Mayor Jess Alumbaugh (third from right in blue jacket) leads the city's National Day of Prayer commemoration in the lower level of city hall.

Marion participates in day of prayer

by Ed Breen

Prayer in Marion City Hall is not all that unusual. Mayor Jess Alumbaugh and his staff have held Monday morning prayer gatherings since he took office.

But last Thursday was a little different, and a lot more extensive.

It was Marion's official observance of the National Day of Prayer and it was held in the first floor rotunda at noon. Clergy and pastors from a variety of Marion churches and religious institutions delivered prayers and brief homilies.

Speakers included Chaplain Tom South, Grant County Sheriff's Department; Chaplain Mark Bardsley, Marion Police Department; Pastor Chuck Vernon, Born Church; Pastor Mark Atkinson, Eastview Wesleyan Church; Pastor Al Green, Calvary Missionary Baptist Church; Deacon Johnnie Clayton, recently retired director of Grant County Prison Ministries; Chaplain Jeff Jahn, Marion Fire Department; and Rick Berbereia, representing the Grant County Rescue Mission.

Walk of Hope raises funds for Cancer Services Organization turns 60 this year

by Sean Douglas

On Friday evening in downtown Marion, Cancer Services of Grant County (CSGC), led by Executive Director Jennifer Lane-Riefler, held its annual Walk of Hope fundraising event, raising money for the organization as well as giving the people of Grant County the opportunity to show their support for those who have, and are, suffering from cancer.

Friday evening's event marked two significant milestones.

First, it was CSGC's 19th walk since Lane-Riefler became executive director, and, secondly, it celebrated the organization's 60th year helping the Marion and the Grant County communities diagnose, fight, and beat cancer.

The organization was established in 1959 as the Grant County Cancer Society, and its main purpose was to provide support for families after their loved ones were diagnosed with the disease. With all the technological advances in the medical field over the past 60 years, CSGC now provides multiple services, including home healthcare equipment like wigs, hats, scarves, wheelchairs, and walkers. Along with

Mayoral primary:

Dems pick Alumbaugh, Homer gets nod of GOP

Incumbent Marion Mayor Jess Alumbaugh turned back a primary challenge from three others more easily than expected and will stand for re-election in November as the nominee of the Democrat Party.

"I was very apprehensive," Alumbaugh said, "I didn't know what to expect. This is my first time running as an incumbent." He said that he felt that the election would be a referendum on the job he had done so far as a mayor, and that he was pleasantly surprised to receive "stronger support than I expected."

Alumbaugh said that he did not do as much campaigning as he had four years ago, because "I was busy doing the job as mayor." He said that he did make some phone calls in the last several weeks before the election.

"I want to thank Ms. Whitticker, Ms. Johnson and Mr. Smith for their efforts and wish them well," Alumbaugh said, referring to his challengers in the primary, Joselyn Whitticker, Lynn Johnson and Henry Smith.

Combined, they received less than 50% of the 1,581 votes cast in the Democratic primary. Alumbaugh received 823 votes (52.06%), Whitticker tallied 424 (26.82%), Smith got 224 (14.17%)

Feeding the multitude: a little goes a long way with God

John 6:1-14

Feeding the multitude in John 6:1-14 is another amazing miracle wrought by Jesus. Here He is surrounded by a great crowd of people that had been following Him. By now they have been with Jesus for a long time and there is a great need to feed the masses. Christ must have been pleased that so many had come, but with blessing comes responsibility. How do they feed them?

In an unusual act, Jesus lifts up His eyes, seeing the multitude. He then directs His focus to Philip and asks, “Where will we buy bread to feed all of these people” (verse 5)? Now, bear in mind, Philip has had the privilege of seeing every miracle performed by Jesus. Why would He ask Philip? Philip was not one of those in the tight inner circle, but Jesus had to look to each of the disciples for wisdom in order that they might be strengthened in their faith.

Jesus takes for granted that they must all eat with Him. The Master was not one to exclude anyone, and He is the same today. We are always His focus. He had already fed their souls with the “Bread of Life,” and now He must feed their bodies with physical food.

He not only takes for granted that He is going to feed them all, but He puts the disciples in the loop to figure out where the food will come from. Where will the money come from to buy the food needed?

We know that Jesus was testing the disciples at this point. In verse six, He is testing the faith of Philip to see where he was in his spiritual journey. Note: Jesus does the same to you and me from time to time just to see where we are. Our Lord is never at a loss, knowing exactly what needs to be done.

In verse seven, Philip suggested that they might give everyone a little. This shows his faith was weak. At this point, Andrew steps up to the forefront and tells Jesus that there is a lad that has brought his own lunch.

It consisted of two pieces of fish and five barley biscuits. Then Andrew said, “But what are they among so many?” This is a rational statement to me as well, but not acceptable to the Master.

