VP Pence speaks at Taylor commencement

Vice President of the United States Mike Pence was the speaker at Taylor University's commencement ceremony, which featured the awarding of diplomas to 494 students, including the 25,000th graduate in the school's history. In addition to their diplomas, the graduates received a Bible and a servant's towel.

"I hope that you will aspire to serve," Pence told the graduates, "Wherever life takes you, take a servant's attitude...Live your life as [Christ] did, not to be served, but to serve."

Pence, the former governor of Indiana and a six-term Congressman prior to his election as Vice President in 2016, gave a 25-minute address and stayed to shake hands with the graduates as they received their diplomas.

State Attorney General's office visits Marion Public Library

Jordan Hoffman and Lindsay Brown from the State Attorney General's office set up a table and tent outside of Marion Public Library from 10-11:30 Monday morning—they were in Muncie and Anderson later in the day—to help area residents find unclaimed property and hand out literature on other services the AG's office provides.

The unclaimed property came from overpaid utility bills, payroll checks that were left at an old job, sometimes an estate, according to Brown.

Lindsay Dubois was one who came by to check and see if she had some money waiting for her.

CITY FLAG

The city of Marion raised its new flag for the first time on Monday at noon. Above, Mayor Jess Alumbaugh looks on as Marion Fire Department Engineer Steve Johnson (at left) and Officer Jared Reel, Marion Police Department, display the flag before raising it at City Hall. The flag represents "the next step in telling the story of the city's brand," said Layla Price-Bodkin at the ceremony.

Pence shared his own faith experience of growing up in Christian home but going to college “without faith.” During a Christian music festival, he said, “I put my faith in the Lord Jesus Christ as my personal Savior, and that has made all the difference.”

A small number of graduates and several faculty left the fieldhouse where the ceremony was held prior to Pence's commencement remarks, apparently as part of a protest against the Vice President and/or the current administration. The remaining crowd of nearly 6,000 gave the Vice President three standing ovations.

"I want to say, not so much as your Vice President or a fellow Hoosier, but as a brother in Christ: If what you've seen and heard and learned in this place has also taken hold in your hearts, I want to encourage you to go from here, and live it out, and share it, and put feet on your faith as you carry and minister over the course of your lives," Pence said. "Because America needs men and women of integrity and faith now more than ever."

However, Pence warned the graduates, to "be prepared to face opposition." Pence explained: "It's become acceptable—even fashionable—to malign traditional Christian beliefs."

Pence shared his own faith experience of growing up in Christian home but going to college "without faith." During a Christian music festival, he said, "I put my faith in the Lord Jesus Christ as my personal Savior, and that has made all the difference."

"It was an honor to host Vice President Pence today," Taylor President Paul Lowell Haines, EdD, JD, said. "We are grateful for him coming to campus, for sharing in this special day, and for his encouragement of our graduates to live lives marked by faith in God and service to others."

Emily Calvani was the 25,000th graduate in Taylor's 173-year history, dating back to when it was founded as Fort Wayne Female College.

The 494 graduates of Taylor University's graduating class consisted of 280 women and 214 men. They came from 29 states and 20 foreign countries: The Bahamas, Barbados, Canada, China, Dominican Republic, Ethiopia, Greece, India, Ireland, Japan, Jordan, Lithuania, Mozambique, Russia, Rwanda, South Korea, Spain, Syria, Thailand, and Venezuela.

Seven graduated with a perfect 4.0 grade point average during their years at Taylor.

Repentance may not be 'PC'

Acts 2:37-42

When Christ went to Calvary and died there for many, it seemed that all hope was gone. Jesus is now dead and they are placing Him in a borrowed tomb. There were many who had left all to follow Him and now what will they do? Where will they go? As in all of our Lord's stories, this is not the end, but rather the beginning.

In three short days He arose from the dead and moved about for the next 40 days. As He ascended back to Heaven, He instructed His followers to wait and pray. On the 50th day, The Day of Pentecost, as Peter got up to preach, the power of God came down and 3,000 were saved. This day ushered in the birth of the New Testament church.

As God gave birth to the church, the message that Peter preached was two-fold and simple. The message was one of repentance. Now, we don't hear a whole lot of teaching today on repentance because it is not politically correct. Since I have no desire to be politically correct, let's talk about repentance. What is it? As we study God's Word, it teaches us that repentance is a change of heart, a change of mind, and a change of life. It involves sorrow and remorse that brings about remission, or cleansing. It is turning from sin to God, a change of course.

