State of the City address Mayor says Marion has 'come a long way'

by Alan Miller
Marion's 2020 State of the City address, with Mayor Jess Alumbaugh presiding for the fifth consecutive year, produced some feel-good moments but few breaking news stories. More than 150 people attended the February 19 luncheon at Ivy Tech Community College.
Chuck Binker, director of Marion Utilities, started the program by confirming recent rumors that curbside recycling in Marion likely will be discontinued in coming months. Blame China, not the utility board.
"The recycling industry has changed significantly," Binker said "In 2018, China, being the recipient of more than 50 percent of the world's recycled materials, passed a law that prohibits their

Christ’s legacy to us in a word: Peace

Philippians 4:7
Have you ever thought about the legacy you will leave behind? It seems that when someone leaves this world there is a process that takes place in all our lives. The memories of the deceased rush to the forefront of our memory. In the Old Testament book of Ecclesiastes, Solomon more or less wrote the memoirs of his life. In chapter three he said, “There is a time to be born, and a time to die.” He then reflected on many different seasons that represent the lives of us all. If I may paraphrase: For everything there is an appointed season. A time for everything under Heaven. A time for caring, a time for sharing, a time for loving, a time for giving, a time for remembering, and a time for parting. You have made everything beautiful in its time, for everything You do remains forever. Solomon went on to say, in chapter 7:1, the day we die is better than the day we are born. Why would he say something like that? He was referencing the legacy that we all leave behind. It is a fact that there is not a person who won’t leave behind a legacy, whether it be bad or good. As I have studied the life of Jesus, the thought of legacy comes front and center. What did He leave mankind? There is no doubt there has never been an individual that would come close to comparison of the Savior. Christ left many things for all of us, but one of the special things was peace. “And the peace of God, which passeth all understanding, shall keep our hearts and minds through Christ Jesus” (Philippians 4:7). What a priceless legacy that Jesus left for everyone that believed in Him. Christ left His peace to His followers. As we think about the subject of peace, no one else can appropriate peace except Jesus. There are two aspects to this peace: 1. Peace of God—There is no doubt that everyone of us would like to experience the peace of God, but it only comes after we have made peace with God. There can never be peace of God without first making peace with Him, and that only comes by a personal relationship with Him. Knowing Jesus Christ as personal Savior is the guarantee of peace with God. 2. This peace of God passes all of our understanding. The world doesn’t understand this peace because it can only be appropriated by God. One of my favorite people is Deacon Johnny Clayton. He says, “This peace I have, the world didn’t give it to me, and the world can’t take it away.” What a powerful statement! There are wonderful effects that this peace has on all believers. It keeps our hearts and minds through Christ Jesus. This is such an important issue because the devil is always working on our minds. The battle for the mind is one of greatest struggles that the believer must deal with. Peace is more powerful than the storm. When Jesus calmed the storm in the Gospels He looked into the Heavens and said, “Peace,” then He looked at the waves and said, “Be still.” The disciples said what manner of Man is this that even the winds and waves obey Him? We enjoy this same powerful peace only given by Him. Do you know God’s peace? If you don’t know it, you can. You must first make your peace with Him. If you need help understanding this, feel free to call me, and I will gladly help. Next week we will talk more about God’s peace. Tom