He now has them sit down on the grass. There are some five thousand men, (it was the custom to only count the men) therefore, there were probably two to three times that many people total.

After Jesus had looked to Heaven and asked His Father’s blessings on what they had, He began the distribution. We ought always to give thanks for what we have. Jesus broke the fish and the bread, passing it to the disciples, then on to the people. It tells us that all were fed, as well as filled.

Then they gathered up the fragments. We should never waste what God has provided. They gathered up twelve baskets afterwards. What a miracle! The lad had willingly given what he had and God used it, multiplied it, and miraculously fed all the people.

Now, what can we learn from this miracle? You may not think you have a lot to offer in this life. Always remember, what little you have will go a long way if you will put it in the hand of God.

Grant County woman helps those abandoned

by G. Connor Salter

Jeanne Sigworth had no idea what she would experience when her husband left her. She certainly didn’t expect it would become a way to reconnect with a friend and create a unique ministry.

A resident of Upland, Jeanne Sigworth had been married for more than 30 years when her husband abandoned her in November 2015. After her husband left, Sigworth’s friend Sherri Rush, a resident of Marion, reached out to her and asked if she could help. When they met, Sigworth and Rush discovered they were experiencing similar pain. While Sigworth was dealing with the consequences of her husband leaving her, Rush had been dealing with the changes in their lives after her husband had a stroke which left him physically and mentally disabled.

Sigworth and Rush realized they were struggling in similar ways because they were both feeling abandoned. When spouses die or leave or reach a point where they are not mentally present, the remaining people struggle to adapt to the fact that they are now essentially living alone. These people often experience anger, depression and other emotional or mental struggles because of their situations. They also have to deal with many practical issues, such as how to organize and manage their finances now that they have no spouses to help them or how to pay for medical care for a disabled spouse.

Sigworth and Rush considered how they could use their experiences to help each other and other people. “We just started [thinking], ‘I wonder if there is anything we can do to create a ministry for abandoned people?’” Sigworth explains.

They decided to create an organization, Storm Lifeline, which would help people who had lost spouses due to divorce, death or life-altering incidents. At the time, their intention was to provide practical as well as emotional help, from helping people find out when and how to get legal documents to teaching them how to cope with feeling abandoned. Storm Lifeline became an official 501c nonprofit in September 2016.

Sigworth officially left Storm Lifeline in March 2018, at which point Rush became the sole owner and operator of the organization. Storm Lifeline still provides resources for people who have lost spouses due to divorce, death or life-altering incidents, with a strong emphasis on legal and practical help, including links to different states’ resources for people who have disabilities.

Meanwhile, Sigworth uses a mix of original teaching materials she’s developed and other resources to mentor people who are widowed or whose spouses have left them. She does most of her mentoring through one-on-one or small group sessions, as well as through church speaking engagements. Recently, she recently led a series based on the book Uninvited by Lysa TerKeurst at Lakeview Wesleyan Church. Sigworth also became a certified life coach in November 2017, which she says has greatly enhanced her ability to mentor people.

“As a life coach, as God brings people to me, be it a student or a [regular] person, that gives me a lot of tools, plus some credibility,” Sigworth explains. “It’s a form of counseling that you don’t tell them what to do, but you coach them through what they should do.”

As she considers where she wants to take her mentoring opportunities, Sigworth tries to focus on what she calls “the multiplication factor.”

“If I can just, within a year, focus on five or six people that I life coach and that I mentor and get them through this, and then they help five people, it’s the multiplication factor,” she explains.

Sigworth also emphasizes how important it is to help people who’ve been abandoned over an extended period of time. “I want to see holistic, complete healing in people, not just a Band-Aid over their problems,” she says. “This is a process that has to be one-on-one, long-term, until they’re on the other side of the journey.”

Alumbaugh will face Dave Homer in November’s general election. Homer easily out-pollied Steve Henderson to win the GOP nomination for mayor of Marion.

Homer received 635 votes, 55.85% of the 1,137 votes cast in the Republican primary. Henderson had 456 votes (40.11%) and Raymond Glass received 46 (4.05%).

Homer is a former police chief and currently serves as an investigator in the prosecutor’s office.

“It was a tough race. Steve ran a good race. I thought it might be closer,” Homer said in an interview on WBAT radio on Tuesday night.

Homer congratulated Alumbaugh, and said “I was a little bit surprised that he could draw that many votes.” Homer said of the GOP: “We’re going to have to pull the party together and work hard in the fall.”

Homer went on the offensive immediately, saying that he felt that Alumbaugh had done “all right” as mayor, but adding: “All right is not good enough, in my opinion.”

He said that Alumbaugh was taking credit for doing some things (such as paving roads) that “anyone who would have been mayor would have done those things anyway.”