Why would this be the message? The answer is obvious, the world was in a state of lawlessness, sheep without a shepherd. He knew that the people must turn to righteousness and leave their sin behind. It is amazing that over the past 2,000 years the message has never changed. God's message is as real today as it was then. He even tells us, "except ye repent, ye shall all likewise perish" (Luke 13:3). We live in a changing world, but there is one thing that we can count on—God's Word will never change.

As Peter preached on repentance, he shared that those who repented should be baptized. Now, I would be the first to tell you there are many things I don't understand about Scripture and this may be one of them. I do understand that baptism is an open public profession. It signifies to others that we have accepted Christ as our Lord and Savior. I do not believe that we should be baptized unless we have accepted Christ.

To follow our Lord's command in believer's baptism demonstrates a desire to fulfill one of the ordinances Jesus gave us. Baptism is an act of obedience. When Jesus began His public ministry, He went to the Jordan River where John the Baptist was baptizing for the remission of sin. It was there that Jesus was baptized by John (John 1:29-34). Baptism paints a beautiful picture of the death, burial, and resurrection of Christ. It displays that we are buried in the likeness of sin, to be raised in newness of life. The bottom line is that baptism is a commitment of obedience to God.

JUST A THOUGHT

If you are a believer in Christ, you should consider following your Lord in the ordinance of baptism. I have never met one individual that was sorry they got baptized. It will be a tremendous testimony to others and it will strengthen your walk with Jesus. Don't put it off, there is no time like the present.

In appreciation of ‘second tier’ writer Wouk

When I was 13 years old, Ike was in the White House, Kerouac was on the road, Playboy was kept behind the counter at the drug store, and more than anything else I wanted to be cool. (Spoiler alert: It never happened.)

I could neither shoot hoops nor dance very well, so I read a lot. I still do and still can't dance. The lady at the library was named Grace and she was very tolerant. She let me check out books that were, well, not age-appropriate. Nothing salacious, but something a little grittier than the kids' department was accustomed to. Some by Nelson Algren from the underbelly of Chicago: "A Walk on the Wild Side" and "The Man with the Golden Arm."

Mostly, though, there was the summer that she let me read "Marjorie Morningstar," a novel which I really didn't understand, but it featured a character that I was certain I was destined to become: His name was Noel Airman. He was pretty much of a jerk and he jilted Marjorie Morningstar, who was a New York Jewish girl trying to make it as an actress.

I am 13 or 14, living in a small Midwestern town, being educated by the nuns at a parochial school and everything I know about cool that summer comes from the mind and pen of Herman Wouk. It was he who created Marjorie and the upstate New York music camp and, above all Noel Airman, who always wore black turtleneck sweaters, a beret at a jaunty angle and snapped his fingers in rhythm with the music. Or so I recall.

The maker of all this and so much more, Mr. Wouk, died over the weekend at age 103. The announcement of his death carried with it the message that, when he died, he was at work on yet another book. He wrote two dozen of them. Best known, of course, was "The Caine Mutiny," the story of the maniacal Capt. Queeg, described as a "seething blend of paranoia and incompetence," who constantly fiddled with two ball bearings cradled in his left hand. You certainly remember Humphrey Bogart as Queeg in the movie.

In the days before Netflix and binge watching, he gave us the great World War II miniseries on TV: "The Winds of War," with the late Robert Mitchum as "Pug" Henry, who was a sort of Forrest Gump on steroids: a man always within inches of global decisions as they were being made in the war years. He followed that with "War and Remembrance": 21 books in all, over nearly two-thirds of a century.

We Americans treat our storytellers harshly. Only a few are held in high reverence: Hemingway, Faulkner, Twain, maybe Mailer and Capote and Vidal, Sinclair Lewis and F. Scott Fitzgerald from another time.

Mostly we decide who we like by buying their books by the millions and then degrading them as second-tier writers. Herman Wouk is there—James Mitchener, John Updike, Joe Heller, Cormac McCarthy, James Baldwin, Alice Walker, and, certainly, Stephen King, perhaps the worthiest of them all. It is a long list.

It is these writers, these men and women who watch and record our foibles and failures, who ultimately tell us who and what we are.

