Genesis Place now part of Hope House

by Ed Breen

A fixture on the Marion social service landscape for 40 years is going to change hands, change its name and change its mission to meet new needs.

Genesis Place, at 14th and S. Washington Streets, which has long served as a halfway house and recovery center primarily serving veterans associated with the Marion Veterans Administration Medical Center, is going to be transferred to the Hope House Ministry and will be developed as a sober living facility for women in Marion.

The change was announced Thursday in a ceremony outside the two-house campus and will take effect in March, 2020.

"This is a bittersweet occasion for us," said Joan Stanley, president of the board of directors of Genesis Place. "The changing needs in the community must be addressed and Hope House Ministry seems a perfect fit for what we have here."

"We just weren't seeing the need

The leadership of two organizations—Genesis Place and Hope House—announced that they would be combining efforts at a ceremony last week at 14th and S. Washington Streets.

for what we were prepared to provide," she said, "and we decided that is what we have got to do."

Both Genesis Place and Hope House Ministry are not-for-profit organizations. Genesis Place was founded by Jane and Carl Logan about 1980 as a temporary living facility designed to house outpatients being served by the VA medical facility. There has been a significant decline in use of the house as practices at the VA center have changed in recent years. Genesis Place, which had grown to two fully maintained houses, can accommodate about 30 residents and currently houses far fewer.

Stanley said accommodations for the remaining residents will be found during the next four months. "No one will be left out," she said.

Hope House Ministry, formed more than two years ago in Blackford County to operate a "sober living house" for men recovering from drug and alcohol addiction, has begun to create a Grant County presence under the leadership of Shane Beal and Brian Blevins.

Hope House gained attention last month when it sought unsuccessfully to have a house in the Northwood neighborhood of Marion rezoned to accommodate a home to house six to 10 men. The plan was denied by the Board of Zoning Appeals.

While the Hope House organization is still seeking a location for a facility for men, spokesman Beal said Thursday that the newly acquired location will be dedicated to women in recovery. "This will be a continuation of the vision shared by the Logans 40 years ago," said Tia Brewer, a member of the Hope House management team. "It is a blessing for all of us to bring together the power of prayer and the power of community to change the face of addiction in Marion."

"Recovery is not only possible, it is expected," Beal said. He said the facility initially will house about 10 women in drug and alcohol recovery, with the possibility of expanding to 30 over several years. He said residency in the new Hope House will range from six to 18 months.

While he and others said they do not have specific numbers on the need for transition care for women in recovery in Marion and Grant County, "the need is vast."

"There is not a day that goes by that we do not get calls from women needing help," Brewer said.

The city of Marion started picking up bagged leaves last week, along with Marion Utilities' trash pickup schedule. Residents are reminded to bag the leaves; loose leaves will not be picked up. Leaves must be put inside paper (not plastic) yard waste bags, and placed at the curb beside the trash totes the day before trash pickup. Bagged leaves will be picked up on the same day as trash, but by a different truck and not necessarily at the same time of day.

For the fourth year in a row, the city is offering free leaf bags to Marion residents in need. The continued partnership was made possible through Big R of Marion. Residents can pick up leaf bags from the mayor's office on the second floor of city hall Monday through Friday between 8 am and 4 pm while supplies last. For more information, call 765-662-9931.