Both Homer and Henderson currently serve on the city council of Marion, as does Lynn Johnson.

The city council, District 1 was the site for one of the few other primary races that were competitive on Tuesday, at least on the Republican side, where three people were running for a single nomination.

Out of 189 votes, Gary Fordyce collected a plurality of 70 (37.04%) while Chad Phillips had 62 (32.08%) and Charles “Hobby” Moon had 57 (30.16%).

that, CSGC offers a post-mastectomy fitting clinic, patient navigation to help guide people throughout their journey, and financial assistance to help cover the cost of medications, medical bills, and transportation. “Cancer services have changed in my 20 years,” Lane-Riefler said. “We continually evolve based on the needs of the community and those people who are diagnosed with cancer. It just depends on what people need. There’s no black and white line that says we do this or we don’t do that. We do whatever we can to help folks during that journey.”

Lane-Riefler has been involved with Cancer Services of Grant County for nearly 20 of its 60 years. A California native, Lane-Riefler moved to Marion in September 1999, and, after seeing an ad for the executive director position, she knew that God was calling her to serve in that capacity. Upon learning more about the community and what its needs were, she wasted no time. She quickly established an outreach program to help educate people on the early warning signs of the disease, along with a free mammogram program for women in the area. Today, Cancer Services of Grant County serves 600 people locally, and provides 200 free mammograms each year.

“The treatment protocols that we have in 2019 are parallel to the treatments that we have had in 20 years past who are farther back,” Lane-Riefler said. “More people are living. More people are surviving cancer. It’s becoming, in some cases, more of a chronic illness where we just need to stay ahead of it. We are here to do whatever folks need us to do to help that journey along, to make sure we can remove their challenges, and make sure they have access to quality care [to] focus on getting better.”

Along with all of the significant work they already do for the people of Grant County, Lane-Riefler and her staff established the Cancer is very scary. It’s harder if you don’t have the health insurance. It’s harder if you don’t have the support system. But it’s scary for everybody. As navigators, we can help that individual understand that journey better.

Walk of Hope in 2000. The event was initially started to help raise money for the free mammogram program, but with a growing population of cancer victims, Lane-Riefler opened the event up to support all of the organization’s programs.

Over the years, the event has grown immensely due to the establishment of teams who walk in honor of a loved one who passed or one who is struggling to beat cancer, and because of this, thousands of men, women, and children from around the area come together each year to take part in the event.

“People love the team aspect,” Lane-Riefler said. “They can have a team in honor of a family member or a loved one that is battling right now, or have battled, or maybe have passed on. That team is named after them, or their business, or something like that. They all rally behind that. They get T-shirts made. It becomes a group effort.”

For some of the attendees, it was their first Walk of Hope event. For others, this has become a yearly occurrence.

“It’s a good event and a good cause,” one male walker said. “My mother died of cancer, and I enjoy supporting it.”

“A friend of mine just died from cancer,” a female walker added. “So I thought, well why not?”

“I’m walking for my niece,” another female walker stated. “She passed away when she was eight from neuroblastoma.”

No matter the circumstances, everyone who walks does so to raise awareness for a disease that continues to affect millions of people around the world, as well as to help support an organization whose main goal is to eradicate it.

Ideal is a table for four occupied by up to seven guys who have pilfered chairs from adjoining tables as though they owned the place.

Anyway, codgers gather. They are generally the males of the species and it is in the DNA to leave the cave at dawn, venture to the fire pit and gather round to discuss, analyze, disparage, and satirize the events of the world and the village since last we met yesterday at this very same time and very same place.

A young lady of my acquaintance here in Marion has duly taken note of this and posted on her Facebook page: “I wish you all could be sitting with me at Arby’s right now listening to these old men argue. It’s been a wide-ranging education on everything from gun control and the NRA to the veteran discount to the evils of dancing.”

Don’t know whether I should applaud her seeming appreciation...or allow for sarcasm.

She has basically come away with a correct agenda, but I doubt the business about the evils of dancing. I have devoted hundreds of hours to this occupation and assure you I have never once heard talk of dancing, much less the evils thereof.

Much of the joy of coffee codgers lies in the brotherhood of it all. Not just anyone is invited and not just anyone can sit down at the table without proper vetting by the others. It is very much a secret society of limited membership.

A friend and I were traveling a couple of years ago and stopped at a mountain top café deep in West Virginia. There was the table for four occupied by six. I turned to my friend. “I’ll make a side bet here that I can get invited to join them in less than 10 minutes.”

“You’re on,” said he.

I approached the sacred table and got their attention by asking if I might make a photograph of the team. They were wary, suspicious, bordering on hostile. “Whaddya want that for?” I was asked.

I did not hesitate for one second: “To put it on the wall over at the Post Office.” A round of laughter was followed by an invitation to pull up a chair. “Where ya from?” was the first question.