That bring us back to Herman Wouk. If you seek today, nearly a half-century later, the seeds that sprouted as the Nazis and

County baseball: Deacon pitches perfect for Oak Hill

Eastbrook Elwood over Eastbrook

After an excellent outing against Southwood, the Eastbrook Panthers were unable to keep their momentum going last Tuesday night, as Elwood scored early and often in a 20-8 rout. Elwood took full control of the game early, scoring 10 of their 20 runs in the first inning. Six runs came in the third, while the Panthers also scored two runs in each the second and third frames.

"Elwood came out swinging and hit the ball well, but we had opportunities to get ourselves out of the inning but were not able to take advantage of them," Eastbrook Head Coach Ryne Brown said.

Eastbrook scored seven of their eight runs in the bottom of the fourth, but they never really threatened Elwood's advantage.

Dylan Bragg led the Eastbrook offense, finishing 3-for-3 from the plate with double, a run scored, and an RBI. Joshua Pluimer went 2-for-3 with a double, a triple, and two RBI, while Jason Hale also drove in two runs.

As a whole, the Eastbrook pitching staff struggled, combining for 16 walks and just four strikeouts. Blake Mitchell pitched 2.1 innings, allowing three hit and two earned runs, while Austin Hollars gave up a hit and two runs scored in 1.1 innings of action.

Panthers fall to South Adams

On Thursday evening against the South Adams Starfires, the Eastbrook Panthers came away with eight hits. Their defense was sound, giving up just one error in the field. But it was not enough, as the Starfires held off a late rally in the top of the seventh inning to defeat Eastbrook, 8-7.

The Starfires grabbed a 6-1 advantage after the first three innings and never trailed. The Panthers cut South Adams' lead to one run in both the fourth and seventh innings, but they were unable find the equalizer.

"We hit very well and made some good base running decisions. It was some mental errors or misjudged balls that should have been at least semi-routine that we didn't make plays on that ended up hurting us," Eastbrook Head Coach Ryne Brown said.

Eddie Keasling finished 2-for-3 with two RBI and a run scored, while Issac Rans went 2-for-4. Dylan Bragg and Dylan Joseph each drove in a run for the Panthers.

On the mound, Joseph took the loss, giving up four earned runs, four hits, including a home run, and three walks in two innings of work.

Madison-Grant ends with loss to Anderson

Coming off of their tough loss to Eastbrook in the Grant Four, the Madison-Grant Argyls ended their regular season on Monday evening, falling to the Anderson Indians, 12-1, in five innings.

The Indians were in control from the start, scoring four runs in the first inning, five runs in the second, and two runs in the third to take a commanding 11-0 lead.

The Argyls were only able to muster one run, which came in the bottom of the fifth, but it was not enough to keep the game going, as Anderson won via the mercy-rule.

Clayton Powell, Ethan Purkey, Jacob McClintick, and Dylan Brooks each recorded a hit for Madison-Grant, while Nick Evans drove in the Argyls' lone run.

Marion loses to Logansport

Lack of offense with runners in scoring position has hurt the Marion Giants in recent games, and it played a factor once again on a 5-2 loss to Logansport last Tuesday evening.

The Giants recorded just six hits, three of which came off the bat of Jaquan Reeves. As a team, Marion batted .222 against the Berries.

"We had bases loaded two or three different times in the game and just didn't get that key hit like we needed," Marion Head Coach Mark Fagan said.

The Berries grabbed an early 2-0 lead after the first inning, but the Giants were able to knot the contest at 2-2 with a pair of runs in the fourth.

In the fifth, however, the Berries took the advantage back for good, plating two runners, before adding an insurance run in the sixth to put the game away.

Along with Reeves' three hits, Broc Allgood, Travis Metzger, and AJ Mitcher each recorded two hits for the Giants.

Marion falls to Logansport

Playing in the second game of a back-to-back with the Logansport Berries, the Marion Giants played better than they have in recent contests, but after erasing a six-run deficit, a couple of plays went against Marion in the final inning, as the Berries scored six runs to come away with a 12-8 triumph on Wednesday evening.

Logansport jumped on the Giants early, scoring five runs in the first two innings before adding another run in the fifth for a 6-0 lead.

The Giants came roaring back, scoring four runs in the fifth and three in the sixth to take a 7-6 lead.

With two outs in the top of the seventh, Anthony Reynolds made a tremendous effort on a tough fly ball in center field, but it just got away from him, allowing the Berries to regain an advantage they would not relinquish.

"I was proud of the way they battled back," Marion Head Coach Mark Fagan said.