The qualities of faith: walk it, don't just talk it

Hebrews 11
There are some things in life that you shouldn't leave home without. Most people take a moment to take inventory of what is needed before they go out the door. We must be sure the house is secured, lights off, etc.... We also must be sure we have everything needed for our journey of the day. Sometimes we neglect to make sure of the things most needed. One thing we need for each and every occasion is FAITH. Faith is an interesting study. I have found this one thing to be true, we can all participate in religious conversation, but what does that really mean? We can all talk the talk, but do we really understand what the words mean? In the Old Testament the word for faith was trust. It means faithfulness or steadfastness. In the New Testament faith is synonymous with trust, and belief. Faith must become a very important part of our lives. The Scripture tells us that we must learn to walk by faith, "For we walk by faith, not by sight" (II Corinthians 5:7). There is a vast difference in what makes sense to us, and what the will of God is. The Scripture tells us that we look through a dim glass, but one day He will make it crystal clear. We cannot depend upon what we see and think; God is in control. It is a living testimony to others when you exemplify the faith you have in God. Others are watching us, and so is our Heavenly Father. The second aspect of faith is in the form of substance. "Now faith is the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen" (Hebrews 11:1). The word substance can be closely associated to confidence. Hebrews 11 is an amazing chapter of Scripture. Verse one talks about the substance of faith and tells us that it is the evidence we must display. Then the writer, one by one, gives an account of Old Testament saints whose lives testify to the faith they displayed in trusting God. This really challenges my heart. The Jews struggled with these teachings, "For God so loved the world, that He gave His only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in Him should never perish, but have everlasting life" (John 3:16). Even though they rejected this claim, human redemption is founded upon faith in Jesus Christ. The third aspect is that we must learn to live by faith, "For it is the righteousness of God revealed from faith to faith; as it is written, the just shall live by faith" (Romans 1:17). There are many other passages in Scripture that strongly support Romans 1:17. One of my favorites is found in Psalm 37. It speaks volumes by the first two words, "Fret not." If we changed these two words into modern-day language, it tells us to quit worrying. Worry is a sin against God because it is the result of a lack of faith. Now, I have to say that I very rarely worry about things, but once in a while it will slip right in on me, and I am ashamed I didn't trust God, because it inevitably works out the way God wants. I want to be more pleasing to my Lord and I want my faith to be strong. Romans 10:14-17 is always a help to me. However, the Bible will only work for us when we apply it to our lives. The next time you are confronted with an issue, stop what you are doing and gather your thoughts, regroup and have faith in Him. Always remember, we are not in control, never have been, and never will be. Our Heavenly Father knows all about us and He always wants what's best for each of us.

JUST A THOUGHT
Rev. Tom Mansbarger

Make sure to stop by and see the Griswold’s house after Thanksgiving

As Halloween is celebrated this week, the boxes are starting to come down from the attic at our house.

Halloween is not a holiday we decorate much for. I hung a couple flags--one with Scooby-Doo and one with ghosts--on the front porch this year, along with a couple of handmade pumpkin and ghost statues. When the girls were young, we always carved pumpkins and lit them on Halloween. Now that the girls are off to college, Halloween has lost its allure for us.

In fact, a couple weeks ago my husband Larry excitedly proclaimed that in less than two weeks Halloween would be over and his work for Christmas would begin. This means box after box of Christmas lights are brought down and stacked in the pool room. Then, strand by strand, each bulb is meticulously checked to ensure they will light once stapled to the side of our two-and-a-half story home or on our roof.

As Larry checks each strand and replaces burned-out bulbs, he places the strands back in the box and places each box back in the pool room until he is ready to hang them up. He brings down and tests each snowman, tree, sleigh and horse, along with candy cane arches and the sound machine as well.

Then the real work begins, as Larry starts the tedious process of stapling the strands of lights onto the house, row by row all the way up each story, around each porch pillar and around the entire house. This year, with the house behind us torn down, Larry razzed the neighbors that now he has additional lights he must put on the house.

After the house is sufficiently covered, he tests the various figurines and secures them to the porch or along the front lawn and second-floor roof. Larry estimates this annual Christmas tradition takes him about 40 hours to complete, with the lighting taking place the day after Thanksgiving.

Over the years, Larry has learned how to maximize the electric used for the lights and how much each part of the house can handle. I remember that, during the first several years, there were certain things that we could not do when the Christmas lights were on, such as laundry. As I walked by the breaker box off the kitchen, I could hear electricity buzzing and whirling. It made me wonder how much our electric bill would increase--about double during the holiday season, as it turned out.

Then, as the girls got older and would shower after practice, there were many nights you could hear

A SLICE OF LIFE

Linda Wilk

Marissa exclaim that she had found herself in the dark while showering. Larry’s knowledge of how to add circuits, combined with the introduction of LED lights, resulted in out ability to once again do laundry at night or to shower with the lights on.

This Christmas tradition has brought so much joy to so many over the years. It isn’t uncommon for us to see lights flashing as people take pictures of our house or stop across the street or in the street and listen to the Christmas music synchronized to the lights.

