track the pet owner's use of painkillers through the state prescription database as well. Passed both chambers and is before the governor—for an abuse that we didn't even know was happening.

Finally, Rep. Ben Smaltz (Rep., Dist. 52) up in Auburn has given us a problem we didn't know we had. His is a bill allowing wine and liquor to be sold from a golf cart at golf courses. Current law allows only beer to be sold this way.

It passed the House 92-4, hasn't fared well in the Senate and leaves unanswered this question: Why do you need anything more than a cold beer on a golf course?

Ed Breen, co-host of "Good Morning Grant County" on WBAT radio, has been reporting on life in Indiana for more than 50 years. In 2016 he was inducted into the Indiana Journalism Hall of Fame.

Marion starts off with a tie(!?); Indians, Eagles look for win

Wes-Del rally dooms Eastbrook

The Wes-Del Warriors spoiled the Panthers' home opener, using a late rally to defeat Eastbrook, 12-9. Eastbrook led 8-3 after the first four innings, but the Warriors outscored the Panthers 9-1 in the final two frames to secure the victory. The contest was called in the sixth inning due to darkness.

Dylan Bragg and Blake Mitchell each finished 2-for-4 in the contest, while Austin Castillo and Dylan Joseph each drove in two runs. Edward Keasling and Mason Hale also recorded RBI.

Panthers' get mercy rule victory

The Eastbrook Panthers' won their first game of the 2019 season with a 15-5 triumph over the Muncie Burris Owls in five innings. The victory marked Ryne Brown's first as the Panthers' head coach.

Eastbrook scored in every inning, which included six runs in the third and four runs in the fourth. Dylan Bragg finished 1-for-3 with four RBI, while Jason Hale recorded two hits and two RBI. Logan Collins, Isaac Rans, and Joshua Plumier also recorded hits in the contest.

Raef Biddle picked up his first win of the season, allowing five runs, three earned, on five hits while striking out two. Bragg pitched the final inning, recording two strikeouts.

Norwell's sixth-run seventh dooms Panthers

The Eastbrook Panthers fell to the Norwell Knights 13-1 on Friday evening. The Knights opened an early lead, scoring twice in the first inning and three times in the third. After scoring single runs in the fourth and sixth frames, Norwell blew the game open in the seventh, scoring six runs.

"It was a competitive ballgame throughout, then we simply ran out of pitching," Eastbrook Head Coach Ryne Brown said.

Eastbrook's lone run came in the third inning on an RBI single from Dylan Bragg. The Panthers only recorded four hits in the contest, struck out nine times, and committed three errors. Dylan Joseph pitched three innings, allowing five hits and three earned runs while striking out two. Austin Hollars also pitched three frames, allowing one hit and three walks.

Argyls fall to Wes-Del

In the first two innings of Madison-Grant's home opener last Tuesday, the Argyls played some great baseball. Nick Evans was able to pitch out of some trouble, while his defense made some stellar plays behind him. But the Wes-Del Warriors found their offense, scoring twice in the third inning, four times in the fifth, and nine times in the seventh to defeat the Argyls, 16-0.

"We just couldn't get that big hit," Madison-Grant Head Coach Scott Haley said. "We couldn't get a sacrifice down, just little things like that that we are going to have to continue to work on."

Richards' walk-off gives M-G doubleheader split

Madison-Grant battled the Delphi Oracles in a two-games series on Saturday. The Argyls' offense struggled in the first contest, in which they were defeated 9-1. Freshman catcher Mason Richards hit a walk-off double in the bottom of the ninth inning of the second game to give the Argyls their first win of the season, 5-4.

In the opener, Delphi scored single runs in the first and second innings, before scoring four times in the fourth to put the game away. Cole Hasty and Dylan Brooks were the only Argyls to record hits in the loss.

In the second contest, the Argyls tied the game 3-3 in the seventh. After a scoreless eighth, Delphi regained the lead in the top of the ninth inning. In the bottom of the ninth, Thompson walked to start the inning and Hasty followed with a hit, putting runners on second and third with nobody out. Then Richards crushed a first-pitch fastball over the Delphi left fielder's head to win the contest.

Evans led the offense with three hits in four at-bats, while Richards finished 2-for-4 with three RBI. Gage Davis also finished 2-for-4 with two RBI. Evans pitched 8.1 innings and allowed just two earned runs while striking out five.

Giants tie with Maconaquah

The Marion Giants battled back from 2-0 and 3-1 deficits against Maconaquah to finish the game in a 3-3 tie. The game was called in the seventh frame due to darkness.

Kyree Simmons gave up two runs in the early stages of the contest, but allowed just one run after the second inning. "I was just happy with the way that Kyree pitched," Marion Head Coach Mark Fagan said. "He started off kind of slow, but after that he settled down."

Maconaquah added another run in the fourth frame to make it 3-1, but the Giants scored single runs in the fifth and sixth frames to tie the game. "I was just happy with the kids, the way they battled back being down 2-0 and getting [themselves] back into the ball game," Fagan said.