Giants split doubleheader with Lafayette Jefferson

In their final Saturday doubleheader of the 2019 season, the Marion Giants split a two-game series with the Lafayette Jefferson Bronchos, winning the first game, 15-6, before dropping the second contest, 12-8.

In the opener, the Giants scored in all but one inning, taking an 8-0 lead in the third inning and carrying that mo-

County softball: Indians and Golden Eagles have perfect weeks

Eastbrook Eastbrook loses to Elwood

Over the last month, the Eastbrook Panthers have performed well in many areas, particularly pitching and defense, but their offense, especially with runners in scoring position, has been problematic, and once again played a major role in a 7-5 loss to the Elwood Panthers last Tuesday evening.

With the defeat, the Panthers' losing streak reached nine games. "We just left too many girls in scoring position," Eastbrook Head Coach Harold Coates said. "We had some opportunities and had some chances to tack on a run here and there, and we just couldn't get them across."

Angela Spurlock was 2-for-4 with a double and a run scored, while Helaina Walters finished with two hits and two RBI. Ariel Duke walked twice and scored two runs for Eastbrook.

McMillan took the loss, giving up 11 hits and seven runs, five earned, while striking out five.

Panthers defeat Blackford

After a streak of tough losses over the past few weeks, the Eastbrook Panthers finally got back in the win column on Wednesday evening, defeating the Blackford Bruins, 13-3, in five innings.

Eastbrook's offense found their rhythm early, scoring all 13 of their runs in the first two innings--six in the first and seven in the second. Their defense in the field continued to be strong, while the pitching of Madi McMillan kept Blackford at bay.

"I think everyone in the dugout was just happy to get a win," Eastbrook Head Coach Harold Coates said.

With the playoffs just around the corner, Coates hopes that the team can build off this win heading into the sectional.

"We are making plays. We are hitting the ball. I think softball is just one of those sports where a call here or a seeing-eye single there can change the outcome of a game," Coates said.

In the annual Grant Four softball tournament, the Mississinewa Indians emerged victorious, defeating the Eastbrook Panthers, 3-1, in the semifinal before using a walk-off, two-run shot to defeat Madison-Grant, 7-5, in the championship.

In the first semifinal, Madison-Grant had seven hits in a balanced offensive effort to defeat the Oak Hill Golden Eagles, 8-3. The contest was tied, 1-1, after the first inning of play, and the Golden Eagles took a 3-1 lead after the top of the third, but the Argyls scored seven unanswered runs to put the game away.

McKenna Lugar finished 3-for-4 with four RBI, while freshman Chelsea Parker finished with a pair of hits and a pair of runs driven in. Zoey Barnett picked up the win, allowing five hits and three earned runs while striking out six.

For the Golden Eagles, Jenessa Hasty finished 2-for-3 with two home runs, three RBI, and two runs scored, while Abby Shaw finished 1-for-2 with a run scored.

In the second semifinal, the Indians kept the Panthers' offense at bay, allowing just one run in 3-1 triumph.

"I thought we played well," Eastbrook Head Coach Harold Coates said. "I thought we had some opportunities. We just didn't get that key hit here and there."

Ariel Duke finished 2-for-3 in the contest with a triple, while Andrea Spurlock, Alli Hyatt, and Kalli Fairbanks each recorded a hit for Eastbrook. Madi McMillan gave up just five hits and three runs while striking out nine.

In the championship, Mississinewa and Madison-Grant played to a 5-5 tie after six innings. Then, in the bottom of the seventh, Lexi Cruzan delivered the biggest hit of the afternoon, smashing a two-run home run to give the Indians the win and the Grant Four title.

"It was a toss-up game," Madison-Grant Head Coach Danny Justus said. "Every time we tried to get something going, we just couldn't get the two-out hit. We had the table set two or three times, [but] they played well. I was proud of them."

Look for a great many Grant County athletes at the state track and field meet

With the regional round of the IHSAA boys and girls track championships coming up this week, 2019 has already been a season for the ages.

But what now?

Well, first, let's stop to salute an all-time record of local tracksters who have put together the large number of girls and boys to ever make it to the IHSAA regional championships at Indiana Wesleyan University.

The girls on Tuesday and the boys on Thursday will be represented by 54 individuals and 11 relay teams.

That means a total of 98 Grant County track and field athletes from Marion, Madison-Grant, Oak Hill, Mississinewa and Eastbrook will all get a chance between now and midnight on Thursday to call themselves state finalists.