One of the ongoing issues at codger tables is health and health care. We are old and health—or lack thereof—is persistent in our lives. I can recall a time when four or five of us were dealing with cardiologists and urologists, all at the same time. The Tuesday morning medical updates were far too long and far too tedious and far too graphic. Enough is enough.

A motion was made and passed unanimously: Henceforth all medical updates will be confined to the first ten minutes of the meeting.

Another source of annoyance to some—and remember, we are old, so annoyance is rampant among the membership--the annoyance of dwelling on family histories. So-and-so married whatchamacallit’s grandson and they’ve got two kids. That sort of thing.

Jerry Albrecht, he of happy memory and member in good standing for many years, dealt with this by picking up the ketchup or mustard bottle on the table and beginning a dramatic label reading of the ingredients. Message received. Subject changed.

Some among us lose track of how many times a story has been told. Ralph Pack, a member of precise memory, has long served as study hall monitor. Begin telling a story for the third or fourth or fifth time and he will raise a hand with the appropriate number of fingers extended. Message received. Subject changed.

Best appraisal of this whole business came one time from a waitress at Dunkin Donuts in Fort Wayne. Table for four, occupied by eight. “They here every day?” I asked.

“Oh yes. They arrive about 7:30, drink one cup of coffee, stay until 10. Then they all pretend they have someplace to go and leave. Most of ’em come back about 2 and stay ’til suppertime.”

The morning coffee klatch: A noble and ageless pursuit.

County baseball: Giants, Indians continue winning ways

Eastbrook
Eastbrook falls to Blackford

On Friday evening, the Eastbrook Panthers' losing streak hit four games, as conference foe Blackford defeated them by a score of 15-7.

Eastbrook took the early lead, scoring two runs in the bottom of the first, but Blackford's offense came to life as the game progressed. After scoring one run in the third inning and two more in the fourth, the Bruins scored four runs in each of the final three frames to secure the eight-run victory.

"Blackford was able to get some hits to fall and were able to lay down some great bunts and move guys around, while still coming up with timely hits," Eastbrook Head Coach Ryne Brown said.

The Bruins finished with 15 hits.

For Eastbrook, Austin Castillo led the offense with three hits, a double, and two RBI, while Blake Mitchell and Dylan Bragg each recorded two hits and combined to score three runs. Jason Hale went 1-for-3 with two runs scored, while Issac Rans added a hit and an RBI.

Mitchell took the loss, allowing three hits and three earned runs while striking out four.

County matchup: Madison-Grant vs. Eastbrook

After being shut out in back-to-back games, the Madison-Grant Argylls' scoring drought reached 16 innings, as they failed to score a run in the first four frames of their game with conference rival Eastbrook. Trailing by four runs, the Argylls' offense finally came to life in the fifth inning, scoring five runs on their way to a 7-6 triumph.

Heading into the fifth frame, Madison-Grant Head Coach Scott Haley gave his kids some tough love, and they responded. "We were flat for the first three or four innings on the offensive end, and coming into the top of the fifth, we had a little meeting saying, 'You know, you guys are better than this.' Then they came out and scored five runs," Haley said.

Madison-Grant added two runs in the top of the sixth inning to increase their lead to 7-4, but Eastbrook did not go away quietly, scoring single runs in the sixth and seventh innings to cut the lead to one run. The Panthers had both the tying and winning runs on base in the bottom of the seventh, but could not capitalize.

"I don't know what got in to them, but we'll take it," Haley said of his team. "We just matched our total wins from the past two years and we're 2-2 in the conference. That's a lot of growth they've shown since the start of the season, so hopefully we can continue it."

Chad Harbert was 3-for-4 with two runs scored and walks, and Dylan Meyer later scored Reynolds on an RBI groundout, giving Marion a 1-0 advantage.

After Allgood pitched a scoreless fourth inning, which included a pick-off at second base, the Giants added another run in the bottom half of the frame on an error. Russell drove a ball deep to left-center field, misplayed by the Southwood outfield, allowing Troy Vice to score from first base.

With the Giants leading 2-0 in the top of the seventh inning, Allgood allowed a lead-off double, prompting a pitching change. "It was great," Allgood said of Russell closing the game out. "...he came in and did what he had to do. I'm thankful for it."

Russell allowed his inherited runner to score on a sacrifice fly and also walked a batter and hit another, loading the bases with two outs and Marion's lead at 2-1.

But Russell kept pitching, and kept his composure, striking out Southwood cleanup hitter Tristan Hayslatt to secure Marion's victory.

Marion's Tyras Brown bats for the Giants.

victory. "It felt good. It felt good being on the mound," he said. "I don't pitch a lot, but when I do get to pitch, that's what I look forward to, moments like that."