Possibly the greatest surprise we have encountered was the time a couple women stopped by, knocked on the door and giggled how much they loved the lights as they handed Larry a $100 bill to help pay the electric bill.

So, as you take your family or friends through the Walkway of Lights this Christmas season, take a drive-up West Fifth Street to see what has been termed locally as the Griswold Home and enjoy our little gift to Marion and Grant County.

‘Chase your dream as long as they’ll let you’

Put football aside for just a minute and consider the situation.

This man, this average sized guy--he’s six feet tall and weighs just 200 pounds--this average guy whose graying hair is beginning to creep out from under his Colts cap, is standing there on the 40-yard line of the football field in Lucas Oil Stadium. He is 50 yards away from the goal post. Seventy thousand fans are watching. Eleven players on the other team are watching. Ten players on his team are watching.

Everything hangs in the balance. He has failed to do his job twice on this Sunday afternoon. Once on something so routine as an extra point conversion after a touchdown. He has done this more than 830 times in his career: Walk out on the football field. Line up his position. Wait for the snap of the ball. Watch the placement by his holder. Step forward and with his right leg kick the ball between the uprights of the goal posts.

More often than not, hardly worth more than a mention: “The kick is up and it’s good.” He has kicked the extra point and trots back to the bench. That’s seven points on the scoreboard instead of just six.

But on this day, this Sunday afternoon against the Denver Broncos, Adam Vinatieri missed an extra point and his team, the Indianapolis Colts, thus is one point behind, 13 to 12, a number that stays on the scoreboard for a very long time and begins to loom very large as the final minutes tick away. It would be a one-point loss and the fault would be his alone. And besides, had he done his job earlier and not missed a field goal, the Colts would have an additional three points.

But it was that missed extra point. He sat there man who ever played the game. He has been winning and losing professional football games since Bill Clinton was in the White House.

This year has been different for him: difficult, painful. We, those of us who watch the youthful skills and strengths of professional football players, can identify with him, with his pain. After all, he’s out there playing against kids younger than his own children.

This year he has missed extra points. He has had field goals, sometimes no more than chip shots, go awry and astray. Off to the right. Off to the left.

Golfers and kickers get the yips inside their heads. Everything seems right, but it isn’t. The mechanics are fine, but they aren’t. The vicissitudes of age are unavoidable, but we don’t want them to be.

This man from Rapid City, South Dakota, this man with millions of dollars in the bank, with scores of records in the books, has been wrestling the demons of age and the yips in his head. He has won dozens of games by scoring the walk off kick.

Still...

Back on the field, the ball is snapped. The ball is set. The kick is made. Seventy thousand sets of eyes follow its arc. Dead-center perfect. A smile and a single fist pump from Adam Vinatieri and he trots back to the bench.

A few months ago he was asked by a reporter what his goal is. Said he: “Chase your dream as long as they’ll let you.”

Grant County football sectionals Argylls, Giants, Indians and Panthers all win openers

by Sean Douglas

The Marion Giants got back to their winning ways on Friday night, riding a strong defensive effort and another tremendous showing from the offense to a 48-19 triumph over the Fort Wayne Wayne Generals in the Sectional 20 quarterfinal.

“We had a good week of practice. They were a little more intense [and] a little more focused,” Chambers said. “They sacrificed their bodies a little bit more. The defensive line had to step it up from last week. We got pushed around a little bit, but they came out with a chip on their shoulder and played pretty well.”

Over the last few weeks, the Giants have had some struggles snapping the football, and that proved costly in the early going. Marion’s first drive showed promise, but after a bad snap on the fifth play got away from Marion quarterback Keshawn Taylor, Cameron Webb scooped up the loose football and scampered 37 yards, untouched, to the end zone, giving the Generals a 7-0 lead.

However, the Giants kept their composure, tying the contest on their second possession. After a long kickoff return to their own 42-yard line, Marion drove 58 yards on seven plays, capping it off with a 34-yard touchdown pass from Taylor to Braxstin Delgado.

While Marion’s offense hit a rut in the first 5:14 of the second quarter, their defense made several big plays to keep the game tied.