The seed sheets show us that, on paper, 11 Grant County athletes will make it to state this week, and maybe more on callbacks.

Local kids to watch are: Sammy Sommers and Tahj Johnson for Oak Hill, who could both make it to state in three events. Then keep an eye on A.J. Jones, the throwing sensation from Madison-Grant high school, who could be in the boys state meet at I.U. in both the discus and the shot put. Ole Miss calls Brennan Butche their man in the distance runs, and it will be shocking if he's not at state in both the boys 1600- and 3200-meter runs.

Clay Dalton, a standout on Jeff Adamson's Eastbrook state finalist football team should be at state in both the throwing events as he will be the number one seed in the discus and shot put at IWU.

If you want to see a show, watch Oak Hill's Gavin Holz and Caiden Lake in the pole vault. Both have been among the state's best all season. Marion's Zaimar Burnett has been the fastest man on the tracks around Grant County all year. He could go to state in three events.

On the girls' side, Ole Miss will cheer for Carly Fones in both the 200- and 400-meter dashes. She should go to state in both. And Elizabeth Lucas has been unbeatable for the Tribe in the 300 hurdles; look for her to earn a trip to state.

Molly Gamble (Oak Hill) is the best in the area when it comes to distance and should complete the daily double by going to state in track after being All-State in cross country.

Madison-Grant thrower Payton Freel has been tough to handle and won the sectional last week in the shot put, shattering the Argyll school record. Last, but not least, Audrey Altum is a double regional qualifier from Eastbrook and could make it to state in both the high and low hurdles.

Can't wait to watch the parade of champions get up to earn their medals in the IWU regionals on Tuesday and Thursday night.

It could be a week for the ages.

Boys track & field sectional Oak Hill takes first the shot put (54-4) and discus (150-3).

Mississinewa finished in third place with a team score of 69, and were led by Brennan Butche, who dominated both the 1600- and 3200-meter races. Butche won the 1600 with a time of 4:25.42 and the 3200 in 9:41.30. Elijah Standridge placed third in the 100 (11.55), while Heisman Skeens placed third in the 200 (23.37).

Over in Kokomo, Madison-Grant's Sinjin Turner advanced in the 200 with a second-place finish of 22.72, while AJ Jones finished first in the shot put (51-8) and second in the discus (154-2).

Girls track & field sectional Panthers take second over Oak Hill

by Sean Douglas

Last Tuesday, on one of the nicest evenings of the entire spring sports season, all five Grant County girls' track and field teams represented themselves well in the 2019 IHSAA track and field sectionals at both IWU and Eastern High School.

At IWU, the Eastbrook Panthers finished in second place with 93.25 points--their second-best finish in school history. Shauna Singer placed first in the 100-meter dash with a time of 13.29, while Audrey Altum advanced in both the 100-meter and 300-meter hurdles with first and second place finishes, respectively, recording times of 15.64 in the 100 and 47.18 in the 300. Eastbrook freshman Emma Neargardner also advanced in the 100-meter hurdles with a third-place finish of 16.07, as did the Panthers' 4 X 100 and 4 X 400 relay teams.

Rachel Manning placed third in the high jump with a mark of 4-8, Baylee Ditsler finished third in the shot put with a toss of 35-7, and Jenna King placed second in the discus with a throw of 107-3.

The Oak Hill Golden Eagles finished just behind Eastbrook with a score of 90. Mollie Gamble led the way in the running events, placing second in both the 1600 (5:09.48) and the 3200 (11:06.98), while Selah Jackson placed third in the 800 with a time of 2:29.68. The Golden Eagles' 4 X 400 relay team placed first with a time of 4:15.59, while their 4 X 800 relay team finished second with 10:36.55.

In the field events, Taylor King was second in the pole vault with a mark of 8-6 and Adrianna Trexler was the second in the long jump with 15-1¼.

Mississinewa finished in fifth place with a team score of 52, and was led by Carl Fones, who advanced in both the 200 and the 400. Fones placed second in the 200 with a time of 26.31, before winning the 400 with a time of 57.40. Beth Lucas advanced in the 300-meter hurdles with a first-place finish of 46.88, while the Indians' 4 X 100 relay team placed third with a time of 53.57.

Leilanu Jackson will be the lone Marion Giant representative in the regional after placing third in the discus with a throw of 101-5, while Madison-Grant's Payton Freel was the only Argyll to advance out of the Eastern sectional, winning the shot put with a toss of 40-11¾.

mentum throughout the rest of the contest.