Metzger recorded both of Marion's hits in the contest. "Our freshman year, we had four wins. This is our first double-digit win [season] since the 2014-2015 season," Allgood said. "It's just great to come out here. We're playing great baseball and making all the plays that we need to get it done."

Giants rout Muncie Central

The Marion Giants' strong play continued on Wednesday evening, as they improved to 6-2 in the NCC with a 17-0 rout of longtime komo plated four runs to take a 4-2 lead.

Meyer got one run back in the bottom of the second with a bases-loaded walk, but Marion's offense would be held off the scoreboard for the rest of the game, as the Wildkats quickly assumed full control.

In the third frame, Kokomo scored another four runs on three hits, including a two-run home run over the centerfield fence by McClain to give Kokomo a five-run advantage.

Armed with a big lead, Kokomo relief pitcher Tre Hizer did the rest on the mound, allowing just one hit in the final 5.1 innings. After the third, Marion only had one baserunner.

Hizer picked up the win for Kokomo, striking out seven and walking just one batter, while Dixon took the loss for Marion, giving up five hits and eight runs, three earned, while also striking out seven.

Marion racked up just four hits in the contest. Reynolds recorded two, while Broc Allgood and Jaquan Reeves had the other. Meyer had both RBI for the Giants, while Reynolds, Wagner, and Allgood each scored one run.

Mississinewa
Mississinewa run-rules Frankton

Mississinewa recorded its third straight victory with a 10-0, mercy-rule triumph over the Frankton Eagles. Mississinewa put up 10 hits and seven RBI, while Landen Swanner put together a dominant performance on the mound.

The Indians took a 2-0 lead after the second inning and never trailed, scoring single runs in the third and fourth frames, before tacking on six runs in the fifth to secure the double-digit victory.

Nathan Henderson was perfect from the plate, finishing 3-for-3 with four RBI and a run scored. Kreigh Young went 2-for-3 with two runs scored, while Cade Campbell, Carson Campbell, and Holden Brown each recorded an RBI.

"I have to give credit to the bottom of our order, especially," Scott said. "Five through nine did a tremendous job today getting big base hits and coming up clutch. [It] helps extend an inning and carry things over."

Swanner allowed just one hit while striking out five, locked in from his first pitch.

"Landen pitched just one heck of a game tonight," Scott said. "He did an excellent job of commanding his pitches and getting ahead in the count. As he gets more time on the mound, he is settling in nicely. Landen really put it all together tonight."

Mississinewa routs Southern Wells

Playing for the second night in a row, the Mississinewa Indians scored double-digit runs for the second straight contest in a 13-1, mercy-rule rout of the Southern Wells Raiders on Wednesday. With the victory, Mississinewa increased their winning streak to three games.

"We talked to the kids last night about continuing that momentum and staying up and how important it is to come into today's game with the same intensity," Mississinewa Head Coach Mike Scott said. "Proud of the kids for doing exactly that. They came out with some strong intensity from the very beginning. We were able to get two runs across in the first inning and just kept going from there."

Owen Felver earned the win for the Indians, allowing just three hits while striking out seven in a complete five-inning effort.

The Indians recorded 14 hits in the contest, with Nathan Henderson, Seth Maddox, and Kreigh Young each finishing with two hits apiece. Henderson and Maddox combined for six RBI. Drew Castanon and Colin Yoder each had two, and Cade Campbell added a triple.

With 23 runs over their last two contests, the Indians' offense has made some significant strides.

Mississinewa walks off Maconaquah

On Friday night the Mississinewa Indians continued their recent hot streak, winning their fifth straight game in dramatic fashion with a 5-4 walk off triumph over the Maconaquah Braves.

Offensively, Swanner finished 3-for-4 with three RBI, while Drew Castanon, Colin Yoder, Maddox, and Kreigh Young each added a hit in the Indians' victory.

Oak Hill
Alexandria over Oak Hill

Last Tuesday evening, the Oak Hill Golden Eagles were unable to recover from Alexandria's early offensive onslaught, as the Tigers scored seven runs in the first two innings on their way to a 9-3 victory.

After the Golden Eagles scored two runs in the top of the first, the Tigers answered with three runs in the bottom of the inning, and added four more in the second for a 7-2 advantage.

Oak Hill could only muster one more run in the contest, which came in the third.

"[It was a] disappointing loss because we didn't play fundamental baseball," Oak Hill Head Coach Shane Edwards said. "Alexandria is #3 ranked team in 2A, and we still had our chances with our poor defensive play."

Garrod Creech led the Oak Hill offense, finishing 2-for-4 from the plate with two singles, while Harrison Walker took the loss, giving up six hits and seven runs, three of which were earned.