D’Angelo Jones recorded an interception on the Generals’ first drive of the period, which was followed by a quick three-and-out on their second series.

JK Thomas returned the ensuing punt 25 yards, giving Marion great field position at the Generals’ 25 yard line. Four plays later, the Giants took the lead for good on a three-yard touchdown run from Khalid Stamps.

Marion’s offense scored two more touchdowns before halftime. Zaimar Burnett, who continues to look healthier and more comfortable with each passing week, scored a four-yard touchdown, before Taylor launched a 40-yard bomb to Thomas with just 1.6 seconds to play, giving the Giants a 27-7 advantage.

Thomas added to Marion’s lead, scoring a 72-yard pick six on Wayne’s opening drive of the second half. Shawn Collins scored the Generals’ first offensive touchdown on Fort Wayne Wayne’s next series, but the Giants responded with another score, as Burnett collected his second rushing touchdown, this time from 13 yards out.

Taylor capped off Marion’s scoring with his third touchdown pass of the night, hitting Josh Balfour on a 27-yard go route, securing the Giants’ berth in the sectional semifinal.

The Generals added a touchdown late, after the game was well in hand.

Taylor finished 3-for-4 with 100 yards and three touchdowns, while the trio of Stamps, Taylor, and Burnett combined for 287 rushing yards. Stamps led the way with 196 yards on 22 carries.

“The offensive line does an amazing job,” Chambers said. “They opened up the holes for them, and he just did what he does.”

Taylor finished with 53 yards on 10 carries, while Burnett recorded 38 yards and two touchdowns on nine carries.

Collins led the Generals’ offense with 123 yards and a touchdown on 18 carries. Marion will take on the New Haven Bulldogs this Friday in the Sectional 20 semifinal. Kickoff will be at 7 pm.

Eastbrook cruises past Blackford

Behind a strong defense

sive effort and another efficient offensive output, the Eastbrook Panthers emerged victorious in their Sectional 36 quarterfinal contest, defeating the Blackford Bruins by a score of 42-13.

The game was close in the opening quarter, as the Panthers held a slim 7-6 advantage. After that the defense was up to the task, keeping the Bruins off the scoreboard until the fourth quarter.

Meanwhile, Eastbrook’s offense took advantage. Dylan Bragg completed five passes, three of which went for touchdowns, while the Panthers’ running backs racked up 292 yards on 48 carries.

“Our defense kept us in the game at the beginning, and then we hit a couple of passes that helped shake things a little bit,” Eastbrook Head Coach Jeff Adamson said. “We just weren’t able to get a lot of things going inside in the run game, but the passing game gave us a little bit of a spark there early on.”

Gamble runs her way into the state finals

In the team competition of cross country, the Oak Hill Golden Eagles’ 2019 season came to an end on a rainy, cold morning last Saturday in New Haven. Despite that, both Oak Hill’s boys and girls put together outstanding performances, competing at the highest level against some of the best runners in the state of Indiana.

Oak Hill senior Mollie Gamble had a shot at history, and, after an eighth-place finish in the girls’ race (18:35.1), she punched her ticket to Terre Haute, becoming only the third runner in Grant County history to advance to the state final race in each of her four years of high school.

Furthermore, Gamble recorded the best-ever finish for a Lady Golden Eagle on the New Haven course.

“We haven’t been able to walk away from the semi-state the last four or five years feeling good about what we put out there. I did not feel like that at all today. I feel like both groups represented themselves really well.”

Junior Selah Jackson finished in 65th with a time of 20:08.7, while Grace Geller recorded a personal best with a time of 20:09.8.

Overall, the Golden Eagles finished in 10th place out of 20 teams with a score of 279—their fourth Top-10 finish at the semi-state in the last five seasons.

“Last week, we did not have a good taste in our mouth. We did not look good. But we definitely passed the of what we were able to accomplish this season.”

On the boys side, Oak Hill finished in 12th place with a score of 283. Though they did not advance as a team, the Golden Eagles came away with their best finish at the semi-state in 12 years behind strong performances from Dillon Mitchell, Sol’O Blenis, Mac Cheek, and Jacob Winger.