JUST A THOUGHT

February a month to focus on healthy teen dating

As a mother and advocate working to stop teen dating violence, my mind sometimes wanders to my three daughters, all in college now. I wonder if I taught them well enough about relationships and how to be a strong, independent woman. I wonder if Larry and I modeled appropriate interactions so that as Laura, Andrea and Marissa have their own dating relationships they will know how to discern what is healthy and what is not. And I wonder and pray that each one of them will know the signs to look for if a dating relationship they are in starts to turn controlling and are able to leave that relationship before the verbal, emotional or physical violence takes a foothold. During the month of February, nationally, emphasis has been placed on teen dating relationships. The Indiana Coalition Against Domestic Violence, in their message to the community, encouraged people to focus on society as a whole and working to change culture to prevent violence. I agree wholeheartedly with that approach, given that we seem to be living in a culture of bullying and self-centeredness. However, I also believe we still must talk to teens and younger students about the attributes of healthy and unhealthy relationships. I am always incredibly thankful that each of the public schools in Grant County, and St. Paul Catholic School and Lakeview Christian School, have continued to make time for Hands of Hope Prevention Educator Rosalyn Turcott to present at each grade level about domestic violence. I also believe that this is not enough. We--adults who interact with children, youth and teens--must make sure the message we are sending is always appropriate and we must ensure that our homes, schools and youth organizations are safe, stable and nurturing places for our future leaders to excel in. In Wabash County, where Hands of Hope, a division of Family Service Society, Inc., has a satellite office, Megan Long, the Hands of Hope Prevention Educator has facilitated a group called TADA. TADA, which stands for Teens Against Dating Abuse, is comprised of high school students from Wabash and Southwood high schools. At the beginning of the school year the youth sign up to be a part of TADA, which focuses on educating their peers about relationships. In Wabash, as part of Teen Dating Violence Awareness Month, messages from TADA students is displayed in a side window at Modco’s Market, 205 S. Miami St. These word bubbles have been in response to two questions asked of the teens: “Why are you a part parents, caregivers, teachers and anyone who interacts with teens knows what to say to a teen about abuse. “Listen to what they say,” Kaylee, a Wabash High School member said. “Understand them throughout what’s going on.” The importance of just LISTENING came across in most of the thoughts TADA members had to say. TADA members also shared for the window in downtown Wabash, why they got involved in TADA. A few of those responses are: “I am in this group because I wanted to spread awareness. I joined this group in seventh grade to see what it was really about and my TADA group ended up being family to me. I love to spread awareness and educate others on what a healthy and unhealthy relationship is like.”--Tabitha, a Southwood High School member. “I have lived through violence at home, so I joined TADA”--a TADA member. “I have seen abuse in my family and the TADA group has been a good experience.”--a TADA member. No matter why teens might be involved with TADA, I hope the messages they have shared spark an interest in each of us adults to ask our own teens and young adults how they are doing in relationships and I hope we remember to take more time listening than replying. For more information about teen dating violence or Hands of Hope visit www.famservices.com or find Hands of Hope on Facebook.

of the TADA group?” and “How could an adult talk to a teen in an unhealthy relationship for support?” There are 18-word bubbles displayed in the window in downtown Wabash, including: “Take it serious. Teen relationships have meaning and purpose, don’t belittle and make fun. Listen and be helpful.”--a Wabash County TADA Member. “The adult could sit down and talk to the teen about it calmly. Try to understand what the teen is going through.”--Ellen, a Wabash High School TADA Member wrote. Each year, nearly 1.5 million high school students nationwide experience physical abuse from a dating partner. Girls and young women from the ages of 16-24 experience the highest rate of intimate partner violence, almost triple the national average. This is an issue that impacts everyone: not just teens, but their parents, teachers, friends and communities as well. Together, we can raise the nation’s awareness about teen dating violence and promote safe, healthy relationships. That is why it is important that adults,

Recalling when Socialists were part of Marion’s politics

Well, it’s been a long time since anyone went after the Socialists in Marion, those disrupters skulking around in the First and Fourth and Fifth wards and God knows where else in Marion, just waiting for their opportunity to take over the City Council and then, probably, the world. Yes. Socialists. Those of the Bernie Sanders ilk. Right here in Marion. West Marion. The Bucktown area. South and southeast Marion. Neighborhoods inhabited by what we thought were just good God-fearing folks. Turns out, you snoop around, scratch the surface and you find Socialists.

Go to City Hall, to a City Council meeting and what do you find? Socialists. Little gaggles of them huddled around their two city councilmen. That’s right. Councilmen. John W. Kelley and William J. Croke. Kelley was a furniture salesman and Croke a glassworker. They were Social Democrats. Said so right there on the ballot, the same ballot where another Socialist a few years later, William A. McKown, darn near got elected mayor of Marion. Finished second in a field of five, with 30 percent of the votes.