Oak Hill beats Frankton

In a high-scoring affair on Thursday evening, the Oak Hill Golden Eagles emerged victorious, defeating the Frankton Eagles by a score of 11-9. With the triumph, the Golden Eagles have recorded three wins in their last four games.

This is the year of the blown call

Every year there seems to be some type of theme that hangs with us from January through December.

It's now apparent that 2019 seems destined to be known as "the year of the blown calls."

It all started with the New Orleans Saints vs. the L.A. Rams NFC play-off game. If you haven't seen the missed call on an obvious pass interference near the end of that game, you have been on another planet. The blown call cost New Orleans a trip to the Super Bowl, and may go down as the worst missed call in NFL history.

Then came the NCAA Final Four.

Yes, I was rooting for Auburn, where my son went to school, but several bad calls down the stretch gave Virginia a come-from-behind win over the Tigers, the worst being an obvious double-dribble at mid-court that would have sealed the win for Auburn.

So first the NFL play-offs, then the NCAA Final Four.

Now it's on to the Stanley Cup playoffs, where a missed penalty call cost last year's title-holding Washington Capitals a chance to repeat as the champs of the NHL. A late penalty allowed their opponent to skate five full minutes with a man advantage during which time Washington was outscored four goals to none.

Another one for the refs.

And now, of course, the 145th running of the Kentucky Derby, when, for the first time in Derby history a winner was pulled down from the scoreboard for running out of his lane in the final stretch.

When I went to the Derby for the first time, I asked an old-timer: "With 20 horses on the track, has a horse ever been disqualified?"

His answer was: "At the Derby, anything and everything goes."

Except for the 145th Run for the Roses, where the winner was pulled off the board for running out of his lane.

Just think: We still have the NBA finals, the World Series, and, oh yes, the

County softball: Indians go 3-0

Madison-Grant Argylls over Lapel

After their upset victory over the No. 9-ranked Northwestern Tigers, the Madison-Grant Argylls came away with another impressive victory, using a big third inning to cinch an 8-4 triumph over the Lapel Bulldogs on Wednesday evening.

Lapel struck early, scoring two runs in the bottom of the first inning to grab the advantage, but the Argylls responded two innings later, scoring five runs in the top of the third. Back-to-back doubles from Chelsea Bowland and Ellie Alcalá sparked the rally, as the Argylls recorded seven hits in the frame.

Lapel scored two runs in the bottom of the third, cutting M-G's lead to 5-4, but the Bulldogs never found the equalizer. The Argylls added three insurance runs in the top of the seventh inning to secure the victory.

"This was another complete-team win," Madison-Grant Head Coach Danny Justus said. "The confidence level is growing. We had kids hit the ball. Our first and second [batters] got on twice together, and that's just a steamroller. We wanted to back up that last game. We wanted to come back and do something to substantiate that that wasn't a fluke. And we did that. It was a total, complete victory."

Argylls fall to Alexandria

Coming off their triumph over county rival Eastbrook on Friday, the Madison-Grant Argylls struggled on Monday evening, as a five-run inning for the Alexandria Tigers proved to be the difference in an 8-3 win.

The Argylls scored first on a fielder's choice by Zoey Barnett in the first inning, but left the bases loaded. That would come back to haunt them, as the Tigers scored five runs in the first two frames, four of which were unearned.

"We failed to do some little things that we had been really good at [recently,]" Madison-Grant Head Coach Danny Justus said. "As much as I have kind of been beating the drum with team victories, I really think this was a team loss. We made three errors, and we made two or three bad plays offensively just by not doing what we do."

After Alexandria's Mackenzie Swango hit a two-run shot in the fourth, the Argylls scored two more runs in the top of the fifth to cut the lead to 7-3, but they would not get any closer. The Tigers added one more run in the sixth to secure the victory.

Barnett finished with two RBI in the contest for Madison-Grant, while McKenna Lugar added an RBI double.

Marion Giants fall to Muncie Central

Marion's losing streak continued on Wednesday evening, as the Giants fell to 1-3 in the NCC with a 13-2 loss to the Muncie Central Bearcats.

Marion falls to Logansport

In the first round of the NCC tournament on Saturday, the Marion Giants once again struggled to score runs, as the Logansport Berries scored early and often in a 14-3 triumph.

The Berries took control in the first inning, scoring five runs, before increasing their advantage to 12-1 after three frames.

With the loss, Marion fell to 1-4 in the NCC.

Mississinewa Indians earn ninth

Coming off of their four-run loss to Grant County rival Oak Hill, the Mississinewa Indians got right back in the win column last Tuesday evening, recording their ninth victory of the season with a 6-3 triumph over conference foe Frankton.

Mississinewa plated single runs in the first and second innings to take a 2-0 lead, but that two-run advantage quickly evaporated as the Eagles responded with three runs in the bottom of the second.

