

Football continued from Page 10

the scoreboard. After forcing the Marion offense to go three-and-out, a fumbled snap on the ensuing point led to great field position for the Panthers. Four plays later, Collins scored from seven yards out to give Eastbrook an early 7-0 lead. Ninety seconds later, the Panthers added to their advantage, as Miller collected a Marion punt at midfield and rumbled 50 yards to the endzone, increasing the Panthers' lead to 13-0. Miller's punt return touchdown put the Panthers in the drivers' seats, and the Giants were unable to recover.

"I'm just really happy that the guys were fired up to play," Adamson said. "It was really exciting to get out and go. We took advantage of the field position and got a couple of those quick scores."

While the Giants lost a lot of speed and agility in Keshawn Taylor and JK Thomas, Jones has all those same traits, and it showed on Marion's third drive of the contest. Starting at their own 31-yard line, Marion countered with an eight-play, 69-yard drive, capping it with a 38-yard touchdown pass from Richardson to Jones, who streaked through the Eastbrook secondary untouched.

That, however, was as close as the Giants would get the rest of the way, as Eastbrook responded with another touchdown drive to go up 19-7 in the latter stages of the first quarter. Engle finished the possession with his best throw of the night – a perfectly placed, 29-yard touchdown pass to Dalton on 4th-and-15.

Kyle Coryea cut the Panthers' advantage to nine on a 22-yard field goal on Marion's next drive, but a one-yard touchdown plunge from Miller and an 11-yard touchdown pass from Engle to Hale over Eastbrook's final three possessions of the first half put the Panthers up 32-10 at the half-time break.

Eastbrook put a stranglehold on the contest early in the third quarter. After the defense recovered a Richardson fumble, Engle found Raikes for a 49-yard score to put the contest out of reach.

Smith's 35-yard touchdown reception midway through the fourth quarter brought the Giants to within three possessions, but the Eastbrook defense shut the door the rest of the way, securing the victory.

The Panthers will face Delta at home in week two, while the Giants, and Bell, will look to correct their mistakes heading into their showdown with Lawrence North at Dick Lootens Stadium next Friday night.

"We had too much lack of focus," Bell said. "We have to learn to be more physical at the point of attack. That's what we have to work on."

Gabby Rudy serves while Daya Greene looks on in the Argylls' game against Pendleton Heights. Photo by Sean Douglas

Volleyball

like Grace Holmberg, Azmae Turner, and Katie Garringer were unable to find many holes in the Arabians' defense.

"We talked about our serve-reception and our passing, and our out-of-system balls were all over the place," Jump said. "We knew they passed well and had some pretty good attackers. We were prepared for that, but we can't be prepared for that and not pass [off] serve-reception. We struggled really, really bad with that."

Pendleton Heights scored seven of the match's first eight points and led almost the entire way. In the opening set, the Argylls did not come any closer than five points and only scored two points via their offense.

"We made a lot of mistakes with out-of-system

Goal

[see our system work] ...it was good to see. It was very encouraging."

On the other side, Berry believes that his team has improved dramatically since

continued from Page 10

balls, easy stuff. Stuff that we practice with every day," Jump said. "When we couldn't get that stuff done, I knew we were in trouble."

The Argylls built a brief 6-5 advantage in the second set due to a few Arabian miscues, but Pendleton Heights quickly righted the ship, using a 14-3 burst to regain control of the contest. Ross recorded five straight kills during the Arabians' run.

Madison-Grant's play improved marginally in the final set, but the Arabians quickly shut the door, scoring 15 of the match's final 19 points.

Tori Hiatt led the Argylls' offense with three kills, while Gabby Rudy finished with three assists. Daya Greene led the defensive effort with nine digs.

continued from Page 11

the Jamboree. He hopes that his team will move on from this contest, despite its questionable finale, and keep coming together and growing as a unit.

"We are 10 times the team we were last Saturday, and we are five times the team we were on Wednesday," Berry said. "We are still making those strides forward even though we aren't winning. We just have to roll with that. We've got to get this game out of our head."

Indians

Herrera for a 1-0 Squires' advantage.