So far as anyone can tell, Kelly and Croke were the first Socialists elected to office in Indiana. This was back in 1900 and the Marion of the early 20th century was a far different place than the Marion of the 21st century.

It was a boom town in boom times. “Many of the people now here are only partially settled,” a reporter for the Marion Tribune wrote in 1901, “owing to the fact that there are no houses for them to live in.” The newspaper reported a list of manufacturing sites in the city, including “several glass factories, two iron foundries, a zinc works, boiler factory, and manufacturers of bedsteads, mattresses, paper boxes, carriages, candy, cigars, and brooms.” Three thousand employees were scattered across eight glass factories.

It was, of course, the time of the gas boom, which came and went in less than 20 years, a rough-and-tumble time with rough-and-tumble politics. It has been nearly 40 years since a man named Errol Wayne Stevens, a Californian, rummaged through the records of Marion elections and contributed to a book called “Socialism in the Heartland.”

Socialism ran through the partisan politics of Marion from about 1894 until the early 1920s. In 1911, the city’s Socialists were well enough organized to have six districts, mostly centered in working class neighborhoods, particularly among glass factory workers.

“The branches not only conducted political activities, such as street speaking, and distributing literature, but also sponsored picnics, ice cream socials and theatrical productions for Socialists and their families,” Stevens found. One such theatrical effort was titled “The Royal Order of Political Chumps.”

Councilman Kelley in his campaign read a “manifesto” on the eve of the election in which he said flat out, “only the collective ownership of all means of production and distribution can create an industrial system based on the Golden Rule or the Brotherhood of Man.”

By the next generation of Marion Socialists, the issue was war and the threat of American entry into World War I. It was 1917.

Grant County’s Socialists, seeing war on the horizon, met and voted, “resolved by the Socialists of Marion, Indiana, in mass assemblage on August 2, 1914, that our fellow citizens who uphold the capitalist party are guilty of murder in that they stand for the system making wholesale murder inevitable.”

They then elected a Marion clergyman, S.S. Condo, as their delegate to an emergency national convention of the Socialist Party. He was instructed to “cast Marion’s vote in opposition to American entry into the European war.” And we know how that worked out.

Through the war years, the Socialists in Marion were attacked on the patriotism issue. The Marion Chronicle urged that voters “eliminate” the Socialist candidates on the grounds of patriotism. The mood was such that the school board had voted to halt the teaching of German in Marion High School.

“Whatever the virtues of the Socialist Party may be, it cannot hope to succeed so long as its candidates are un-American,” the newspaper declared.

And a century later some among us can still feel the Bern...

IHSAA state wrestling finals Mississinewa’s Funk finishes seventh at state finals

One of the best to ever wear a Mississinewa singlet ended his storied high-school career on a high note on Saturday. Kyler Funk capped off a tremendous senior season with one of the best finishes in the history of Mississinewa wrestling, placing seventh in the 195-pound weight class at the IHSAA State Finals in Indianapolis.

Before Funk, the last time the Indians had a representative in the state finals was in the early 1970s. In his four-year career, Funk qualified twice. Funk’s career success was as much a product of his hard work and dedication as his athletic ability.

“The biggest factor [to his success] is the commitment he put into wrestling in the off-season,” said Curt Funk, Mississinewa wrestling coach and Kyler’s dad, “He’s traveled all over the state and all over the country to wrestle in tournaments.” The Mississinewa senior also has taken part in club wrestling in all four years of high school, giving up many nights, and a lot of his free time, to improve his skills.

“Two or three nights a week, he and I would hop in the car together and we’d drive down to Indianapolis... and he would go to CIA Wrestling Club,” Coach Funk said. “To do that as a high school kid—to drive an hour down and an hour back and practice for an hour-and-a half while you’re there—that’s a big time commitment, but sometimes, those are the sacrifices you have to make if you want to be at the elite level.”

The sacrifices paid off throughout the 2019-2020 season.