The Indians regained the lead with two runs in the top of the third inning, and added insurance runs in the fifth and sixth frames to secure the victory.

Jenna Berryhill earned the win, allowing just five hits and three walks while striking out 11.

Kylie Smalley went 3-for-4 with a double, while Madison Stanley finished with two hits, including a home run. Berryhill added two hit for the Indians in the victory.

M-G beats Eastbrook

The Madison-Grant Argylls increased their winning streak to three games on Friday evening, using a big third inning and some timely hits to defeat the Eastbrook Panthers by a score of 8-3.

The Argylls struck first in the second inning on a Chelsea Parker RBI single. An inside-the-park home run by Chelsea Bowland in the third sparked a four-run frame, which gave Madison-Grant a 5-0 lead.

Alli Hyatt hit a two-run single in the bottom of the third to cut the Argylls' advantage to three runs, but Madison-Grant added single tallies in the final three innings to secure the victory.

"I'm watching some kids grow up," Madison-Grant Head Coach Danny Justus said. "They are looking us in the eye, they are listening, and they are trying to do some things that they are not used to doing, and it seems to be paying dividends. We did what we do, and then the floodgates opened.

Ellie Alcalá continued her strong offensive play, finishing 4-for-5 from the plate with a double, a single, and two RBI. Zoey Barnett went 3-for-4, while Bowland, Hannah Ogden, McKenna Lugar, Sarah Duncan, and Gracey Fox each added a hit.

Barnett pitched a complete for M-G as well, giving up four hits and only one earned run while striking out four.

"Madison-Grant is a very, very solid softball team," Eastbrook Head Coach Harold Coates said. "They are so well-coached, and they are always prepared. What Madison-Grant does well is they always take advantage of miscues. Tonight, we had some miscues, and they took advantage of them. That's what good teams will do."

The Panthers have struggled to play many of their games recently due to the inclement weather, which has thrown them off their game slightly. Now, Coates is looking his team to rediscover their rhythm and continue to hone on the basics.

"They just need to believe in what we are doing," Coates said. "We just have to play. We have to move runners, field the ball, catch it, and just do the normal things."

Ariel Duke, Emily Coates, and Kalli Fairbanks each finished with two hits for the Panthers, while Madi McMillan struck out six in a complete-game effort.

Mississinewa over Heritage

The Mississinewa Indians continued to roll on Friday evening, defeating the Heritage Patriots by a score of 11-7.

The Indians tallied four runs in the bottom of the first inning, but the Patriots scored three runs in the top of the third to make it a one-run contest. The Indians kept the pedal to the metal, scoring five runs between the third and fourth innings to build a 9-3 lead.

Heritage scored four runs in the top of the fifth frame to cut Mississinewa's advantage to 9-7, but the Indians added two insurance runs in the bottom of the sixth.

Kandis Downham earned the win for Mississinewa, giving up five hits while striking out two. Jenna Berryhill picked up the save, allowing just one hit in relief while striking out four.

Berryhill and Aubrey Tann combined for six hits, a double, a triple, and an RBI, while Lexi Cruzan and Riley McKee each added two hits for the Indians.

Mississinewa defeats Elwood

On Monday evening, the Mississinewa Indians notched their fourth CIC victory and their 11th overall, defeating the Elwood Panthers, 8-7, in walk-off fashion.

Oak Hill Golden Eagles fall to Alexandria

Last Tuesday evening,

the Oak Hill Golden Eagles fell just short in their conference contest with Alexandria, losing by a score of 8-7.

Bayli Toy pitched 3.2 innings, allowing two earned runs, while Julianne Gosnell allowed six runs, three earned, in the remaining 2.1 frames.

Kaela Robey led the Oak Hill offense, finishing 2-for-4 from the dish with a home run, a run scored, and three RBI, while Ashlyn Transier went 2-for-4 with a run scored. Coleena Selleck added two hits and a run in the Golden Eagles' loss.

Oak Hill sweeps double-header with Wabash

In less than ideal weather conditions on Saturday morning, the Oak Hill Golden Eagles made quick work of the Wabash Apaches in a pair of five-inning routs. The Golden Eagles won the first game, 18-1, and the second contest, 19-1.

In the opener, Oak Hill built a big advantage early, scoring 10 runs in the first inning and carrying that momentum through the rest of the contest.

Coleena Selleck, Jenessa Hasty, Korinne Perkins, and Ashlyn Transier combined for 12 hits, seven runs scored, and nine RBI, while Bayli Toy pitched a no-hitter.

The Golden Eagles rode another high-scoring first inning in the second contest, plating nine runs to put the game out of reach.

Selleck finished 2-for-3 with two stolen bases and two RBI, while Mariah Camden went 2-for-2 with two runs batted in. Audrey Leak and Nikki Alston both added a hit, a run, and an RBI.