Marion had a three-run lead over the Bronchos after the third inning in the second game, but Lafayette Jefferson used a four-run fourth frame to take a lead they would not relinquish.

With the playoffs set to begin, the Giants have seemingly found their offense again, and Marion Head Coach Mark Fagan hopes that the upward trend continues.

"We hit the ball hard," Marion Head Coach Mark Fagan said. "We got some hits out of the bottom three. I told them that this is the time to get hot."

Marion end with loss to Concordia

With postseason play set to get underway, the Marion Giants concluded their 2019 regular season with a loss on Monday evening, falling to Fort Wayne Concordia by a score of 14-6.

The Giants grabbed the early advantage, taking a 4-3 lead after the first four innings. But Concordia quickly took control from there, outscoring Marion 11-3 the rest of the way, which included six runs in the top of the fifth and three in the top of the sixth.

With the loss, Marion concluded the regular season with a 14-12-2 record, giving the Giants their first winning season since 2000. Now Marion, and Head Coach Mark Fagan, are ready to make a little noise in the playoffs.

"If we go in there and do the basic things, throw strikes, and make all the routine plays, we could compete for a sectional championship," Fagan said.

Mississinewa Indians top Argylls

Cade Campbell delivered, recording the clutch hit in the top of the seventh inning to give Mississinewa a 4-3 win over county rival Madison-Grant last Tuesday evening.

Both Mississinewa's Seth Maddox and Madison-Grant's Nick Evans pitched well in the contest, but with the Indians struggling to score runs, the Argylls were able to take advantage, taking a 3-2 lead in the sixth frame, but, in the top of the seventh, the Indians finally found a little offense.

With two outs and two men on, Campbell ripped the ball into left field, scoring two runs to give the Indians a lead they would not relinquish.

Madison-Grant put the winning run on base in the bottom of the frame, but Colin Yoder recorded the save, giving the Indians their fifth conference victory of the season.

Mississinewa wins via walk-off

The Mississinewa Indians just keep winning.

Despite giving up a sizable lead in the top of the seventh inning, the Indians kept their composure, scoring two runs in the bottom of the frame to defeat the Taylor Titans, 13-12.

Mississinewa grabbed a big advantage early, scoring seven runs in the first two inning, and after scoring two more runs in each the fourth and sixth frames, seemed to have the game well in hand.

"I was proud of the way we came out in the game," Mississinewa Head Coach Mike Scott said. But the Titans came roaring back, scoring eight runs in the top of the seventh to turn a seven-run deficit into a one-run lead.

Mississinewa, however, was not fazed. One night after Cade Campbell played hero for the Indians, Landen Swanner did the honors against Taylor, recording the game-winning hit to give Mississinewa their 10th win of the season.

Swanner finished 2-for-5 with three RBI, while Cade Campbell went 3-for-4 with two doubles. Carson Campbell added two hits, while Nate Alston also drove in two runs.

Oak Hill Deaton's perfect game carries Oak Hill over Tri-Central

On Tuesday evening, Oak Hill freshman Keegan Deaton did what no other Golden Eagle had done before him: pitch a perfect game.

In the five-inning, mercy-rule affair, Deaton was flawless on the mound, striking out seven and not allowing a single baserunner in an 18-0 rout of the Tri-Central Trojans.

Oak Hill's offense gave Deaton some help early, scoring three runs in the top of the first inning and five more in the second. Already leading 8-0, the Golden Eagles scored twice in the third, seven times in the fourth, and once in the fifth to the put the game away.

Offensively, Landry Ozmun was a perfect 3-for-3 with a double and an RBI, while Garrod Creech finished with two hits and four RBI. Tristen Hayes hit a single and a double, while Mark Sevier added a double and a run batted in.

Oak Hill over Yorktown

The Oak Hill Golden Eagles notched another big victory on Wednesday night, scoring early and often in a 10-5 triumph over the Yorktown Tigers.

The Golden Eagles led from the start, scoring seven runs in the first inning and never trailing. Meanwhile, Harrison Walker and the Oak Hill defense held the Yorktown offense in check, holding them scoreless in four of the game's seven innings.

Walker picked up his second win of the season, allowing just five hits and two earned runs while recording one strikeout in four innings of work. Danny Nally allowed one run in 1.2 innings, while Nate Alston picked up the save, recording the final four hits without allowing a hit.