“Dillon bounced back after a poor regional and led us,” Brunner said. “Sol, Mac, and Jacob were all right there. We haven’t been able to walk away from the semi-state the last four or five years feeling good about what we put out there. I did not feel like that at all today. I feel like both groups represented themselves really well.”

IWU men’s basketball runs record to 3-1

by Sean Douglas

For the IWU Wildcats, their success last year hinged on two key factors: the play of Kyle Mangas and their stout defense.

In the early stages of the 2019-2020 campaign, both Mangas and the Wildcats’ defense have been strong, and it was no different on Saturday afternoon at the Luckey Arena.

Coming off their 18-point triumph over Cornerstone the evening before, the Wildcats ended the annual Crossroads League/WHAC Challenge with their third win of the season, defeating Aquinas by a score of 93-66.

“Everybody that stepped on the floor played for each other,” IWU Head Coach Greg Tonagel said. “It was a fun team win.”

The game was even through the first five minutes, as the Saints took a 10-7 lead, but the Wildcats’ offense steadily found its rhythm over the next eight minutes, outscoring the Saints 20-5 to grab a 27-15 advantage with 7:41 to go in the opening period.

IWU’s defense kept Aquinas’ offense in check, but the Saints were able to keep the game close due to some IWU foul trouble. In the first 20 minutes, IWU committed 22 fouls, and the Saints made eight of their 11 free throw attempts.

“Credit to Aquinas,” Tonagel said. “They were the aggressors, and we reacted. When you react, you’re on your heels and you foul.”

Trailing 33-23 late in the first half, Aquinas used a 7-2 run to cut IWU’s lead to five, but field goals from Mangas and Tim Adetukasi gave the Wildcats a 39-30 advantage at halftime.

To start the second half, the Wildcats came out with a renewed energy and focus, and a 14-2 run in the first 4:20 helped IWU take control of the contest. By the 12:18 mark, the Wildcats had outscored the Saints 24-8, and with 10:13 remaining in the contest, IWU had scored 31 points to Aquinas’ 16.

“The second half was completely different,” Tonagel said. “We stopped fouling, we started attacking, and we switched the momentum.”

IWU was never threatened, leading by double digits the rest of the way en route to a 27-point triumph.

Mangas, who has gotten off to a blistering start in his junior season, was excellent once again against Aquinas, leading all scorers with 20 points while also recording four re-

“Jess has restored integrity to our city government. No matter how difficult it is, Jess does his best to do what is right for all the people of Marion.”

-Rita and Art Faulkner

Jess Alumbaugh ★ Mayor

“Jess is committed to making redevelopment efforts, such as the Marion National Bank building, successful not just for my business but for the whole city.”

-Michael Halstead, President of Halstead Architects

★ HOW WE CAN CONTINUE WORKING TOGETHER TO KEEP IMPROVING OUR CITY ★

Spending our tax money responsibly

- *Overspending by previous administrations makes it necessary to maintain strict controls on our budget and to prioritize the basics - public safety and streets.
- *Marion reduced its borrowing for operating expenses by almost 40% and doubled its cash balance in 2018.

Making Marion a more attractive city

- *Blight will continue to be reduced by demolishing unsafe buildings and enforcing city codes.
- *594 building permits were issued in 2018 improving both residential and commercial structures.
- *We have formed the Mayor’s Arts Commission to promote our performing and visual arts.

Working with businesses to grow and create more and better jobs

- *Private business investments downtown, on the bypass, and in other areas of our city are creating jobs and increasing interest by other businesses.
- *My administration will keep working with businesses to help them grow as long as any proposal is good for all people of Marion, not just a small group.

Making more improvements in infrastructure

- *Even with the city’s difficult financial situation, we will have paved over 23 miles of streets.
- *The most heavily traveled streets have been our priority, but we will begin work on neighborhood streets as funding becomes available.

Helping more people be involved in helping others

- *Building community involvement through neighborhood associations will continue.
- *We will also continue to work with community organizations, churches, families, and individuals to get more done.
- *My administration’s appointments to city boards reflects the diversity of our community.