Mississinewa certainly had their chances in the latter stages of the first half, but they could not capitalize. In a 10-minute span, the Indians failed to score on three breakaways, as two shots went wide, and another went right into the waiting arms of Manchester goalkeeper Kindra Stetzel.

Those failed chances ended up being the turning point of the contest.

"They got in their own heads, and they kind of beat themselves," Wilson said. "If we had capitalized on those three chances, I think our effort would have been totally different."

Mississinewa finally found twine with 5:17 remaining in the opening half as Luchetti scored off a rebound in front of the goal, but Garriott broke the 1-1 tie just a minute and 28 seconds later, giving the Squires a lead they would not relinquish.

The Indians' struggles

5 goals

me, it's hard to cover Naomi or Chloe as they go to the middle, so the defense has to shift over on to them, and that leaves it open for me. It was really the other girls shifting correctly."

With Eastbrook consistently applying pressure on Oak Hill's end of the pitch, Foulk was able to capitalize for the second time at the halfway mark of the first half, helping the Panthers to regain the advantage at 2-1.

While the Golden Eagles only had two shots on net in the opening 40 minutes, both resulted in goals. A short time after Foulk's second tally, Phillips raced past the Eastbrook defense on the right side of the field, tying the contest back up on a well-placed shot that found the bottom left corner of the net.

The Panther, however, quickly regained the momentum 10 minutes later, scoring three goals in a span

continued from Page 10

continued in the second half, as Manchester kept Mississinewa from possessing the ball for extended periods of time.

Manhcester iced the game in the final 20 minutes, scoring a pair of goals just 3:50 apart. Garriott completed her hat trick on a breakaway with 21:11 remaining, and Beletu Stout capped off the Squires' scoring with just over 17 minutes left on the clock.

While a loss is never the desired outcome, the major concern for the Indians going forward is the health of senior striker Alayna Webb. With 16:41 left in the contest, Webb collided with a Manchester defender and fell to the ground, grabbing her knee and writhing in pain. She eventually had to be carried off the field.

Mississinewa outshot Manchester 16-10 in the match, which included a 10-6 in shots on frame. Stetzel stole the show for the Squires, making nine saves.

continued from Page 11

of 2:43.

Foulk capped off her first hat trick of the season at the 6:13 mark. Fifty seconds after that, Foulk recorded her first assist, setting up McDaniel for her first of the evening. Diller capped off the scoring in the first half with under four minutes to go, sending the Panthers into halftime with a 5-2 advantage.

Eastbrook's offense continued to hum in the second half. McDaniel scored 95 seconds in to make it 6-2, and Foulk added two more tallies in the half.

While they would not get any closer than four goals the rest of the way, the Golden Eagles were much improved in the second half. After collecting just two shots in the first half, Oak Hill recorded eight in the second half, generating more scoring chances and putting more pressure on Eastbrook's rebuilding defense. In the final 14:38, Oak Hill scored twice.

Get daily updates
on the News Herald's Facebook page

WT WABASH
TRUCKING

CDL TRAINEE PROGRAM AT WABASH TRUCKING!

Wabash trucking is looking for dependable men and women to join our trainee program to become Class A CDL drivers. Trainees will be paid while undergoing a comprehensive training program with one of our experienced drivers. Once training is complete and a CDL is obtained the trainee will be placed in a driver position within our growing company. Wabash Trucking offers competitive pay, health insurance, and retirement plans.

Apply online at www.wabashtrucking.com 260-274-0393 • 1090 Manchester Avenue, Wabash, IN advanced ag resources, inc.

4190 W. 50 N. Wabash, IN 46992

Advanced Ag Resources Inc. is responsible for manufacturing, warehousing, and the logistical needs for seed corn/soybeans.

Immediate needs are:
Assistant Warehouse Manager
Other positions available:

Production Technician | Data Entry Clerk
CDL - Class A Truck Driver- Full Time | CDL - Seasonal/ Harvest Truck Driver

Fork lift experience is a plus for Warehouse & Production Technicians Familiarity with Quickbooks would be ideal but not necessary for Data Entry Clerk
Openings are day shift with the potential of extended hours and weekends during peak production

If Interested

Contact Scott Leffert at 260 225-0821
or send Resume to scottl@advancedagresources.com