Indians shut out

Yorktown pitcher Robby Hook threw a no-hitter and was nearly perfect, recording 14 strikeouts and just one walk to spoil the Mississinewa Indians' season opener, 5-0. "Our kids will grow from it," Mississinewa Head Coach Mike Scott said. "They're good athletes and they are competitors. They are going to take tonight's game and apply it to the next and get better from it."

Indians fall to Wabash

The Wabash Apaches took advantage of several Mississinewa miscues and ended the game early in an 11-1 mercy rule triumph. Tyler Jakob opened the game with a base hit, and scored on a Colin Yoder sacrifice fly to give the Indians a 1-0 lead, but the Apaches took control from that moment on, tying the game at 1-1 after the first frame before scoring 10 runs in the following two frames.

To go along with Jakob's single in the first frame, Kreigh Young was perfect at the plate, finishing 2-for-2, while Cade Campbell went 2-for-3 with a double.

Mississinewa loses third straight

Playing for the third straight day, runs continued to be hard to come by for the Mississinewa Indians, in a 6-1 loss to the Adams Central Jets.

Eagles defeated in opener

In their season opener, the Golden Eagles took a 1-0 lead in the first frame, but the Clinton Prairie Gophers scored five runs in the following three innings to take a 5-1 advantage into the fifth and went on to win 9-4. The game was called in the top of the sixth inning due to darkness.

Landen Southern picked up the win for the Gophers, allowing four earned runs while striking out two. Harrison Walker took the loss, striking out two and allowing two hits in 1.1 innings of work. Pearce, Garrod Creech, and Nate Alston each finished 2-for-3 in the contest, with Pearce and Creech also recording two RBI.

Madison-Grant collects three wins; Oak Hill picks up a pair

Panthers fall to Norwell

In their season opener on Thursday evening, the Eastbrook Panthers struggled both at the plate and on the field, falling to the Norwell Knights, 11-1, in five innings.

Errors led to several Norwell runs, as the Knights scored twice in the second inning and seven more times in the third to grab a 9-0 advantage.

"Bottom line, we just didn't play very well," Coates said.

Sydney Lee finished 1-for-2 with a double and the Panthers' lone RBI, while Alli Hyatt finished 2-for-2 with two singles. Emily Coates scored Eastbrook's only run and also recorded a hit, while Mady McMillan recorded three strikeouts in her season debut.

Yorktown beats Panthers

The Eastbrook Panthers came up short, falling behind early and never being able to recover in an 18-5 loss to the Tigers. The Panthers actually led 3-0 after the first half inning of play, but the Tigers came roaring back, scoring 10 runs in the bottom half of the frame.

Yorktown kept their offense humming, scoring three runs in the second, one run in the third, and four runs in the fourth to secure the mercy-rule triumph.

Chloe Barney finished 2-for-2 with a double and an RBI, while Ariel Duke was 2-for-2 with two singles and two runs scored. Emily Coates was 1-for-2 with a double and a run scored. Alli Hyatt gave up nine runs and seven earned runs in three in-

Argyls beat Eastern in opener

In a back-and-forth, high scoring affair on Wednesday evening, the Argyls came away with the victory against the Eastern Comets, using a seven-run seventh frame to defeat the Comets, 15-10.

The pitching combination of Ellie Alcala and Zoey Barnett struggled in the early stages, as the Comets scored all 10 of their runs in the first four frames, but the Argyls' pitchers held the Comets scoreless in the final three frames.

Offensively, the Argyls looked to be in mid-season form. Freshman Chelsea Bowland put together a dynamic debut in the No. 2 slot, recording three doubles and a sacrifice fly, while Morgan Conliff finished with two knocks. Alcala, the Argyls' clean-up batter, also found her groove offensively, recording some key hits throughout the contest.

Gracey Fox's hit in the top of the seventh inning kicked off Madison-Grant's game-winning rally, as the Argyls overcame a two-run deficit.

Argyls go 1-2 at tourney

In the Pendleton Horsehoe Classic on Saturday, the Madison-Grant Argyls battled and competed with some of the best teams in the state. The Argyls opened their day against defending 4A state champion Decatur Central, losing 12-0. In their second contest, the Argyls fell to Jennings County, 7-1. But, in their third game of the tournament, the Argyls' offense exploded for double-digit runs in an 11-1 victory.

"We had a great day. We got to see some good talent. We grew up a little bit," Madison-Grant Head Coach Danny Justus said.

Alcala throws no-hitter

On Monday night against Wes-Del, Ellie Alcala pitched one of the best games of her career, giving the Argyls their third win of the season. The senior pitched a no-hitter, recording 16 strikeouts and just one walk in a 7-0 victory over the Warriors.

"It was a good feeling," Madison-Grant Head Coach Danny Justus said. "We celebrated a little bit with Ellie.

Senior Ellie Alcala pitched a no-hitter, recording 16 strikeouts and just one walk in a 7-0 victory over the Warriors.

It was really nice."

While Alcala was dealing on the mound, the Argyls' offense gave her all the support she needed, scoring at least one run in innings