Working with our schools and colleges

- *Although city government is not in charge of education, we all depend on the quality of education for our success now and in the future.
- *Any way that we can cooperate to help our schools and colleges benefits everyone.

Football,

yards, while Wyatt Stephenson led all rushers with 108 yards and a touchdown on 20 carries. Bragg also recorded 76 rushing yards, while Isaiah Dalton added 65 yards on 11 carries.

On defense, Braxton Bowser and Jonathan Delaporte each finished with six tackles and a sack, while Isaiah Dalton recorded an interception. "The score was great, but I think the defense was the most solid part of our game through the night," Adamson said.

Eastbrook will host Tip-ton in the Sectional 36 semifinal Friday night.

Argylls rout Taylor

For the first time in eight years, the Madison-Grant Argylls won a sectional playoff game, dominating from start to finish in a 67-26 shellacking of the Taylor Titans on Friday night.

Madison-Grant came out firing, scoring three touchdowns in the opening quarter. Seth Lugar scored twice, while Clayton Powell also scored for the Argylls. Madison-Grant's offense continued to pour it on in the second quarter, scoring 26 more points to build a comfortable 47-12 halftime lead.

"Our offensive line took over and they just dominated," Madison-Grant Head Coach Brady Turner said. "Our running backs ran hard. We had our first 100-yard passing game tonight. It all came together really well."

Though the Titans did score a few touchdowns in the second half, the Argylls' defense shut down Taylor's offense throughout the evening.

"We tackled really well," Turner said. "They had a couple of running backs that are pretty good. They are very athletic. But we gang-tackled."

The Argylls got off to a rough start in the 2019 season, losing their first seven games, but three straight wins has them brimming with self-assurance at the right time of the year.

"These kids have been through a lot, especially these seniors," Turner said. "They've been here through all the dark years and have been on the other side of that score. It's been fun to watch them grow and fun to watch them gain confidence."

Madison-Grant will host Union City in the Sectional 43 semi-final Friday night.

Mississinewa over Delta

In a battle between two 7-1 teams on Friday night at Fisher Field, the Mississinewa Indians emerged victorious, defeating the Delta Eagles by a score of 17-7. Neither team cracked the scoreboard in the first half, but after halftime, the Indians went to work.

"Offensively, we went to a wildcat package with Cade Campbell," Mississinewa Head Coach Curt Funk said. "Fortunately for us, we were able to get that rolling a little bit, eat some clock, and wear down their defense."

After Andre Sallade kicked a field goal on the Indians' opening drive of the second half, Delta responded with a 59-yard touchdown pass from Brady Hunt to Grady Foreman, giving the Eagles a 7-3 lead. That advantage would be short lived, as touchdown runs from Campbell and Andrew Cruz gave the Indians a lead they would not relinquish.

Campbell also came away with two picks, and Drew Castanon also recorded an interception.

"We had some key interceptions that killed drives for them. Our kids just went real hard on defense," Funk said.

After a huge win over one of the top teams in Class 4A, Mississinewa's attention turns to the Sectional 20 semifinal and a matchup with the Huntington North Vikings.

Oak Hill falls to Peru

After a strong end to the 2019 regular season, the Oak Hill Golden Eagles' were defeated by the Peru Tigers by a score of 24-20.

The Golden Eagles had trouble stopping Kade Townsend, who scored four touchdowns in the contest—three through the air and one on a kickoff return.

"I think the game was a big-play game," Oak Hill Head Coach Bud Ozmun said. "They made four big plays that led to scores, and we made three big plays that led to scores."

Oak Hill freshman Kyle Turanchick led the Golden Eagles' running game, finishing with 123 yards and two touchdowns on 17 carries. "We knew he was going to be a factor, and he just got more and more comfortable week in and week out on Friday nights," Ozmun said of Turanchick.

Senior Logan Bailey scored the other Oak Hill touchdown on a 32-yard interception return. Clay McCorkle finished 7-for-14 for 89 yards, while Mason McKinney collected four passes for 65 yards.

Defensively, Clayton McKinney made nine tackles, while Braden Wagner and Turanchick each came away with eight.

Oak Hill finished the 2019 season with a 4-6 record.