Landry Ozmun, Matthew Hershberger, Alston, Kody Dubois, and Garrod Creech each recorded a hit and an RBI, while Walker, Aiden Harcastle, and Mark Sevier also drove in a run in Oak Hill's victory.

Eagles over Southern Wells

In their final regular season contest, the Oak Hill Golden Eagles emerged victorious, defeating the Southern Wells Raiders, 10-8, on Monday.

Grant Four baseball

It's been a season of ups and downs for the Eastbrook Panthers baseball team. Wins have been few and far between, and there have been a lot of growing pains, but on Saturday afternoon, the Panthers played some of their best baseball of the 2019 campaign at just the right time, winning their first Grant Four title since 2014 with a 12-0 shutout victory over Madison-Grant in the semifinal and a 15-10 triumph over Oak Hill in the championship game.

To start the day, the Oak Hill Golden Eagles held off a late-inning rally from the Mississinewa Indians in the first semi-final, after erasing a three-run deficit, and won the game, 6-5.

The Indians opened the scoring plating a run in the bottom of the first inning, before adding two more in the fourth for a 3-0 advantage. In the top of the fifth, the Oak Hill offense came alive, scoring five times.

After cutting the Golden Eagles' advantage to one run, Mississinewa had the chance to win the game in the bottom of the seventh, but the Golden Eagles held on to advance to the championship game.

"Isaiah Shields came in the bottom of the seventh in relief with the bases loaded and no outs," Oak Hill Head Coach Shane Edwards said. "We were holding a one-run lead, [and] he was able to get a strikeout, an infield fly, and a fly-out to left to end the game."

Nate Alston went 2-for-3 with a single, a double, and two RBI, while Evan Pearce finished with a double and a stolen base. Danny Nally earned the win in relief, allowing just one run and four hits in two innings pitched.

For the Indians, freshman Dakota Ancil allowed four hits and five innings in 4.2 frames, striking out two. Carson Campbell went 3-for-4, while Cade Campbell homered and Kreigh Young recorded a double.

In the second semifinal, the Panthers quickly took care of the Argylls, scoring 10 runs in the fourth and fifth innings to win the game via the mercy-rule.

"In game one against Madison-Grant, we were certain we'd see [Nick] Evans, so our goal was to jump out on him early and see how much pressure we could put on him and the entire team offensively," Eastbrook Head Coach Ryne Brown said.

Eastbrook's offense exploded for 16 hits in the lopsided triumph, three of which came from Joshua Pluimer. Dylan Bragg, Austin Castillo, Blake Mitchell, Jason Hale, and Eddie Keasling each recorded two hits, while Keasling also drove in five runs.

"Honestly, I have no idea what happened," Madison-Grant Head Coach Scott Haley said. "Every county school we have played this year was a one-run game, and then we drop an egg like that. Our defense has been a mainstay for the year, and then we go out and make [multiple] errors. Give Eastbrook all the credit. They just hit the ball and put the pressure on us."

Mitchell kept the Madison-Grant offense at bay, allowing just five hits and striking out two in a complete game-effort.

Chad Harbert and Dillon Sneed each had two hits for the Argylls.

In the championship, the Panthers faced a six-run deficit after two innings, but came roaring back, scoring 15 runs in the third, fourth, and fifth innings to secure their first Grant Four championship in five years.

Oak Hill took a 2-0 lead after the first two innings before adding four runs in the third. Eastbrook cut the Golden Eagles' advantage with four runs, highlighted by Raef Biddle's two-run double.

Garrod Creech increased Oak Hill's lead back to four with a two-out, two-run double in the fourth, but the Panthers responded with five runs in the bottom half of the inning, including a two-run home run from Pluimer, to give Eastbrook a 9-8 lead.

Two more runs from the Golden Eagles helped them regain the advantage one final time in the top of the fifth, but back-to-back home runs from Keasling and Austin Hollars gave the Panthers a lead they would not relinquish."

"The second game against Oak Hill was an entirely different beast--it was a slug fest throughout," Brown said. "It was a wonderful tournament atmosphere where every batter on both sides was locked in and there were no easy outs."

Biddle drove in four runs for Eastbrook, while Keasling recorded three RBI. Pluimer, Hollars, and Jason Hale each drove in two runs.

Joseph picked up the win on the mound in relief, allowing just one hit in 2.2 innings pitched.