Funk finished the regular season with a 34-2 record. He cruised through the Oak Hill sectional, defeating Kokomo’s Mitchell Wyrick 15-3 and Tri-Central’s Xzavior Philapy via a pin. In the regional, Funk defeated Wabash’s Chad Wyatt, Jr. and Manchester’s Ashton Moore to advance to the New-Haven Semi-State.

There, Funk would make history, becoming the first Mississinewa wrestler ever to win a semi-state championship.

He started the day by pinning Prairie Heights’ Hunter Allen in 55 seconds. Then, he defeated Fort Wayne Concor- dia’s Cooper Harris via deci- sion. In his semi-final match, Funk pinned Northridge’s Ibrahim Khaoucha in 2:42, and to finish he beat Bell- mont’s Caden Friedt in the finals.

“He’s been there before, so that helped,” Coach Funk said. “He knew what it took. That was a big part of his suc- cess this year.”

Against a strong field, Funk dropped his first two matches at Bankers Life Fieldhouse, but salvaged his run with his second victory over Friedt in as many weeks, a 7-5 deci- sion.

With his seventh place fin- ish at Bankers Life, Funk be- came the first Indian in over 45 years to stand on the po- dium, and, in the process, he solidified himself as one of the best wrestlers in Grant County sports history.

As of now, Funk is still sort- ing out his future plans. “It’s still up in the air,” Coach Funk said. “A lot of it is going to be if it’s the right fit for him aca- demically and financially. It’s going to be a matter of weigh- ing out the options as where the best fit would be.”

Grant County boys basketball Indians, Golden Eagles each win a pair

Panthers fall to Wabash
Coming off their first win of the season over Elwood, the Eastbrook Panthers, despite more positive play, failed to carry over that momentum into last Tuesday night's performance, falling to the Wabash Apaches 66-38.

"Wabash is really good," Eastbrook Head Coach Greg Allison said. "They are playing really good basketball, and they have seven seniors, so they are a very experienced basketball team. We battled, we competed, and we did some good things. But probably the thing that hurt us the most was that they hit 10 threes tonight."

Alex Baker was solid once again for Eastbrook, finishing with 14 points, seven rebounds, and five blocks to lead the Panthers. Jackson VanBelkum collected seven points, Jake McKim added six, and Braxton Bowser posted four points and six rebounds.

Argylls fall to Lapel

After two emotional wins last week, the Argylls came up short, falling to the Lapel Bulldogs 75-70.

Madison-Grant got off to a great start in the first quarter, taking a 19-12 lead after the first eight minutes, but the Bulldogs battled back in the second, outscoring the Argylls 20-12 to turn their seven-point deficit into a one-point halftime advantage.

Lapel got to the foul line multiple times in the second quarter, knocking down 13 free throws.

"The difference in the first half was we got into foul trouble," Trout said. "They hit 13 free throws of their 20 in the second quarter, which is a lot. Lance was on the bench the whole first half because of fouls, and Grant had to go to the bench with five minutes to go in the first half. So not only were they shooting free throws almost every trip down the floor, but we had two starters sitting on the bench."

From that moment on, the two teams were separated by just a few possessions. The Argylls fell behind by eight a few times and were able to cut the Lapel lead to one early in the fourth, but they could not regain the lead. Justin Moore put together an outstanding performance, scoring 23 points, while Kaden Howell scored 16 points. Grant Brown was one assist short of a triple-double, finishing with 11 points, 10 boards, and nine helpers.

Justin Moore put together an outstanding performance, scoring 23 points, while Kaden Howell scored 16 points. Grant Brown was one assist short of a triple-double, finishing with 11 points, 10 boards, and nine helpers.

While Madison-Grant's offense was not crisp on Saturday night against the Eastern Comets, their defensive performance, paired with their strong free throw shooting, helped them come out on top with a 60-50 triumph.

Neither team created much separation in the first two quarters. The Argylls held a slight 16-14 edge after the first eight minutes, but the Comets were able to tie it up at 25-25 at halftime.