Julianne Gosnell earned the win in game two, striking out seven in a complete game effort.

Golden Eagles fall to Lewis Cass

Coming off of their doubleheader sweep of Wabash, the Oak Hill Golden Eagles were unable to keep up their momentum on Monday evening, as they were defeated by the Lewis Cass Kings, 11-3.

Bayli Toy and Julianne Gosnell combined to give up 11 runs in the contest, but only four of those runs were earned. Toy pitched 3.1 innings, while Gosnell pitched the remaining 2.2 frames.

Coleena Selleck and Ashlyn Transier each finished 2-for-3 from the plate, while Kaela Robey went 1-for-3 with an RBI in the loss.

County, Crossroads League rivals IWU and Taylor battle on the diamond

Trojans take opener

Behind a strong pitching effort, a high-scoring first inning, and some timely runs late in the game, the Taylor Trojans started off the Crossroads League Tournament on the right foot, defeating cross county rival IWU, 6-4, on Friday night.

Taylor got off to a quick start, scoring four runs in the opening frame to grab the early advantage. Wyatt Whitman and Christian McGill both recorded multiple RBI in the inning.

However, after the first inning, the Taylor bats cooled off significantly, as the Trojans did not record a single hit over the next four frames.

IWU took advantage of Taylor's cold streak, scoring three runs in the third inning and one more in the fourth to tie the game up. Caleb Eder hit an RBI double and Steven Busby added a two-run single in the third frame, while Ethan English recorded an RBI double of his own in the fourth.

The Trojans regained control of the contest in the seventh inning, scoring two runs in the frame. An error, a single, and a sacrifice bunt put runners on second and third with one out, and Brett Lawson capitalized on the opportunity, hitting an RBI single to give Taylor a lead they would not relinquish. McGill added another RBI on a sacrifice fly later in the inning.

Taylor pitching combined for 16 strikeouts in the victory. Luke Shively got the start, allowing just one earned run while striking out seven in the first 3.1 frames. Mitch Ubelhor struck out the side in the fifth, while Justin Pettit earned the save, allowing just one baserunner in the final three innings.

Taylor over IWU again

For the second time in four days, the Taylor Trojans faced off against the IWU Wildcats.

And for the second time in four days, the Trojans emerged victorious, defeat-

Taylor freshman and former Madison-Grant standout Maddi Evans was brilliant, pitching a complete game and earning her third win of the season in a 2-0 victory over cross county rival IWU in the Crossroads League Tournament on Friday evening. ing the Wildcats by a score of 7-3.

IWU took the early advantage, scoring two runs in the third inning and one in the fourth. Tye Thixton hit a home run and Nick Coy hit an RBI single in the third, while Ethan English recorded a sacrifice fly in the fourth.

The Trojans began their comeback in the sixth inning, using a pair of walks and an error to score their run. One inning later, their offense exploded. Josh Lane and Nick Rusche began the frame with back-to-back hits, and Brett Lawson followed with a two-run single to tie the game at 3-3. Ben Kalbaugh added an RBI later in the frame that gave Taylor a lead they would relinquish.

All of Taylor's runs came with two outs.

Taylor's trio of Justin Pettit, Mitch Ubelhor, and Kole Barkhaus were tremendous in relief, allowing a combined three hits in 5.2 innings of work.

With the loss, IWU was eliminated from the Crossroads League Tournament. On the year, the Wildcats finished with 22-30 record and a 15-12 mark in conference play.

Former Argyll leads Trojans over Wildcats

In a game that featured just eight combined hits, Taylor freshman and former Madison-Grant standout Maddi Evans was brilliant, pitching a complete game and earning her third win of the season in a 2-0 victory over cross county rival IWU in the Crossroads League Tournament on Friday eve-just three earned runs in 25 innings.

Taylor Wilson provided all the support Evans needed in the third inning, hitting a solo shot to give Taylor a 1-0 advantage. Erin Cozad added an insurance run in the seventh inning with an RBI single.

Courtney Moriarty and Hannah Castor each added a hit for Taylor.

For the Wildcats, it was only the third time all season they were held without a run. Rebecca Schrad was the only Wildcat to reach third base in the contest, while the team, as a whole, collected just four hits.

There's a lot to like each week in THE NEWS HERALD

Each week TNH delivers interesting commentary, challenging puzzles, sports reporting, arresting photos and more. Ed Breen delivers his views from almost 50 years of reporting on Central Indiana. Jim Brunner writes about the county's sports landscape—and no one knows more about it. We have regular reports from State Representative Kevin Mahan (R-31) on the General Assembly and a column on spiritual life from Rev. Tom Mansbarger.

You can have all that delivered to your home for pennies—less than 20 pennies a week if you take advantage of our long-term rates.
