Masks

The employee at Wal-Mart said her instructions were not to stop customers without masks, but to notify a manager of any customer who is creating difficulties Only the north entrance to the Wal-Mart store was open.

Despite Wal-Mart's announcement that masks would be "required," a bar ner above the entrance to the store did not use that word. "Face coverings are recommended while you shop. All of our associates are required to wear a face covering or mask while working," the banner said.

Meijer and Kohl's were the only stores with signs

One unmasked shopper at Kohl's ignored the warning and began shopping while

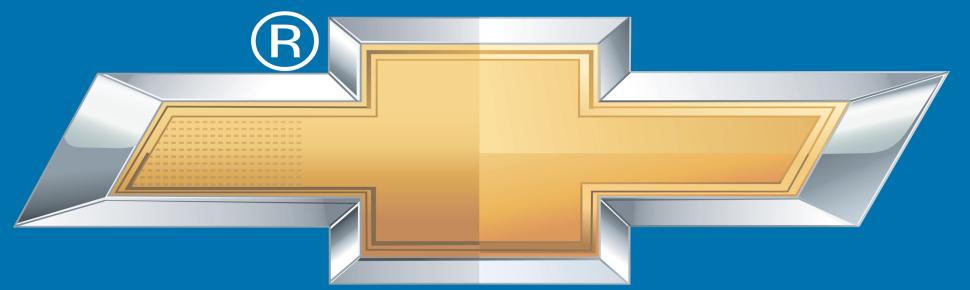

continued from Page 4

tify ner	Both entrances at Meijer	ma	sks ar	nd pu	it then	pted free n on. At	4	Acces	3	9	2	7	5	6	8
es.	had large red signs, resem-		Meijer, two unmasked				~	\perp		900		4	$\overline{}$	~	~
to	bling traffic signs, that said					the three	8	6		5	- Page	4	9	3
_	bluntly and boldly, "Stop. Face coverings are required for entry."	to b		asks		the store giosk near	4	3	5	2	9	6	8	7	4
an-	Both stores had employ- ees stationed inside en-	Τ	he m	asks		ch were ch univer-	6	4	8	3	7	5	2	yoo	(C)
)	trances to remind shoppers that they needed a mask, but	sity and professional sports logos, were priced at $8-$9. One woman bought three Indiana University masks.					9	7	2	8	4	w.	3	5	6
re	few warnings were necessary. Of people surveyed by						3	8	6	7	5	9	4	2	wh
es ce	the News Herald, 45 of 50 shoppers at both Kohl's and Meijer came with masks.		One young man even bought a mask bearing a Meijer logo.				7	9	4	door	ტ	2	6	8	5
	Meijer came with masks.	Me	ijer ic	ogo.		7	2	5	Amm	4	6	8	7	9	3
		Р	Α	R	E
4	С	0	D	Е	х
_	MOROSE

BARRY BUNKER CHEVROLET

State Road 15 North 1307 Wabash Ave.

Marion, Indiana

765. 664. 1275 • www.barrybunker.com