In the second half the Argylls got after it on the defensive end, and it helped turn the game in their favor. Madison-Grant built a 41-35 lead after three, and held the advantage the rest of the way.

Madison-Grant Head Coach Brian Trout "Our defensive pressure in the second half was the difference in the game, and we were able to get to the line," Madison-Grant Head Coach Brian Trout said. "We hit 25-of-32 tonight. Those two things were the difference in the game."

While the Argylls only shot 37 percent from the floor against Eastern, Justin Moore and Seth Lugar played excellent basketball on the offensive end. Moore finished with 18 points on six-of-six shooting, while Lugar collected 13 points on four-of-five attempts.

"I'd much rather have a game like tonight than a 25-point win this time of the year because we had to do the little things tonight that make a difference to pull out a win on the road," Trout said.

Giants fall to Fort Wayne Blackhawk Christian

The Marion Giants' modest four-game win streak was snapped last Tuesday night, as they fell behind early and failed to recover in an 84-64 loss to the Fort Wayne Blackhawk Christian Braves.

The Braves took control of the contest early, taking a 12-point lead after the first quarter.

"They got off to a good start early, and we played catch-up all night long," Marion Head Coach James Blackmon said. "We came out tonight and tried a triangle and two, and they actually got good looks off of it early. When they got the lead, it was an uphill battle from there."

Though the game was much closer through the next two quarters, the Giants were unable to close the gap, and a 24-point final frame for the Blackhawk helped them secure the 20-point victory.

While it was a disappointing performance, Marion senior JK Thomas continues to play well. He led the Giants with 28 points, and his leadership has been unquestioned in the Giants' recent success.

"He just competes every game," Blackmon said. "He goes out and plays hard, and the guys are rallying hard behind his effort."

Oak Hill used a strong defensive effort to edge the Tipton Blue Devils 57-52 last Tuesday.

Rasheed Jones scored 12 points, while Josh Balfour added nine and Rodney Gipson collected six.

Giants lose to Harrison

On Friday night, despite another strong performance from JK Thomas, the Marion Giants lost their second straight game, falling to North Central Conference rival Harrison, 77-72.

Once again, the Giants fell behind early and failed to recover. The Raiders held a 23-15 advantage after the first quarter of play, and led by as many as 12 in the second quarter before taking a 39-30 halftime lead.

Harrison began to pull away in the third quarter, outscoring the Giants 20-1 and increasing their advantage to 18. Marion pushed back in the fourth, cutting the Raiders' lead to five in the final minute, but they could not complete the comeback.

Thomas led Marion in scoring with 29 points, while Rasheed Jones finished with 16 points in the Giants' defeat.

Giants over Manual

After a pair of tough losses, the Marion Giants found themselves back in the win column on Saturday evening, defeating the Indianapolis Emmerich Manual Redskins 83-74.

Marion was the aggressor, using a combination of strong defense and transition offense to take control of the contest early.

"Tonight, we did a great job of spacing the floor and getting out in transition," Marion Head Coach James Blackmon said. "We did a good turning them over and we let our defense lead to our offense."

Marion took a 20-16 lead after the first quarter and never looked back. They built a game-high 62-48 advantage after three stanzas before cruising to the nine-point triumph.

"I thought the guys were focused in tonight," Blackmon said. "I thought our concentration was a little better, and we had great energy coming off the bench."

Matthew Goolsby led the Marion offense with 21 points, while JK Thomas scored 18 and Rasheed Jones added 17.

Indians defeat Bluffton

The Mississinewa Indians used a strong second half, particularly the third quarter, to earn their 16th win of the season, defeating the Bluffton Tigers by a score of 58-43.

After building a 26-21 advantage at halftime, the Indians blew the game open in the third, outscoring the Tigers 26-10 to take a double-digit lead they would not relinquish.

Landen Swanner led the charge in the second half. Despite not being 100 percent, the junior guard scored 10 of his team-leading 15 points in the third quarter. Along with Swanner's 15, Bryce Oglesby and Colin Yoder each finished with 11 points in the Indians' victory.

Oak Hill tops Tipton

The Golden Eagles used another stout defensive effort and a strong fourth quarter to record their 11th victory of the season, defeating the Tipton Blue Devils, 57-52, last Tuesday evening.

Oak Hill was efficient on offense all evening, finishing the contest shooting 50 percent (22-of-44) from the floor. On the defensive end of the floor, the Golden Eagles held the Blue Devils to just 19-of-54 shooting (35 percent) from the field.

"We mixed up our defense a little bit in what we were doing with the matchup 2-3 zone," Oak Hill Head Coach Kevin Renbarger said. "We went to more of a 1-2-2, and everybody was more comfortable to do what they needed to do. This team tonight we held 15 points under their average, and we've been consistently doing that. Defensively, we've been able to be really, really good."

Oak Hill led at the first quarter break, 12-10, after freshman Landon Biegel scored with 32 seconds remaining. The Golden Eagles started to create some separation in the second quarter, taking a 29-23 advantage at halftime.

The game almost got away from Oak Hill in the third quarter. They took their biggest lead of the contest at 11, then failed to score for the next 6:01, turning the ball over seven times. Tipton took advantage. The Blue Devils embarked on a 12-0 run, taking a one-point lead.

However, Hayes was able to break the scoreless drought in the final minute of the period, giving Oak Hill a 36-35 edge heading into the final frame. The Golden Eagles opened the fourth on an 8-0 run, which extended their lead back to nine points.

Their advantage was never threatened again, and they hit several key shots down the stretch to help secure the victory.

"This team a month and a half ago...would have folded pretty easily," Renbarger said. "But the group we have now focused and locked in a little more on defense and executed on offense, and we were able to push it out to a 10-point lead again."

Johnson put together another sound showing on Tuesday, leading the Golden Eagles in both points (16) and rebounds (nine). Hayes finished the contest with 12 points, which included a perfect four-of-four shooting in the second half, as did Biegel, who provided a spark off the bench.

For Tipton, Humrichous led the team in scoring with 19 points, while Noah Wolfe was second on the team with eight.

Golden Eagles rout Elwood

The Oak Hill Golden Eagles capped off the conference portion schedule with a win, defeating the Elwood Panthers 76-41 on Friday evening.

Oak Hill Head Coach Kevin Renbarger was pleased with how Tahj Johnson and Tristen Hayes played. "Tahj came out and played a consistent brand of basketball that we have become accustomed to in the last month or so," Renbarger said. "Tristen had 18 points and shot the ball well from the perimeter. He is continuing to stretch his range which is both good for him and what we want to do on offense."

County Rivalry: Trojans vs. Wildcats IWU men top Taylor behind Mangas' 36

The No. 3-ranked Indiana Wesleyan Wildcats showed why they're so highly regarded Saturday afternoon at Taylor University, grinding down a solid Trojan team and pulling away over the last 10 minutes to a 98-73 victory over their county rivals to clinch the regular season title of the Crossroads League.

The 'Cats sprinted out to a 20-10 lead, including six points from their seven-foot center Seth Maxwell, who then got into foul trouble and had to sit. IWU stayed strong, calling on their deep bench.

"What an opportunity for Tim [Adetukasi] and Michael Thompson," said IWU Head Coach Greg Tonagel, "both came in and elevated our team's play. We need that bench as we go into the post-season."

They can also rely, of course, on Kyle Mangas, the NAIA DI's fourth-leading scorer, at 27 points per game. Mangas had 15 points in the first half, and the Wildcats led 43-34 at halftime.

Mangas started off the second half with nine more points in the first three and a half minutes as IWU maintained its lead. "[Taylor forward Jason] Hubbard is one of the premier defenders in this league, and [Mangas] just gave him fits, so they had to put someone else on him," said Tonagel, "Kyle just picks his spots so wisely."

"Mangas hurt us, but he's done that to a lot of teams—that's not news," said Taylor Head Coach Josh Andrews.

IWU point guard Tanner Rubio also steadied the Wildcats offense. "Rubio had 14 points and 11 assists," said Tonagel, "...he had a spectacular game."

Tonagel also called on his deep bench to keep the Trojans at bay. "I'm starting to play guys more, which I need to do," he said.

Kyle Mangas had 36 points against Taylor last Saturday in the Wildcats' 98-73 win.

"They've got a good team; just not real deep. They sort of wore down and you saw our bench keep the energy up." Still, Taylor managed to little gap—she's got a rhythm. That's why she's one of the top shooters in the nation."

Buchs had started the game with three three-pointers in the first five minutes as Taylor got out to a 14-5 lead. She would wind up with a game-high 27 points, including shooting 7-10 from the arc. The three-pointer Buchs hit to start the fourth quarter set a Taylor record for most triples in a season, breaking the mark (110) she had set herself last season.

Buchs' offense started the Trojans off well in the fourth, but it was their defense that made the difference. By the time the Wildcats scored (on a three-pointer by Carly Lange), the Trojans led 56-41, and the game had been decided.

"You've got to credit them, they did a really good job of taking us out of what we wanted to do," said Whaley. Haley Stratman backed up Buchs with 16 points for the Trojans. Becca's sister, Abby Buchs, had eight points and a game-high 10 rebounds. Gabby Suarez led IWU with 13 points. Adrianna Trexler, who attended Oak Hill last year, came off the bench for 11 points.

The win gave Taylor a 27-3 overall record, and a 15-3 mark in the Crossroads League, good for second place behind Marian (16-2). They will host Mount Vernon Nazarene, which finished in seventh place, on Tuesday night in the first round of the Crossroads League tournament. IWU finished the regular season 22-8 overall and 13-5 in the conference—good for fourth. They will host fifth-place Grace for their first-round game on Tuesday night.

Becca Buchs (#44) had a game-high 27 points, including seven three-pointers to lead the Trojans past IWU, 62-49.

The 'Cats and the Trojans bring it

If you were at the Don Odle arena on the campus of Taylor University this past weekend, you saw one of the great small college basketball rivalries in the nation.

Indiana Wesleyan University and Taylor University going head to head in four hours of college hoops--first the women and then the men.

Twice this season these two college basketball teams, separated by 10 short miles, have played almost instant replay basketball games.

In both the women's game at the Luckey on January 18 and the repeat at the Don Odle Saturday, we had a nip and tuck game going into the final quarter. Then the Lady Trojans went into another gear and won both games going away.

They finished second in the Crossroads League, and are a lock to play in the NAIA DII national tournament. They will be a hard out with their great three-point shooting and their outstanding defense.

And don't give up yet on the Lady 'Cats, who have been playing their best basketball of the season since a trip to Arizona in late December. I wouldn't want to have to face them in the nationals in a couple of weeks.

On the men's side, in both games, the 'Cats and Trojans went head-to-head until the last 15 minutes, when Coach Tonagel's IWU team went to another level, winning the two games by a total of nearly 60 points.

It says here no one in the nation wants a part of the high-scoring 'Cats, but if somehow the men of Troy can get into the national tourney, don't fall asleep on the guys in purple.

I know in los angeles you have the great all-city rivalry between UCLA and USC, but think of what the 'Cats and Trojans have done this season in small college sports. Thirteen of the athletic teams in Marion and Upland are nationally ranked.

The 'Cats are:

- No. 3 in men's basketball,
- No. 7 in women's cross country, soccer, and volleyball,
- No. 8 in men's cross country,
- No. 9 in women's tennis,
- No. 10 in women's golf,
- No. 17 in men's tennis,
- and No. 18 in women's basketball.

The Trojans are:

- No. 2 in men's cross country,
- No. 4 in women's golf,
- No. 5 in women's hoops,
- and No. 6 in women's cross country.

SPORTS TALK

Jim Brunner

You can go to a college sporting event in Grant County virtually every day and see a nationally ranked team competing. Winter is nearly done and spring is on the way, so try and get out the next couple of months and watch a team at IWU and TU go at it.

If you don't, you'll be missing one of the truly great small college rivalries in the nation.
